President Hails Committee Vote Against Tax Cut

WASHINGTON, March 2 (AP)—President Eisenhower said today he was highly gratified and delighted with the Senate Finance Committee vote against reducing taxes.

That was his response to a news conference question on the 9-6 committee vote yesterday which knocked a $20 income tax reduction per person out of the House tax bill.

Both Senate and House bills provide for keeping the corporation income tax rate at 52 per cent for another year, instead of allowing it to drop to 47 per cent, and both continue present excises on such things as automobiles, cigarettes and liquor.

Floor Fight Planned

Naturally, the President said, he was delighted that the Senate committee bill does keep in the books the excises and the extra 5 per cent corporation taxes and, at the same time, doesn't go in for this reduction.

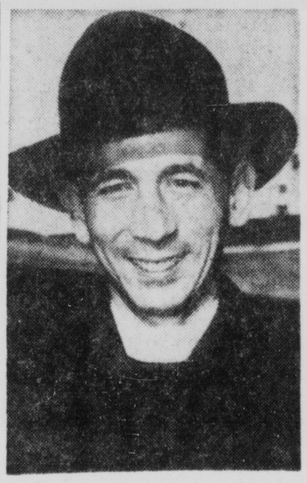

Eisenhower had called the voting of an income tax reduction "fiscal irresponsibility" in a time when government spending exceeds revenue. The House Democratic leadership disputed him, and now the Senate Democratic leaders are planning a floor fight to vote the cut.

Byrd Sees Move Upheld

However, Chairman Byrd (D-Va) of the Finance Committee, one of the strong opponents of the cut, said he was confident the Senate membership would not reverse his committee. Sen. Millikin (R-Colo), top Republican on the committee, agreed. Senate debate may start Friday, or Monday.

Sen. Clements (D-Ky), acting Senate Democratic leader, served notice yesterday that "the effort to obtain some relief for low-income taxpayer will be carried to the Senate floor and pushed as vigorously as possible."

Byrd said he thought the real fight would come when the bill goes to conference with the House.

Congress Pay Hike Bill Signed By Eisenhower

WASHINGTON, March 2 (AP)—President Eisenhower signed the Congress pay raise bill today and said he was happy that Congress had voted it.

In his comment, at a news conference, the President also dropped in a plug for four-year terms for members of the House. Their terms now run only two years; senators are elected for six years.

The new law raises the pay of members of the House and Senate from $15,000 a year to $22,500, a jump of $7,500 or 50 per cent.

It also raises the pay of approximately 400 judges by $7,500 to $10,000. There are also increases for U.S. attorneys and their assistants.

Federal district judges who have been getting $15,000 a year will now get $22,500, higher court judges who have been getting $17,500 will now get $25,500. Associate justices of the Supreme Court get a raise of $10,000 to $35,000 and the chief justice will get $35,500 instead of $25,500.

All of the pay raises are effective as of yesterday.

Eisenhower said with a grin that Congress members should be paid well but not to forget that the government would get half of it back in income taxes.

Actually, the amount of tax will vary according to whether members have outside income and if so, how much. In the case of a very wealthy lawmaker, the tax rate runs as high as 90 per cent.

But, taking a member who has no outside income, uses the standard income tax deduction permitted anybody, plus the $3,000 tax-free deduction permitted members of Congress for maintaining two homes, one in Washington, and assuming he has a wife but no other dependent—

At the present salary basis, his tax would be $2,148. With the raise, his tax would be $4,362 or almost 30 per cent of the $7,500 raise.

Cohn Swears He Never Coached Matusow To Lie

NEW YORK, March 2 (AP)—Roy M. Cohn swore in court today he never coached Harvey M. Matusow to give false testimony against Communists—and that he doesn't think Matusow did so.

"I thought he was telling the truth then, and I think so now," Cohn declared.

Cohn was testifying at a Federal Court hearing in which 13 convicted second-string Communist leaders are seeking a retrial on the basis of Matusow's present claim he lied as a witness against them.

"I never under any circumstances suggested that he make false statements and I don't think anyone else did," declared Cohn, who was an assistant U.S. attorney at the time of the trial.

CIO Steel Union Will Sign 'No Raiding' Pact

WASHINGTON, March 2 (AP)—The big CIO Steelworkers Union agreed to sign a AFL-CIO "no raiding" agreement. It was another major move to heal long-standing rifts in organized labor.

The steelworkers president, David J. McDonald, disclosed the 1,200,000-member union, one of the nation's largest, would sign the "no raiding" pact this week. It is a pledge against trying to take over other unions' already-organized members.

May Sound Out Nationalists On Giving Up Isles

TAIPEI, Formosa, Thursday, March 3 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles flies to Formosa today amid unconfirmed press reports from Manila he will sound out President Chiang Kai-shek on abandoning Quemoy and the Matsus.

The secretary of state declared in a foreign policy speech last month the United States would not defend the offshore islands "as such" but would watch for any Communist effort to use them as a springboard for an attack on Formosa.

He also rejected an idea advanced in some British quarters that the Nationalists surrender the offshore islands, saying: "It is doubtful that this would serve either the cause of peace or the cause of freedom."

Nationalists Oppose Pullback

Nationalist sentiment is solidly against yielding Quemoy, across Formosa Strait, and the Matsus, 100 mile snorthwest of Formosa.

Asked about the Manila press reports, junior Nationalist officers said any proposal to abandon Quemoy and the Matsus would be rejected by the Nationalists.

The Matsus and Quemoy are the last important Nationalist offshore islands.

Chiang is expected to press for more U. S. planes, guns and ships when he meets Dulles later in the day.

Dulles will take part in the exchange of ratification documents of the U. S.-Nationalist mutual defense pact. Under this treaty, the United States will help to defend Formosa and the adjacent Pescadores from any Communist attack.

Change In Signals

It had been announced that the exchange of ratification documents would be postponed until next week. Then word came from Manila, where Dulles is meeting with U. S. diplomats of the Far East, that the secretary wanted to be present for the ceremony.

Nationalist officials had said since Dulles was only on a six-hour visit, the ceremony would cut into the time for talks with Chiang. Dulles obliged by saying he would arrive earlier than previously planned.

Another Volcano Erupts In Hawaii

PAHOA, Hawaii, March 2 (AP)—A new volcano erupted with explosive violence today near Hawaii Island's eastern tip. A few minutes later a National Guard plane was forced to land less than a mile in front of the boiling lava flow.

Lava was spouting 200 feet high.

The new vent was located about 1½ miles north of Kapoho village and the same distance from the ocean.

The lava was flowing eastward toward the sea.

The National Guard plane sighted the new eruption at 2:30 p.m.

Its fuel ran low and the pilot made a forced landing north of the evacuated Kapoho.

New Device Gives Warning Of Germ Warfare Attack

WASHINGTON, March 2 (AP)—The Army said today it has a device which can give instant warning of a germ warfare attack.

Called an aerosoloscope, it can count germs, dust and moisture particles in the air. It was developed at the Army's Biological Warfare Center at Camp Detrick, Md.

Scientists have long been working on the problem of spotting quickly any sneak attempt by an enemy to release germs, radioactive material or similar substance in the form of aerosol cloud.

The gadget can count microscopic particles—germs, dust, radioactive particles—at the rate of 100 per second.

Particles ranging in size from one micron—40 millionths of an inch—to 64 microns can be counted and measured "one thousand times faster than by the ordinary method of collecting them in a medium or on a suitable surface and examining them through a microscope."

Concentrations of airborne particles up to 15,000 per millimeter are drawn through the instrument, each particle being individually illuminated. The reflection from this illumination is picked up by a photoelectric cell and the particle is measured.

The Army foresees valuable peacetime use for the instrument. Alexander said it should be useful for public health agencies and industry in tracing the source of smog and other air pollutions.

West Leading H-Bomb Race, Ike Declares

Problematical How Long Edge Can Be Held, President Says

WASHINGTON, March 2 (AP)—President Eisenhower said today the Western world still leads Russia in atomic and hydrogen weapons. But he said it is problematical "how long that lead can be sustained."

Eisenhower also told a news conference:

"There comes a time, possibly, when a lead is not significant in the defensive arrangements of a country. If you get enough of a particular type of weapon, I doubt that it is particularly important to have a lot more of it."

It would be unwise, the President said, to attempt any fixed conclusion as to whether Russia might pull even with the West in three or four years.

Agrees With Churchill

The chief executive's remarks were touched off by a question about a statement yesterday by Prime Minister Churchill of Britain that the United States now has many times as much strength as Russia in hydrogen bombs. However, Churchill said that in two to four years the Soviets will be able to mount an all-out nuclear attack against this country.

Churchill's views are known to coincide with those of top American strategists.

With heavy emphasis, Eisenhower said reports that an American expedition to the Antarctic is seeking new proving grounds for nuclear weapons are "absolutely without foundation." The expedition, he said, is for scientific purposes in connection with an international geophysical year in 1957-58.

Second-Term Query Evaded

In high good humor, the President brushed aside as usual all attempts to smoke him out on his intentions toward trying for another term in 1956. He might, he said, discuss the pros and cons a year from now—provided there is a "complete moratorium" on the subject in the meantime.

Eisenhower opened the conference with greetings to Pope Pius XII on his 79th birthday. He praised the pontiff's "unbroken record of opposition to all forms of fascism and communism."

U. N. To Discuss Egypt's Charges Against Israel

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., March 2 (AP)—The Security Council will meet in urgent session Friday to discuss Egypt's charges of aggression by Israel near Gaza in the frontier zone.

Selim Sarper, Turkish ambassador and March president of the Council, today called the meeting at the request of Egypt. Omar Loutfi, Egyptian ambassador, proposed the Council consider "violent and premeditated aggression . . . by Israeli armed forces against Egyptian armed forces inside territory under Egyptian control near Gaza."

Loutfi said this action Monday resulted in the deaths of 39 persons, the wounding of 32 and the destruction of military installations. He charged it violated the 1949 Egypt-Israel armistice agreement.

Israeli statements issued here and in Jerusalem yesterday held that Egyptian troops attacked Israeli troops first in Israel and were chased back across their own border.

Both Egypt and Israel asked that the Egyptian-Israeli-U.N. Mixed Armistice Commission meet and consider the issue. Each demanded censure of the other.

Pope Blesses Throng On His 79th Birthday

VATICAN CITY, March 2 (AP)—Pope Pius XII stepped briskly to his apartment window today and blessed a throng massed in St. Peter's Square for greetings on his 79th birthday and the 16th anniversary of his pontificate.

The head of the Roman Catholic Church appeared in better condition than at any time since he collapsed from a grave abdominal ailment last Dec. 2.

Arab Rioters Demand Guns To Fight Israel

By ROBERT HEWETT

GAZA, Egypt-Held Palestine, March 2 (AP)—Hundreds of embittered Arabs rioted today and in chorused shouting demanded, "give us guns to fight the Israelis." Egyptian troops fired on the demonstrators and wounded seven or more.

The rioters are among the total of nearly 900,000 Arabs left homeless around the Israeli perimeter by the 1948 Palestine War.

It was the second successive day of rioting by refugees of more than six-year status as homeless persons.

Arms Petition Refused

The marchers formally petitioned Maj. Gen. Abdullah Rifaat, Egyptian governor of Gaza, for arms to fight the Israelis. He refused.

The riots were touched off yesterday after a clash Monday night between Egyptian and Israeli troops near the armistice demarcation border in which 36 Egyptian soldiers and two Arab civilians were killed and 31 were wounded. The Israelis said they had a number of casualties but did not list them.

The long pent-up outburst of the Palestine Arabs on this sector appeared also to be directed at their Egyptian "protectors" and the United Nations. They blame the U. N. for not restoring them to their former homes in what now is Israel. About 250,000 refugees subsist on a U. N. dole in the Gaza strip, about six miles wide and 22 miles long.

Army Cars Stoned

The rioters today stoned Egyptian army cars and besieged Egyptian army officers for 1½ hours in the Red Crescent Hospital. Also marooned in the hospital were this correspondent and Robert C. Doty of the New York Times.

U. N. truce observers and their families spent today under protective guard in four houses. Rifaat said foreigners would be kept in their homes for the next day or two and a nighttime curfew would be enforced.

Navy Airman Killed When Planes Collide

EL CENTRO, Calif., March 2 (AP)—A Navy pilot was killed and a Marine flyer parachuted safely today when two jet fighters collided during a gunnery training mission.

The Navy identified the pilot killed as Lt. (JG) William E. Nichols, 24, San Pablo, Calif.

Marine Capt. J. C. Gardner, 33, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Gardner, Waldorf, Md., parachuted. He is attached to Fighter Squadron T10 at El Toro, Calif., Marine Air Base.

Officers said one of the F9F5 Panther jets was joining a formation of fighters when the collision occurred. The two planes crashed on the desert near Ogilby, 45 miles east of here.

Senator Cautions Traders On Eve Of Market Probe

WASHINGTON, March 2 (AP)—Sen. Fulbright cautioned stock market traders tonight not to get trigger-happy over an investigation of the market, starting tomorrow.

People who jump to conclusions on the basis of one day's testimony may find the next day that they "suffered from an excess of haste," said the Arkansas Democrat.

He is chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, which opens a three-weeks probe into the Wall Street boom. First witness will be G. Keith Funston, president of the New York Stock Exchange.

Stock prices started zooming back in September, 1953, and have recently been rising to new highs.

Frederick Co. Official Is Reported Missing

FREDERICK, March 2 (AP)—James H. Falk, Frederick County treasurer, was reported missing tonight by his family and police broadcast a statewide alert in an effort to locate him.

Falk, about 55, was last seen at his office this morning and employes said he told them he was going to the bank. However, police said, he did not take the regular deposits when he left for the bank.

His family became alarmed and notified police about 7:30 p.m. tonight.

Also missing was the treasurer's 1950 sedan.

Indian-Reds Rebuffed

KURNOOL, Andhra State, India, March 2 (AP)—The Communists who sought to set up a model Red-ruled state here conceded today they have been overwhelmingly defeated in the state elections. The apparent winner is an anti-Communist united front led by Prime Minister Nehru's Congress party.

Churchill Tells Commons Stroke Felled Him In '53

LONDON, March 2 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill disclosed to the House of Commons tonight that for a time in 1953 he was completely paralyzed. The 80-year-old statesman today shows few effects of the stroke that felled him.

Until tonight neither Commons nor the British public had been told of the serious nature of Churchill's illness. He retired from public view for a month in 1953 for the announced reason he needed a rest. An indication of Churchill's illness had been reported abroad, however. The Associated Press last June reported the Prime Minister had fought his way back to health after a stroke that deprived him of speech for a time.

The disclosure to Parliament came—with no apparent advance planning—during a debate on relations with the United States.

The Prime Minister said President Eisenhower held aloof from Churchill's plan for Big Three talks immediately following Stalin's death. Churchill said his plan for the meeting ended because of his illness.

Churchill revealed his illness when leftwing Laborite Aneurin Bevan attacked what the Prime Minister must have regarded as the foundations of American-British friendship.

Bevan said Britain is in a position where she risks extinction in a nuclear war but "cannot reach the potential enemy in time to arrive at an accommodation with him because we are now at the mercy of the United States."

Churchill replied: "It is absolutely wrong to suggest that the course we have followed has been at the dictation of the United States."

Then the Prime Minister added that his hopes for top level talks in 1953 had been lost but placed the main emphasis for this on his illness.

B52 Jet Wing Planned

WASHINGTON, March 2 (AP)—The Air Force today announced an early start toward equipping one of its strategic wings with H-bomb-packing B52 jet giants and "substantial" new orders for tanker planes to refuel them in mid-air.

Former POW Is Convicted Of Collaborating With Reds

FT. BRAGG, N. C., March 2 (AP)—M.Sgt. William H. Olson, a veteran of two wars and a prisoner in both, was convicted by an Army court-martial tonight of aiding the enemy while a prisoner of war in North Korea.

The eight-member court deliberated about six hours before holding the 40-year-old Army career man guilty on three of seven specifications of collaborating with the Chinese Reds.

Sentence will be passed tomorrow morning. Maximum penalty is death, the minimum a reprimand.

The three specifications on which he was held guilty charged that Olson made speeches derogatory to the United States and wrote pro-Communist articles in a prison camp newspaper.

Originally charged in eight specifications, Olson was acquitted on four and the eighth was dropped shortly after his trial opened Feb. 14. One of the specifications on which he was held innocent accused him of informing on fellow prisoners.

Olson, a native of Youngsville, Pa., but now a resident of nearby Lumberton, was visibly shaken by the verdict and with tears in his eyes told reporters afterwards:

"I feel I was not the only man on trial in this case. Every man who was a prisoner of war or who will be a prisoner of war was on trial."

The three-weeks trial saw testimony by 31 prosecution and 29 defense witnesses.

Olson, who also was a prisoner of the Germans in World War II, defended himself by testifying he followed instructions of the Chinese Red officers because he feared for his life.

Priest Is Given Until Saturday To Leave USSR

State Dept. Protests Expulsion Violates Pact Of Recognition

MOSCOW, Thursday, March 3 (AP)—The Soviet government has ordered the only foreign Roman Catholic priest in Russia to get out of the country by Saturday.

He is an American, the Rev. George Bissonnette of Central Falls, R. I.

Western observers surmised the expulsion might be an act of retaliation for treatment accorded a Soviet churchman in the United States, which has protested the order.

(The Assumptionist Order in the United States said it would apply soon to the Soviet government for permission to send a replacement for Father Bissonnette. The Rev. Louis F. Dion already has been chosen as a replacement.

No Reason Given

Father Bissonnette was called in by the police yesterday and told to get out of the Soviet Union within a few days. No reason was given.

(In Washington the State Department said it had protested the expulsion as violating the 1933 agreement under which the United States recognized Russia. The State Department said the agreement guaranteed freedom of conscience and religious worship for Americans residing in Russia.

(The State Department said the U.S. Embassy in Moscow was notified of the expulsion order last Saturday, to take effect next Saturday, and the Embassy filed a protest today.)

Diplomats said the expulsion order perhaps was connected with the return to Moscow last night of the Metropolitian Boris, of the Russian Orthodox Church, from New York. Boris had complained the American government had made it impossible for him to stay there.

In Russia Two Years

Father Bissonnette, 33, has been in the Soviet Union since Jan. 14, 1953, and speaks Russian fluently.

He was the latest in a series of Assumptionist priests who have served in Moscow under terms of the agreement President Roosevelt signed with Maxim Litvinov, then Soviet foreign minister. That provided that a U.S. citizen could come to Moscow to minister to the religious needs of the foreign colony.

There are no other foreign clergymen stationed here on a regular basis.

Father Bissonnette planned to say mass this morning, and this probably will be his last religious service in this Communist capital.

There was no indication whether a successor for Father Bissonnette would be admitted to this country.

Bulganin Fires Two Ministers, Demotes Third

LONDON, March 2 (AP)—Premier Nikolai Bulganin's government today fired two ministers and demoted a third. The shakeup, affecting coal and agriculture, underscored the troubles Russia is having with its internal economy.

The governmental changes, announced by Moscow radio, were the second within two days.

The radio broadcast said the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet made the changes on Bulganin's recommendation. The Presidium under the constitution is the highest state authority when the Supreme Soviet, Russia's parliament, is not in session.

The broadcast said the Presidium had decided to release A. S. Zasyadko as minister of the coal industry "because of unsatisfactory work." A. N. Zademidko was named to succeed him.

Also released was A. I. Kozlov as minister of state farms "because he failed to cope with the work." To succeed him is I. A. Benediktov who was minister of agriculture. No successor to Benediktov was announced.

Benediktov has been demoted from the job held for many years as official directly in charge of Russia's agriculture ministry. He has been under fire of late for failures in Soviet agriculture.

New Device Gives Warning Of Germ Warfare Attack

WASHINGTON, March 2 (AP)—The Army said today it has a device which can give instant warning of a germ warfare attack.

Called an aerosoloscope, it can count germs, dust and moisture particles in the air. It was developed at the Army's Biological Warfare Center at Camp Detrick, Md.

Scientists have long been working on the problem of spotting quickly any sneak attempt by an enemy to release germs, radioactive material or similar substance in the form of aerosol cloud.

The gadget can count microscopic particles—germs, dust, radioactive particles—at the rate of 100 per second.

Particles ranging in size from one micron—40 millionths of an inch—to 64 microns can be counted and measured "one thousand times faster than by the ordinary method of collecting them in a medium or on a suitable surface and examining them through a microscope."

Concentrations of airborne particles up to 15,000 per millimeter are drawn through the instrument, each particle being individually illuminated. The reflection from this illumination is picked up by a photoelectric cell and the particle is measured.

The Army foresees valuable peacetime use for the instrument. Alexander said it should be useful for public health agencies and industry in tracing the source of smog and other air pollutions.

West Leading H-Bomb Race, Ike Declares

Problematical How Long Edge Can Be Held, President Says

WASHINGTON, March 2 (AP)—President Eisenhower said today the Western world still leads Russia in atomic and hydrogen weapons. But he said it is problematical "how long that lead can be sustained."

Eisenhower also told a news conference:

"There comes a time, possibly, when a lead is not significant in the defensive arrangements of a country. If you get enough of a particular type of weapon, I doubt that it is particularly important to have a lot more of it."

It would be unwise, the President said, to attempt any fixed conclusion as to whether Russia might pull even with the West in three or four years.

Agrees With Churchill

The chief executive's remarks were touched off by a question about a statement yesterday by Prime Minister Churchill of Britain that the United States now has many times as much strength as Russia in hydrogen bombs. However, Churchill said that in two to four years the Soviets will be able to mount an all-out nuclear attack against this country.

Churchill's views are known to coincide with those of top American strategists.

With heavy emphasis, Eisenhower said reports that an American expedition to the Antarctic is seeking new proving grounds for nuclear weapons are "absolutely without foundation." The expedition, he said, is for scientific purposes in connection with an international geophysical year in 1957-58.

Second-Term Query Evaded

In high good humor, the President brushed aside as usual all attempts to smoke him out on his intentions toward trying for another term in 1956. He might, he said, discuss the pros and cons a year from now—provided there is a "complete moratorium" on the subject in the meantime.

Eisenhower opened the conference with greetings to Pope Pius XII on his 79th birthday. He praised the pontiff's "unbroken record of opposition to all forms of fascism and communism."

U. N. To Discuss Egypt's Charges Against Israel

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., March 2 (AP)—The Security Council will meet in urgent session Friday to discuss Egypt's charges of aggression by Israel near Gaza in the frontier zone.

Selim Sarper, Turkish ambassador and March president of the Council, today called the meeting at the request of Egypt. Omar Loutfi, Egyptian ambassador, proposed the Council consider "violent and premeditated aggression . . . by Israeli armed forces against Egyptian armed forces inside territory under Egyptian control near Gaza."

Loutfi said this action Monday resulted in the deaths of 39 persons, the wounding of 32 and the destruction of military installations. He charged it violated the 1949 Egypt-Israel armistice agreement.

Israeli statements issued here and in Jerusalem yesterday held that Egyptian troops attacked Israeli troops first in Israel and were chased back across their own border.

Both Egypt and Israel asked that the Egyptian-Israeli-U.N. Mixed Armistice Commission meet and consider the issue. Each demanded censure of the other.

Pope Blesses Throng On His 79th Birthday

VATICAN CITY, March 2 (AP)—Pope Pius XII stepped briskly to his apartment window today and blessed a throng massed in St. Peter's Square for greetings on his 79th birthday and the 16th anniversary of his pontificate.

The head of the Roman Catholic Church appeared in better condition than at any time since he collapsed from a grave abdominal ailment last Dec. 2.

Prisoner Rages At Photographers

William Patrick Farrell, 25-year-old Brooklyn furniture repairman, raises his hands and screams at photographers who had taken his picture as he was being moved in a police van from the police station to Criminal Courts building in New York yesterday. Farrell has been charged with the sex murder of Coed Ann Yarrow in New York last month. This exclusive photo was made by New York Daily News Photographer Al Amy. (Story on Page 2)

Arab Rioters Demand Guns To Fight Israel

By ROBERT HEWETT

GAZA, Egypt-Held Palestine, March 2 (AP) — Hundreds of embittered Arabs rioted today and in chorused shouting demanded, "give us guns to fight the Israelis." Egyptian troops fired on the demonstrators and wounded seven or more.

The rioters are among the total of nearly 900,000 Arabs left homeless around the Israeli perimeter by the 1948 Palestine War.

It was the second successive day of rioting by refugees of more than six-year status as homeless persons.

Arms Petition Refused

The marchers formally petitioned Maj. Gen. Abdullah Rifaat, Egyptian governor of Gaza, for arms to fight the Israelis. He refused.

The riots were touched off yesterday after a clash Monday night between Egyptian and Israeli troops near the armistice demarcation border in which 36 Egyptian soldiers and two Arab civilians were killed and 31 were wounded. The Israelis said they had a number of casualties but did not list them.

The long pent-up outburst of the Palestine Arabs on this sector appeared also to be directed at their Egyptian "protectors" and the United Nations. They blame the U. N. for not restoring them to their former homes in what now is Israel. About 250,000 refugees subsist on a U. N. dole in the Gaza strip, about six miles wide and 22 miles long.

Army Cars Stoned

The rioters today stoned Egyptian army cars and besieged Egyptian army officers for 1½ hours in the Red Crescent Hospital. Also marooned in the hospital were this correspondent and Robert C. Doty of the New York Times.

U. N. truce observers and their families spent today under protective guard in four houses. Rifaat said foreigners would be kept in their homes for the next day or two and a nighttime curfew would be enforced.

Navy Airman Killed When Planes Collide

The Navy identified the pilot killed as Lt. (JG) William E. Nichols, 24, San Pablo, Calif.

Marine Capt. J. C. Gardner, 33, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Gardner, Waldorf, Md., parachuted. He is attached to Fighter Squadron T10 at El Toro, Calif., Marine Air Base.

Officers said one of the F9F5 Panther jets was joining a formation of fighters when the collision occurred. The two planes crashed on the desert near Ogilby, 45 miles east of here.

MOSCOW, Thursday, March 3 (AP)—The Communist party piled up its usual 99 per cent-plus majority in Sunday's elections for the Supreme Soviet in 11 of the Soviet Union's 16 republics.

Senator Cautions Traders On Eve Of Market Probe

WASHINGTON, March 2 (AP)—Sen. Fulbright cautioned stock market traders tonight not to get trigger-happy over an investigation of the market, starting tomorrow.

People who jump to conclusions on the basis of one day's testimony may find the next day that they "suffered from an excess of haste," said the Arkansas Democrat.

He is chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, which opens a three-weeks probe into the Wall Street boom. First witness will be G. Keith Funston, president of the New York Stock Exchange.

Stock prices started zooming back in September, 1953, and have recently been rising to new highs.

Frederick Co. Official Is Reported Missing

FREDERICK, March 2 (AP) — James H. Falk, Frederick County treasurer, was reported missing tonight by his family and police broadcast a statewide alert in an effort to locate him.

Falk, about 55, was last seen at his office this morning and employes said he told them he was going to the bank. However, police said, he did not take the regular deposits when he left for the bank.

His family became alarmed and notified police about 7:30 p.m. tonight.

Also missing was the treasurer's 1950 sedan.

Indian-Reds Rebuffed

KURNOOL, Andhra State, India, March 2 (AP)—The Communists who sought to set up a model Red-ruled state here conceded today they have been overwhelmingly defeated in the state elections. The apparent winner is an anti-Communist united front led by Prime Minister Nehru's Congress party.

Churchill Tells Commons Stroke Felled Him In '53

LONDON, March 2 (AP) — Prime Minister Churchill disclosed to the House of Commons tonight that for a time in 1953 he was completely paralyzed. The 80-year-old statesman today shows few effects of the stroke that felled him.

Until tonight neither Commons nor the British public had been told of the serious nature of Churchill's illness. He retired from public view for a month in 1953 for the announced reason he needed a rest. An indication of Churchill's illness had been reported abroad, however. The Associated Press last June reported the Prime Minister had fought his way back to health after a stroke that deprived him of speech for a time.

The disclosure to Parliament came—with no apparent advance planning—during a debate on relations with the United States.

The Prime Minister said President Eisenhower held aloof from Churchill's plan for Big Three talks immediately following Stalin's death. Churchill said his plan for the meeting ended because of his illness.

Churchill revealed his illness when leftwing Laborite Aneurin Bevan attacked what the Prime Minister must have regarded as the foundations of American-British friendship.

Bevan said Britain is in a position where she risks extinction in a nuclear war but "cannot reach the potential enemy in time to arrive at an accommodation with him because we are now at the mercy of the United States."

Churchill replied: "It is absolutely wrong to suggest that the course we have followed has been at the dictation of the United States."

Then the Prime Minister added that his hopes for top level talks in 1953 had been lost but placed the main emphasis for this on his illness.

B52 Jet Wing Planned

WASHINGTON, March 2 (AP)—The Air Force today announced an early start toward equipping one of its strategic wings with H-bomb-packing B52 jet giants and "substantial" new orders for tanker planes to refuel them in mid-air.

Former POW Is Convicted Of Collaborating With Reds

FT. BRAGG, N. C., March 2 (AP)—M.Sgt. William H. Olson, a veteran of two wars and a prisoner in both, was convicted by an Army court-martial tonight of aiding the enemy while a prisoner of war in North Korea.

The eight-member court deliberated about six hours before holding the 40-year-old Army career man guilty on three of seven specifications of collaborating with the Chinese Reds.

Sentence will be passed tomorrow morning. Maximum penalty is death, the minimum a reprimand.

The three specifications on which he was held guilty charged that Olson made speeches derogatory to the United States and wrote pro-Communist articles in a prison camp newspaper.

Originally charged in eight specifications, Olson was acquitted on four and the eighth was dropped shortly after his trial opened Feb. 14. One of the specifications on which he was held innocent accused him of informing on fellow prisoners.

Olson, a native of Youngsville, Pa., but now a resident of nearby Lumberton, was visibly shaken by the verdict and with tears in his eyes told reporters afterwards:

"I feel I was not the only man on trial in this case. Every man who was a prisoner of war or who will be a prisoner of war was on trial."

The three-weeks trial saw testimony by 31 prosecution and 29 defense witnesses.

Olson, who also was a prisoner of the Germans in World War II, defended himself by testifying he followed instructions of the Chinese Red officers because he feared for his life.

Priest Is Given Until Saturday To Leave USSR

State Dept. Protests Expulsion Violates Pact Of Recognition

MOSCOW, Thursday, March 3 (AP)—The Soviet government has ordered the only foreign Roman Catholic priest in Russia to get out of the country by Saturday.

He is an American, the Rev. George Bissonnette of Central Falls, R. I.

Western observers surmised the expulsion might be an act of retaliation for treatment accorded a Soviet churchman in the United States, which has protested the order.

(The Assumptionist Order in the United States said it would apply soon to the Soviet government for permission to send a replacement for Father Bissonnette. The Rev. Louis F. Dion already has been chosen as a replacement.

No Reason Given

Father Bissonnette was called in by the police yesterday and told to get out of the Soviet Union within a few days. No reason was given.

(In Washington the State Department said it had protested the expulsion as violating the 1933 agreement under which the United States recognized Russia. The State Department said the agreement guaranteed freedom of conscience and religious worship for Americans residing in Russia.

(The State Department said the U.S. Embassy in Moscow was notified of the expulsion order last Saturday, to take effect next Saturday, and the Embassy filed a protest today.)

Diplomats said the expulsion order perhaps was connected with the return to Moscow last night of the Metropolitan Boris, of the Russian Orthodox Church, from New York. Boris had complained the American government had made it impossible for him to stay there.

In Russia Two Years

Father Bissonnette, 33, has been in the Soviet Union since Jan. 14, 1953, and speaks Russian fluently.

He was the latest in a series of Assumptionist priests who have served in Moscow under terms of the agreement President Roosevelt signed with Maxim Litvinov, then Soviet foreign minister. That provided that a U.S. citizen could come to Moscow to minister to the religious needs of the foreign colony.

There are no other foreign clergymen stationed here on a regular basis.

Father Bissonnette planned to say mass this morning, and this probably will be his last religious service in this Communist capital.

There was no indication whether a successor for Father Bissonnette would be admitted to this country.

Bulganin Fires Two Ministers, Demotes Third

LONDON, March 2 (AP)—Premier Nikolai Bulganin's government today fired two ministers and demoted a third. The shakeup, affecting coal and agriculture, underscored the troubles Russia is having with its internal economy.

The governmental changes, announced by Moscow radio, were the second within two days.

The radio broadcast said the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet made the changes on Bulganin's recommendation. The Presidium under the constitution is the highest state authority when the Supreme Soviet, Russia's parliament, is not in session.

The broadcast said the Presidium had decided to release A. S. Zasyadko as minister of the coal industry "because of unsatisfactory work." A. N. Zademidko was named to succeed him.

Also released was A. I. Kozlov as minister of state farms "because he failed to cope with the work." To succeed him is I. A. Benediktov who was minister of agriculture. No successor to Benediktov was announced.

Benediktov has been demoted from the job held for many years as official directly in charge of Russia's agriculture ministry. He has been under fire of late for failures in Soviet agriculture.

GROTON, Conn., March 2 (AP)—Deep dive tests made by the atom powered submarine Nautilus on Sunday and Monday off the New England coast were described as satisfactory in a brief statement issued today by Navy officials.

No Indispensable Man, Ike Asserts

'56 Intentions Still Question Mark

WASHINGTON, March 2 (AP) — President Eisenhower today kept a big question mark over his second term intentions but said the country need have no fear he looks upon himself as an indispensable man politically.

He also said he doubts the contemplated merger of the AFL and CIO labor organizations will bring about a "political organism" bossing a great number of Americans.

Replying to a series of political questions at his news conference, the chief executive suggested that if reporters give him a year's moratorium on the second term question he will make a date to talk with them about it this time next year.

A reporter brought up a statement by Sen. Goldwater (R-Ariz) expressing the opinion the Republicans could not win in 1956 without Eisenhower as their candidate. He asked the President how he felt "about this view that you are indispensable to a party victory."

"Did you ever think of what a fate civilization would suffer if there was such a thing as an indispensable man?" the President replied. "When he went the way of all flesh, what would happen. It would be a calamity, wouldn't it? I don't think we need fear that."

On the "possible significance" of the proposed merger of the big labor organizations, his view was this:

"I think the American people, in their individual selves, are very independent, and I would doubt that any organization can just set itself up and be in all phases of their political and economic and cultural life the bosses of any great number of Americans."

He said he believed there would be "many counter-balancing factors in any attempt to make this just one great, say, political organism, or something of that kind, and be—and these people be—the bosses of that many Americans."

Truck Explosive Load Curb Is Hit

ANNAPOLIS, March 2 (AP) — The U.S. Defense Department said today that enactment of legislation in Maryland banning transportation of more than 5,000 pounds of explosives to a truckload would be "handing any enemy a major strategic victory."

J. Frank Parrin, chief counsel for the Defense Department, and others contended it would virtually destroy the industry of carrying explosives by truck, thus resulting in a serious hazard in case of national emergency.

Other opponents, principally the trucking industry, charged the move is a plot of the railroads to steer this business to the trains.

The matter was subject of debate before the House Judiciary Committee. The proposal was introduced by Del. Acker (D-Balto 3rd), whose backers said the move is one of safety.

They used phonograph records, newspaper accounts of truck explosions and pictures in presenting the case for safety.

Opponents countered this with the contention that truck transportation is as safe as by rail, and that trains carry much larger amounts of explosives than do trucks.

Ex-Senator Assails Ike's Highway Plan

WASHINGTON, March 2 (AP) — President Eisenhower's "pay-as-you-use" plan to finance a big new highway program was assailed today by a former U. S. senator as "just bad business."

This appraisal came from Edwin C. Johnson, now governor of Colorado, who said he didn't like the possibility of the federal government's making "boulevards, race tracks and superduper highways of some selected roads" at the expense of others.

Johnson spoke at a hearing of the Senate Public Roads subcommittee, during which Sen. Edward Martin (R-Pa), co-author of the administration's road bill, came up with a brand new financing plan.

Martin suggested that by increasing the federal gasoline tax from the present two cents a gallon to three or 3½ cents, a 40,000-mile network of interstate roads could be completed in 15 years.

Truck Tax Bill Killed 75 To 24 By W. Va. House

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 2 (AP)—Another stunning setback for the Marland administration's legislative program was voted in the House today by an even larger majority than defeated the income tax proposal.

The delegates buried a proposed axle tax on heavy trucks by the one-sided margin of 75-24.

Republicans solidly joined the conservative Democratic bloc in the House in dealing out the new defeat to the administration program.

Two Republicans joined with administration Democrats yesterday when the House ejected a proposed income tax by a vote of 52-45.

While the House was expressing its continued negative sentiments, the Senate was passing 27-3 a measure to curb a form of state political patronage that has grown up in the distribution of so-called liquor accounts.

The measure would license at $10 a year agents who sell liquor or wine to the state monopoly system, and would prohibit legislators and certain state officials, and their close relatives, from holding such accounts.

This was a measure passed originally by the House but the Senate made such extensive changes it finally substituted its own version of the bill under the House title.

The measure now must go back to the House for concurrence on Senate amendments. One of the changes was elimination of a "grandfather clause" which would have exempted from the new licensing provisions all those who presently hold liquor or wine accounts.

Wife, Mother Accused In Plot To Kill Grocer

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 2 (AP)—The wife and mother-in-law of a well-to-do Jacksonville grocer were charged today with plotting to have him killed.

Police said a Negro the two women tried to hire to do the job told the intended victim, Jack Blattner, 39, about the plot and worked with police in getting evidence.

Mrs. Ruth Blattner, 32, and her mother, Mrs. Sadie Teitlebaum, 52, were charged with conspiracy to commit murder.

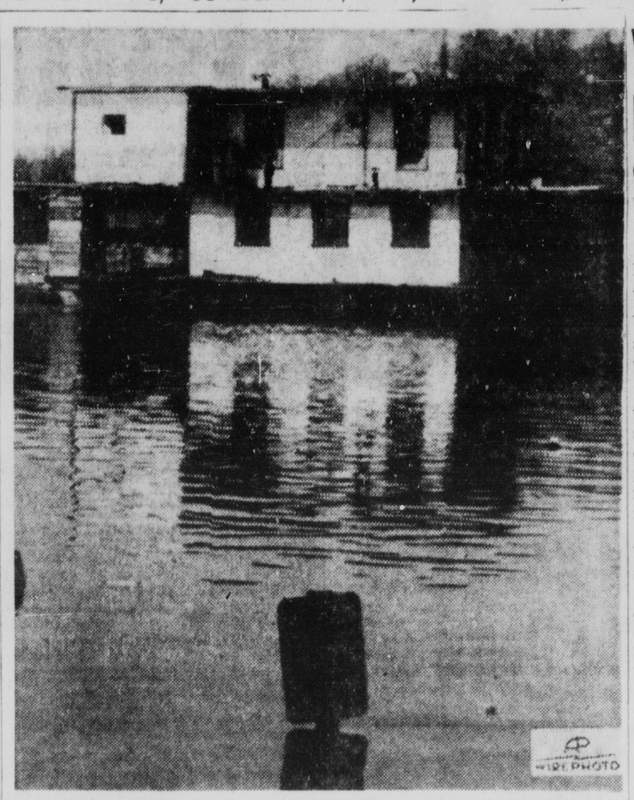

When they were arrested "they were both hysterical and said they didn't know anything about it," Deputy Sheriff W. O. Mattox reported.

Police Sgt. J. H. Miller said Blattner, owner of the J. and J. Food Store on the fringe of the downtown business district, had $67,000 worth of insurance and a home "which is a mansion" worth about $75,000.

Princess, Flying Home, Makes Stop At Bermuda

HAMILTON, Bermuda, March 2 (AP) — Princess Margaret, flying home after her triumphant month-long tour of the British West Indies, made a two-hour stop at this British mid-Atlantic colony today. She was acclaimed by Bermudians and many visiting Americans.

Margaret met prominent Bermudans, Britains and Americans in a reception at the airport. She stopped briefly at Government House in Hamilton, then returned to the airport where she boarded a plane for home.

ONE RULE THAT WILL BE OBEYED — High water from the Ohio River all but covered this "No Parking" sign just outside the floodwall at Huntington, W.Va., yesterday. The sign is on a road leading to an area where river houseboats dock. The river was 1.4 feet above flood stage, but did not reach the floodwall.

Part Of New Deal?

Soviets Haven't Laid Claim To Any Inventions Lately

By TOM WHITNEY
AP Foreign Staff

Have you noticed that the Russians haven't laid claim to any inventions lately?

Americans who read the Soviet press believe this is just one phase of what looks to be a new deal for Soviet scientists and a new attitude toward Western science, put into effect gradually since Stalin's death.

This change effects biology and genetics in particular. The grip which academician Trofim D. Lysenko with Stalin's assistance maintained on these sciences has apparently been broken. Authoritative Soviet scientific periodicals have exposed certain findings by the Lysenko school of biologists as in some cases outright fakes. They are familiarizing Soviet scientists with Western accomplishments in biology and genetics. Western European and American works which from 1948 through 1952 were ridiculed are now admitted to be important. Lysenko himself is under fairly continuous fire and on the defensive.

A major article which appeared last month over the signatures of two important Soviet scientists demanded broad freedom of different schools of thought in various branches of science to carry on their work. It condemned monopoly or dictation in science. It attacked Lysenko for precisely this while at the same time defending Lysenko's own right to have his own school of work in biology.

The trend indicated by this article seems to be something fundamental.

It's symbolized by Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev's January eulogies to American corn growers and his exhortations to his Russian cohorts to go out and do likewise—to imitate the American techniques. A few years ago Khrushchev would have been expelled from the Communist party as being "sycophantic in the face of Western things"—a sin often associated with treason.

French Junk Dealers Steal 208 Lead Bricks

PARIS, March 2 (AP) — French police today arrested two young junk dealers for stealing 208 lead bricks from a guarded atomic laboratory.

The theft set off a scare when it was thought the bricks were radioactive. It later turned out they were not dangerous.

Police said they were questioning Rene Heron, 24, and Louis l'Homme 21, for the crime.

Eastern Pennsylvania Has 70 MPH Wind Gusts

[By The Associated Press]

March winds blew in the northeastern section of the nation Wednesday.

Gusts of almost 70 m.p.h. were reported in eastern Pennsylvania.

Mild-to-warm weather favored most regions.

Wife Stands By Man Held In Sex Slaying Of Coed

NEW YORK, March 2 (AP) — A lightly built young father, prey to wild, lustful urges, was held without bail today in the inhuman sex mutilation slaying of coed Ann Yarrow.

He purportedly confessed that the passing sight of her on the street aroused within him a murderous passion. Despite this, his pregnant wife stood by him, pledging her undying love and maintaining his innocence.

He is William P. Farrell, 25, a brown-haired $60-a-week wood finisher. He was seized yesterday after he allegedly raped his widowed sister-in-law in a seedy Greenwich Village fringe area a block from the tenement where the New York University graduate student was slain Feb. 6.

Farrell has a sex record dating back 10 years.

"When a man is sick he is not a criminal," his court-appointed lawyer, Benjamin Schmier, maintained. "He's just a sick man and the law will treat him as such."

Schmier claimed Farrell is subject to overpowering urges to hurt women—"so overpowering that he became a wild man."

Farrell's wife, Marilyn, 24, refused to believe her husband guilty. "He did not kill this girl," she insisted. "He's a good man. He was home with me and my family that Saturday night. We often read and discussed this case and there never was any hint that he was in any way involved."

Nevertheless, police claimed an admission from Farrell that he took a fancy to Miss Yarrow on the street, followed her home and forced his way in to rape and slay her.

A person needs to know between 6,000 and 8,000 Chinese characters to read Chinese newspapers with some facility.

GRACE SHEVEL (above), 22, of Chicago, has become the center of a new Israeli-Jordan dispute. She was arrested with two Arab-Israeli students by Jordan authorities when they visited the border village of Beit Safaa. She has been in Israel for a year, working as a dietitian at the Hadassah Hospital and attending courses at Hebrew University.

14-Year-Old Boy Pleads Innocent In Sister's Slaying

REVERE, Mass., March 2 (AP)—A 14-year-old boy pleaded innocent today to a charge of murder in the stabbing death of his 10-year-old sister in a row over a television program.

John V. Riley—dazed and tearful—was held for the grand jury without bail following a closed Chelsea Juvenile Court hearing.

His father, Atty. John J. Riley, who was with his son in the court room, told reporters:

"I love my boy very deeply. It was purely accidental. I know he loved her (his sister) very deeply. The facts are clear. It was an emotional disturbance."

The victim was found yesterday in a bedroom of their home with a bread knife stuck in her heart. The broken blade of a second knife was lodged in her back.

Affidavit States Matusow Rifled Students' Rooms

WASHINGTON, March 2 (AP) — Investigating senators today produced an affidavit stating there is "reliable information" that turnabout witness Harvey Matusow rifled a students' dormitory at Antioch College while investigating alleged communism there.

The sworn statement came from John J. Edmiston, a reporter for the Middletown, Ohio, Journal, and his wife, Martha, both former undercover workers for the FBI.

After it was placed in evidence at a hearing being conducted by the Senate Internal Security subcommittee, Matusow swore he had never been accused of the offense. Antioch is located at Yellow Springs, Ohio.

"What else do you expect from professional witnesses?" Matusow exclaimed.

At the request of his attorney, Chairman Eastland (D-Miss) ordered that subpoenas be issued for the Edmistons to appear before the subcommittee next Monday afternoon. Their affidavit was dated Feb. 14 at Middletown.

It stated that "on reliable information and belief, Matusow was observed rifling students' wardrobes and effects in a dormitory at Antioch College, but escaped the campus without being detained, and that this presumably occurred while he was employed by the Ohio (Un-American Activities) Commission."

He said he believed there would be "many counter-balancing factors in any attempt to make this just one great, say, political organism, or something of that kind, and be—and these people be—the bosses of that many Americans."

Truck Explosive Load Curb Is Hit

ANNAPOLIS, March 2 (AP) — The U.S. Defense Department said today that enactment of legislation in Maryland banning transportation of more than 5,000 pounds of explosives to a truckload would be "handing any enemy a major strategic victory."

J. Frank Parrin, chief counsel for the Defense Department, and others contended it would virtually destroy the industry of carrying explosives by truck, thus resulting in a serious hazard in case of national emergency.

Other opponents, principally the trucking industry, charged the move is a plot of the railroads to steer this business to the trains.

The matter was subject of debate before the House Judiciary Committee. The proposal was introduced by Del. Acker (D-Balto 3rd), whose backers said the move is one of safety.

They used phonograph records, newspaper accounts of truck explosions and pictures in presenting the case for safety.

Opponents countered this with the contention that truck transportation is as safe as by rail, and that trains carry much larger amounts of explosives than do trucks.

Truck Tax Bill Killed 75 To 24 By W. Va. House

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 2 (AP)—Another stunning setback for the Marland administration's legislative program was voted in the House today by an even larger majority than defeated the income tax proposal.

The delegates buried a proposed axle tax on heavy trucks by the one-sided margin of 75-24.

Republicans solidly joined the conservative Democratic bloc in the House in dealing out the new defeat to the administration program.

Two Republicans joined with administration Democrats yesterday when the House ejected a proposed income tax by a vote of 52-45.

While the House was expressing its continued negative sentiments, the Senate was passing 27-3 a measure to curb a form of state political patronage that has grown up in the distribution of so-called liquor accounts.

The measure would license at $10 a year agents who sell liquor or wine to the state monopoly system, and would prohibit legislators and certain state officials, and their close relatives, from holding such accounts.

This was a measure passed originally by the House but the Senate made such extensive changes it finally substituted its own version of the bill under the House title.

The measure now must go back to the House for concurrence on Senate amendments. One of the changes was elimination of a "grandfather clause" which would have exempted from the new licensing provisions all those who presently hold liquor or wine accounts.

Ex-Senator Assails Ike's Highway Plan

WASHINGTON, March 2 (AP) — President Eisenhower's "pay-as-you-use" plan to finance a big new highway program was assailed today by a former U. S. senator as "just bad business."

This appraisal came from Edwin C. Johnson, now governor of Colorado, who said he didn't like the possibility of the federal government's making "boulevards, race tracks and superduper highways of some selected roads" at the expense of others.

Johnson spoke at a hearing of the Senate Public Roads subcommittee, during which Sen. Edward Martin (R-Pa), co-author of the administration's road bill, came up with a brand new financing plan.

Martin suggested that by increasing the federal gasoline tax from the present two cents a gallon to three or 3½ cents, a 40,000-mile network of interstate roads could be completed in 15 years.

Wife, Mother Accused In Plot To Kill Grocer

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 2 (AP)—The wife and mother-in-law of a well-to-do Jacksonville grocer were charged today with plotting to have him killed.

Police said a Negro the two women tried to hire to do the job told the intended victim, Jack Blattner, 39, about the plot and worked with police in getting evidence.

Mrs. Ruth Blattner, 32, and her mother, Mrs. Sadie Teitlebaum, 52, were charged with conspiracy to commit murder.

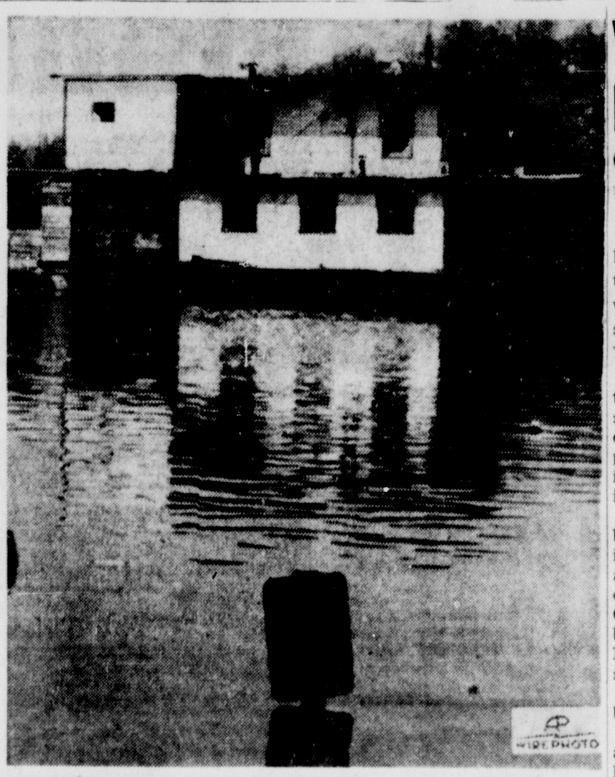

When they were arrested "they were both hysterical and said they didn't know anything about it," Deputy Sheriff W. O. Mattox reported.

Police Sgt. J. H. Miller said Blattner, owner of the J. and J. Food Store on the fringe of the downtown business district, had $67,000 worth of insurance and a home "which is a mansion" worth about $75,000.

Princess, Flying Home, Makes Stop At Bermuda

HAMILTON, Bermuda, March 2 (AP) — Princess Margaret, flying home after her triumphant month-long tour of the British West Indies, made a two-hour stop at this British mid-Atlantic colony today. She was acclaimed by Bermudians and many visiting Americans.

Margaret met prominent Bermudans, Britains and Americans in a reception at the airport. She stopped briefly at Government House in Hamilton, then returned to the airport where she boarded a plane for home.

ONE RULE THAT WILL BE OBEYED — High water from the Ohio River all but covered this "No Parking" sign just outside the floodwall at Huntington, W.Va., yesterday. The sign is on a road leading to an area where river houseboats dock. The river was 1.4 feet above flood stage, but did not reach the floodwall.

Part Of New Deal?

Soviets Haven't Laid Claim To Any Inventions Lately

By TOM WHITNEY
AP Foreign Staff

Have you noticed that the Russians haven't laid claim to any inventions lately?

Americans who read the Soviet press believe this is just one phase of what looks to be a new deal for Soviet scientists and a new attitude toward Western science, put into effect gradually since Stalin's death.

This change effects biology and genetics in particular. The grip which academician Trofim D. Lysenko with Stalin's assistance maintained on these sciences has apparently been broken. Authoritative Soviet scientific periodicals have exposed certain findings by the Lysenko school of biologists as in some cases outright fakes. They are familiarizing Soviet scientists with Western accomplishments in biology and genetics. Western European and American works which from 1948 through 1952 were ridiculed are now admitted to be important. Lysenko himself is under fairly continuous fire and on the defensive.

A major article which appeared last month over the signatures of two important Soviet scientists demanded broad freedom of different schools of thought in various branches of science to carry on their work. It condemned monopoly or dictation in science. It attacked Lysenko for precisely this while at the same time defending Lysenko's own right to have his own school of work in biology.

The trend indicated by this article seems to be something fundamental.

It's symbolized by Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev's January eulogies to American corn growers and his exhortations to his Russian cohorts to go out and do likewise—to imitate the American techniques. A few years ago Khrushchev would have been expelled from the Communist party as being "sycophantic in the face of Western things"—a sin often associated with treason.

French Junk Dealers Steal 208 Lead Bricks

PARIS, March 2 (AP) — French police today arrested two young junk dealers for stealing 208 lead bricks from a guarded atomic laboratory.

The theft set off a scare when it was thought the bricks were radioactive. It later turned out they were not dangerous.

Police said they were questioning Rene Heron, 24, and Louis l'Homme 21, for the crime.

Eastern Pennsylvania Has 70 MPH Wind Gusts

[By The Associated Press]

March winds blew in the northeastern section of the nation Wednesday.

Gusts of almost 70 m.p.h. were reported in eastern Pennsylvania.

Mild-to-warm weather favored most regions.

Wife Stands By Man Held In Sex Slaying Of Coed

NEW YORK, March 2 (AP) — A lightly built young father, prey to wild, lustful urges, was held without bail today in the inhuman sex mutilation slaying of coed Ann Yarrow.

He purportedly confessed that the passing sight of her on the street aroused within him a murderous passion. Despite this, his pregnant wife stood by him, pledging her undying love and maintaining his innocence.

He is William P. Farrell, 25, a brown-haired $60-a-week wood finisher. He was seized yesterday after he allegedly raped his widowed sister-in-law in a seedy Greenwich Village fringe area a block from the tenement where the New York University graduate student was slain Feb. 6.

Farrell has a sex record dating back 10 years.

"When a man is sick he is not a criminal," his court-appointed lawyer, Benjamin Schmier, maintained. "He's just a sick man and the law will treat him as such."

Schmier claimed Farrell is subject to overpowering urges to hurt women—"so overpowering that he became a wild man."

Farrell's wife, Marilyn, 24, refused to believe her husband guilty. "He did not kill this girl," she insisted. "He's a good man. He was home with me and my family that Saturday night. We often read and discussed this case and there never was any hint that he was in any way involved."

Nevertheless, police claimed an admission from Farrell that he took a fancy to Miss Yarrow on the street, followed her home and forced his way in to rape and slay her.

A person needs to know between 6,000 and 8,000 Chinese characters to read Chinese newspapers with some facility.

GRACE SHEVEL (above), 22, of Chicago, has become the center of a new Israeli-Jordan dispute. She was arrested with two Arab-Israeli students by Jordan authorities when they visited the border village of Beit Safaa. She has been in Israel for a year, working as a dietitian at the Hadassah Hospital and attending courses at Hebrew University.

14-Year-Old Boy Pleads Innocent In Sister's Slaying

REVERE, Mass., March 2 (AP)—A 14-year-old boy pleaded innocent today to a charge of murder in the stabbing death of his 10-year-old sister in a row over a television program.

John V. Riley—dazed and tearful—was held for the grand jury without bail following a closed Chelsea Juvenile Court hearing.

His father, Atty. John J. Riley, who was with his son in the court room, told reporters:

"I love my boy very deeply. It was purely accidental. I know he loved her (his sister) very deeply. The facts are clear. It was an emotional disturbance."

The victim was found yesterday in a bedroom of their home with a bread knife stuck in her heart. The broken blade of a second knife was lodged in her back.

Affidavit States Matusow Rifled Students' Rooms

WASHINGTON, March 2 (AP) — Investigating senators today produced an affidavit stating there is "reliable information" that turncoat witness Harvey Matusow rifled a students' dormitory at Antioch College while investigating alleged communism there.

The sworn statement came from John J. Edmiston, a reporter for the Middletown, Ohio, Journal, and his wife, Martha, both former undercover workers for the FBI.

After it was placed in evidence at a hearing being conducted by the Senate Internal Security subcommittee, Matusow swore he had never been accused of the offense. Antioch is located at Yellow Springs, Ohio.

"What else do you expect from professional witnesses?" Matusow exclaimed.

At the request of his attorney, Chairman Eastland (D-Miss) ordered that subpoenas be issued for the Edmistons to appear before the subcommittee next Monday afternoon. Their affidavit was dated Feb. 14 at Middletown.

It stated that "on reliable information and belief, Matusow was observed rifling students' wardrobes and effects in a dormitory at Antioch College, but escaped the campus without being detained, and that this presumably occurred while he was employed by the Ohio (Un-American Activities) Commission."

Legislators From Most States Better Paid Than Governors

[By The Associated Press]

Under raises voted themselves Tuesday, congressmen from most states will be drawing larger salaries than their governors.

In some cases the congressional paychecks will be more than twice those of the governors of the same state.

But the senators and representatives won't necessarily be better off from an overall financial standpoint because nearly all governors are allowed at least partial expenses. Some chief executives are allowed to spend rather liberally at their state's expense.

The compromise congressional pay raise bill, which President Eisenhower is expected to sign, provides each senator and representative with $22,500 a year in salary, a $3,000 annual tax deduction for the cost of living in Washington and at home and one round-trip home each year at the rate of 20 cents a mile.

An Associated Press survey showed this week that gubernatorial salaries range from $10,000 a year in Arkansas, Idaho, Kentucky, Maine, Montana, Nebraska and Utah to $50,000 in New York.

Only six governors draw salaries larger than those their congressional delegates will get under the scale voted Tuesday. Next in line below New York's $50,000 is the $30,000 paid the New Jersey governor.

California, Illinois, Pennsylvania and Texas each pays its chief executive $25,000.

Michigan's gubernatorial salary equals the new $22,500 for congressmen, while Massachusetts and Ohio each pays its governor $20,000.

More than half of the 48 governors, however, have salaries of $15,000 a year or less.

The gubernatorial pay in at least 30 states has been increased since 1946, when Congress upped the salaries of its members from $10,000 annually to $15,000. Future boosts for governors are pending in legislatures or expected to be presented in seven or more states.

Expenses for governors vary greatly. They include such items as housing, food, household expenses, travel and entertaining.

Some governors are allowed more in expenses than in salary.

Louisiana gives its governor $18,000 annually in salary and $36,000 for mansion expenses.

Tennessee's governor gets a $12,000 paycheck and $18,000 for running the mansion plus travel expenses.

New Jersey allows $20,000 a year for gubernatorial travel, entertainment and other personal expenses but has no executive mansion.

California's governor draws $12,000 annually for mansion expenses, $12,000 for travel, $2,500 for auto operation and $15,000 for salaries of highway patrolmen serving as his chauffeurs.

In Maine, the governor, with a $10,000 salary, is allowed a $15,000 "expense account" and $25,000 for upkeep of the executive mansion.

Additional expenses are provided in nearly all cases for salaries and other non-personal expenses of the governors' offices.

The governor of Vermont, though receives the same expense allowance as any other state official—$750 annually. His salary is $11,000 a year. Vermont has no governor's mansion.

Arkansas gives its governor no travel expenses but provides him with a mansion and funds to operate it.

Utah fixes no specific sum for personal gubernatorial expenses. It simply provides "actual" expenses for travel and household operations.

In Oregon, the state Constitution still lists the governor's salary at $1,500 a year. But the Supreme Court has ruled the figure, fixed in 1859, may be ignored, and the chief executive gets $15,000. Additionally, he receives $100 a month, tax free, for any personal expenses.

Edible Dishes Solve Problem

TORONTO, March 2 (AP) — A Philadelphia ceramics engineer may have the final answer to the dishwashing problem.

Eat the dishes.

Dr. Elliott R. Danzig told the Society of Automotive Engineers recently plates made from a gelatine substance could be used to hold the main course and the dishes could be the dessert.

Wife Turns Down Husband's Offer

CHICAGO, March 2 (AP)—Michael Sullivan 54, offered in Superior Court yesterday to give up whisky if his wife would give up bingo.

He said bingo "is in her blood like whisky is in mine."

Mrs. Sullivan, 60, rejected the offer.

Then, despite Sullivan's protest that any money he gave his wife would be spent on her thrice weekly bingo games, Judge Elmer N. Holmgren ordered him to pay $15 a week temporary support pending outcome of her separate maintenance suit.

New York Banks Plan To Merge

NEW YORK, March 2 (AP)—National City Bank of New York has announced a plan to purchase the historic First National Bank of New York for 165 million dollars.

National City is currently the second largest bank in the United States.

Directors of both institutions agreed to merge the two banks under the name "First National City Bank." National City will pay $550 a share in cash to stockholders of First National for the outstanding 300,000 shares of capital stock.

The proposed absorption marks a new phase in the intense struggle for competitive advantage now taking place among commercial banks in the nation's financial capital.

California's Bank of America is firmly entrenched as the largest U. S. bank with deposits of $8,270,534,751.

Russian Polar Team Violated Canada Waters

OTTAWA, March 2 (AP)—Canadian officials said today they have learned a Soviet team doing research work on the polar ice cap operated last fall in Far North waters claimed by Canada.

The officials said their information came from a recently acquired Russian pamphlet, and they had no reason to doubt it was true.

The Soviet Union has established two permanent research stations on polar ice floes. One, known as North Pole III, was set up at 86 degrees N. latitude and 176 degrees W. longitude. Its last known position—September, 1954—was 89 degrees N. latitude and 54 degrees W. longitude.

Presumably the drift station, in moving around the pole, was at one time in territory which Canada claims. The area is near the North Pole.

An authority here said it is possible the station will again move into Canadian territory. He added that no ulterior motive was suspected.

The Moscow government announced last July it had established the two "scientific stations" near the pole. It said staffs deposited on drifting ice islands last spring were measuring the depth of the Arctic Ocean, studying atmospheric conditions and making geological surveys of the seabed. The stations maintain constant radio contact with Russia. They are supplied by air.

Catastrophes are usually said to be accidents killing five or more persons.

NEW YORK, March 2—(INS)—If my eyes don't deceive me, Max Baer has undergone the greatest change of character since Dr. Jekyll brewed himself that triple mickey and turned into Mr. Hyde. But in Max's case it's vice versa.

At hand is a folder from the Jerry Davis Travel Service of San Francisco advertising a tour of Europe "for men only—with Max Baer," via Scandinavian Airlines.

"Leave it to Max to show you the best!" it implores all red-blooded sports. "It's the tour of a lifetime. Max . . . the puckish, fun-loving Baer who traded in his laurels as king of swing to become America's clown prince! Always quick with a quip, madcap Maxie is renowned as much for his conviviality and love of a good time as for the punching ability that made him heavyweight champion of the world! Thirty-three days—for men only! ($2,050 from New York).

Well, sport, before you buy the pink shirt and unload the wife and kids, you'd better see what Max is up to. Roll home with him at dawn with a babe on each arm? Shoot money out of a cannon? Drink that vintage bubbly for breakfast?

You must be thinking of the old Max . . . and what a pleasant thought that is. The ring never had anybody like him and may never have again. The purpose of this piece, however, is to direct attention to the new Max. Old cronies will find him a bit hard to believe, if not take.

What's in prospect for the first day overseas (June 27) for instance. The folder says:

"London! City of urbane diplomats and charming women. (Ed. Note: How the new Max ever let that one get by is more than I can understand.) Size up the city en-route to the Hotel Grosvenor House. And over cocktails afterward, ask Max for one of his cockney jokes!"

As if that weren't enough to fill the following month with excited chit-chat, Max comes back with a dinger of a day—June 28. Mr. Davis' folder tells it better:

"Had a good night's rest? (Ed. Note: No). Today's the day you'll hit all the high spots, from London Tower (where an impetuous girl named Mary lost her head) to Piccadilly Circus and Westminster Abbey."

In the old days Max would have spent the day trying to find Mary's phone number, and probably would have wound up with it. But not the new Max. I can see him now, whispering to his group as it stands first on one foot and then the other in the poet's corner:

"The abbey is the most widely celebrated church in the British empah. The Thames was bordered in early times by a great expanse of fen land from Chelsea and Battersea, while near the point where the abbey stands was a low island perhaps three-quarters of a mile in circumference, known as Thorney or Bramble Islet. The present abbey is a cruciform structure consisting of nave with aisles, transepts with aisles (but in the south transept the place of the western aisles is occupied by the eastern cloister walk) and choir of polygonal apsidal form, with six chapels (four polygonal) opening north and south of it . . . see?"

Mr. Davis more or less has to slap the new Max around the chops, in the folder, something like Ancil Hoffman used to do between rounds to remind him he was fighting. For example, after "the 'Baer' lowdown on London by night," he leers:

"June 29—We'll say pass to a wake-up call this ayem, and pass the tomato juice instead. (Ed. Note: Max once used it as a chaser for martinis . . .). Dinner at eight in Chelsea. A memorable meal in this land of Pickwickian delights, temptingly served by peasant lasses at the Magic Carpet Inn."

The new Max probably will replace the peasant lasses with Arthur Treacher and other butlers, in keeping with his new personality. Or he may not show at all at this one. After all, June 30 will be an important day for him, according to the folder:

"Skipper Baer's charted a gala river-cruise down the Thames today . . . Past Windsor Castle, palaces and romantic hedgerow countryside."

If I can raise the $2,050 I'm going. This new Baer I've got to see.

Maryland House Kills Bills Aimed At Roads Group

"Business" Measure Splits Demos

ANNAPOLIS, March 2 (AP) — A bill to prevent former State Roads Commission members from doing business with the commission was killed in the House of Delegates today after some heated debate and a split among Democrats on the issue.

The House also killed two others in a series of bills aimed at the SRC and sponsored by Del. Cannon (D-Wicomico). One would have made the governor's appointments to the commission subject to confirmation by the Senate. The other would have required the SRC to award contracts only to the low bidder.

The latter two died on voice votes after unfavorable reports by the Senate Finance Committee were debated briefly.

The biggest fight came on Cannon's bill to prevent the commission from doing business with any former member within two years after his service.

The House leadership prevailed in killing it, 67-40, when Cannon and others insisted on a rollcall.

The bill grew out of an issue in the 1954 gubernatorial campaign when Democrats criticized the SRC's hiring of former member David Nichols to acquire land for a Baltimore harbor tunnel project.

Del. Boone (D-Balto County), ways and Means Committee chairman and majority floor leader, said he thought the House would do better to hold back such legislation until a proposed legislative study of SRC practices can be made.

Del. Robinson (D-Balto 4th) said if Democrats were disturbed about the SRC situation, "why don't we meet it headon?"

Del. Machen (D-Prince Georges) said he was "disappointed in our Democratic leadership" in wanting to put off such legislation.

"Serious charges were made in the campaign and should be investigated," he said. But why not do something to correct abuses now? Why put it off?"

Del. Tydings (D-Harford), Lee (D-Montgomery), Murray (D-Howard) also joined Cannon in the fight to save the bill.

The Welfare Department joined the State Roads Commission as a target of legislative criticism and in need of investigation.

Welfare operations were hit from two fronts.

Senate Finance Chairman Turnbull (D-Balto County) questioned rising costs, some of which he said are hidden in the budget, in "unprecedented peacetime prosperity."

Machen had ready for introduction a resolution for a $50,000 study of the department. A similar resolution pertaining to the roads commission has been pending in the Legislature for some time.

Turnbull was critical of charging for medical care of the poor to the State Department of Health budget which was being gone over by his committee.

"It's a good way to hide the actual cost of welfare," he complained. He suggested "one overall giveaway department."

More than 80 per cent of the increase requested this year for the Health Department is for caring for the poor. The increasing number of people on welfare is a major factor.

In his probing for "hidden welfare costs," Turnbull picked out also the free care given patients at the University of Maryland Hospital.

Legislature Gets Press Sales Tax Exemption Bill

ANNAPOLIS, March 2 (AP)—Exemption of most materials used to print a newspaper, including power to run the press, from the Maryland sales tax was proposed today by five senators.

Among those who introduced the bill is Sen. Goldstein (D-Calvert) owner of two weekly newspapers. He acted after receiving a request from the Maryland Press Assn. The others are Sens. Nock (D-Wicomico), North (D-Talbot), Phipps (D-Anne Arundel) and Phoebus (R-Somerset).

The exemptions would apply to all materials necessary for photos and engraving as well as for printing and wrapping newspapers.

In another bill related to the press, Sen. Redden (D-Caroline) sought to permit reporters to attend juvenile court hearings from which all other unofficial observers would be barred.

Del Cannon (D-Wicomico) continued his legislative campaign against the State Roads Commission by introducing two bills aimed at holding the routing of a new stretch of U. S. 50 through Salisbury, his hometown.

He has objected that the proposed route is impractical and too costly because it would take in land which has been heavily developed. His home is among residential properties on the proposed line.

One of Cannon's new bills would postpone further work on the project for two years. The other would prohibit the Roads Commission from contracting for the relocation or reconstruction of any state or federal highway in Salisbury for the same period.

Pollack Emerges As Big Baltimore Primary Winner

BALTIMORE, March 2 (AP)—Jack Pollack's name wasn't on the ballot but he emerged a big winner today in Baltimore's primary election.

The Fourth District Democratic leader was the only one of the city's neighborhood bosslets to back Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro when he won a runaway victory in yesterday's voting for the Democratic nomination for mayor.

Pollack and D'Alesandro have been closely associated all through D'Alesandro's two terms and men loyal to them captured nominations to 15 of the 20 seats in the city council.

Leon Abramson, a long-time Pollack man, won the nomination for president of the council.

Dr. R. Walter R. Graham Jr., who had the Pollack-D'Alesandro blessing, was nominated for comptroller. He will have no Republican opposition in the general election May 3.

Samuel Hopkins, attorney and former member of the Maryland House of delegates, was nominated for mayor by the Republicans. J. Marshall Boone will oppose Abramson for the city council presidency. Both had the backing of Gov. McKeldin and the Republican city committee.

Democrats hold a three-to-one edge on the registration books and Republican office holders in Baltimore are rare.

Riley Suggests County Tax For Sewer Work

TOWSON, Md., March 2 (AP)—Dr. Robert H. Riley, State director of health, indicated today that counties unable to finance necessary sewer construction should consider a tax to pay for the work.

Such a levy for Baltimore County was suggested by Dr. Riley in a letter to John B. Funk, county director of public works.

Dr. Riley noted that Funk had expressed concern that the county may soon reach the limit of its borrowing capacity for the construction of water supply and sewerage facilities.

No Special Auto Tags, Mudd Says

BALTIMORE, March 2 (AP) — If you have a friend in the Department of Motor Vehicles, and you think that friend can get you any special combination of letters or numbers on your new license tags—forget the whole idea.

Motor Vehicles Commissioner Thomas B. R. Mudd has issued to his staff a reminder that any employe who attempts to save a special combination for anyone will be given the gate.

Tags are to be issued strictly in sequence, Mudd said.

J. C. Penney Earnings Up

NEW YORK, March 2 (AP)—J. C. Penney Co., nationwide department store chain, announced today 1954 net earnings reached $43,616,938 compared with a 1953 net of $38,472,932.

Hagerstown Woman Testifies For Doctor

SAVANNAH, Ga., March 2 (AP)—The mother of a Hagerstown, Md., youth, on whose eyes Dr. Paul Nelson Fleming operated, gave testimony in behalf of Dr. Fleming today stating that the operation had given her boy vision which enables him to run and play like other boys.

Mrs. Charles Spessard, who came from Hagerstown to testify in the six and a half million dollar suit of Dr. Fleming against 13 other Savannah physicians, disputed testimony of Mrs. F. G. Carpenter that the lad could not see. Mrs. Carpenter stated she visited the boy in the Maryland Home for the Blind at Baltimore.

Dr. Fleming, who charges the defendant doctors with conspiracy to prevent him from practicing at the Warren A. Candler Hospital here, formerly practiced at Hagerstown.

Girl Given 8-Year Term For Murder Of Child

ROCKVILLE, Md., March 2 (AP)—Mrs. Marion Janice Moseley, 16, was sentenced to 8 years in the Maryland State Reformatory for Women today for the murder of her 6-year-old half sister. She was convicted Friday of second degree murder in the strangling of Katherine Nadine Bannister in their Rockville home.

Maryland House Kills Bills Aimed At Roads Group

"Business" Measure Splits Demos

ANNAPOLIS, March 2 (AP) — A bill to prevent former State Roads Commission members from doing business with the commission was killed in the House of Delegates today after some heated debate and a split among Democrats on the issue.

The House also killed two others in a series of bills aimed at the SRC and sponsored by Del. Cannon (D-Wicomico). One would have made the governor's appointments to the commission subject to confirmation by the Senate. The other would have required the SRC to award contracts only to the low bidder.

The latter two died on voice votes after unfavorable reports by the Senate Finance Committee were debated briefly.

The biggest fight came on Cannon's bill to prevent the commission from doing business with any former member within two years after his service.

The House leadership prevailed in killing it, 67-40, when Cannon and others insisted on a rollcall.

The bill grew out of an issue in the 1954 gubernatorial campaign when Democrats criticized the SRC's hiring of former member David Nichols to acquire land for a Baltimore harbor tunnel project.

Del. Boone (D-Balto County), ways and Means Committee chairman and majority floor leader, said he thought the House would do better to hold back such legislation until a proposed legislative study of SRC practices can be made.

Del. Robinson (D-Balto 4th) said if Democrats were disturbed about the SRC situation, "why don't we meet it headon?"

Del. Machen (D-Prince Georges) said he was "disappointed in our Democratic leadership" in wanting to put off such legislation.

"Serious charges were made in the campaign and should be investigated," he said. But why not do something to correct abuses now? Why put it off?"

Del. Tydings (D-Harford), Lee (D-Montgomery), Murray (D-Howard) also joined Cannon in the fight to save the bill.

The Welfare Department joined the State Roads Commission as a target of legislative criticism and in need of investigation.

Welfare operations were hit from two fronts.

Senate Finance Chairman Turnbull (D-Balto County) questioned rising costs, some of which he said are hidden in the budget, in "unprecedented peacetime prosperity."

Machen had ready for introduction a resolution for a $50,000 study of the department. A similar resolution pertaining to the roads commission has been pending in the Legislature for some time.

Turnbull was critical of charging for medical care of the poor to the State Department of Health budget which was being gone over by his committee.

"It's a good way to hide the actual cost of welfare," he complained. He suggested "one overall giveaway department."

More than 80 per cent of the increase requested this year for the Health Department is for caring for the poor. The increasing number of people on welfare is a major factor.

In his probing for "hidden welfare costs," Turnbull picked out also the free care given patients at the University of Maryland Hospital.

Legislature Gets Press Sales Tax Exemption Bill

ANNAPOLIS, March 2 (AP)—Exemption of most materials used to print a newspaper, including power to run the press, from the Maryland sales tax was proposed today by five senators.

Among those who introduced the bill is Sen. Goldstein (D-Calvert) owner of two weekly newspapers. He acted after receiving a request from the Maryland Press Assn. The others are Sens. Nock (D-Wicomico), North (D-Talbot), Phipps (D-Anne Arundel) and Phoebus (R-Somerset).

The exemptions would apply to all materials necessary for photos and engraving as well as for printing and wrapping newspapers.

In another bill related to the press, Sen. Redden (D-Caroline) sought to permit reporters to attend juvenile court hearings from which all other unofficial observers would be barred.

Del Cannon (D-Wicomico) continued his legislative campaign against the State Roads Commission by introducing two bills aimed at holding the routing of a new stretch of U. S. 50 through Salisbury, his hometown.

He has objected that the proposed route is impractical and too costly because it would take in land which has been heavily developed. His home is among residential properties on the proposed line.

One of Cannon's new bills would postpone further work on the project for two years. The other would prohibit the Roads Commission from contracting for the relocation or reconstruction of any state or federal highway in Salisbury for the same period.

Pollack Emerges As Big Baltimore Primary Winner

BALTIMORE, March 2 (AP)—Jack Pollack's name wasn't on the ballot but he emerged a big winner today in Baltimore's primary election.

The Fourth District Democratic leader was the only one of the city's neighborhood bosslets to back Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro when he won a runaway victory in yesterday's voting for the Democratic nomination for mayor.

Pollack and D'Alesandro have been closely associated all through D'Alesandro's two terms and men loyal to them captured nominations to 15 of the 20 seats in the city council.

Leon Abramson, a long-time Pollack man, won the nomination for president of the council.

Dr. R. Walter R. Graham Jr., who had the Pollack-D'Alesandro blessing, was nominated for comptroller. He will have no Republican opposition in the general election May 3.

Samuel Hopkins, attorney and former member of the Maryland House of delegates, was nominated for mayor by the Republicans. J. Marshall Boone will oppose Abramson for the city council presidency. Both had the backing of Gov. McKeldin and the Republican city committee.

Democrats hold a three-to-one edge on the registration books and Republican office holders in Baltimore are rare.

Riley Suggests County Tax For Sewer Work

TOWSON, Md., March 2 (AP)—Dr. Robert H. Riley, State director of health, indicated today that counties unable to finance necessary sewer construction should consider a tax to pay for the work.

Such a levy for Baltimore County was suggested by Dr. Riley in a letter to John B. Funk, county director of public works.

Dr. Riley noted that Funk had expressed concern that the county may soon reach the limit of its borrowing capacity for the construction of water supply and sewerage facilities.

SAVANNAH, Ga., March 2 (AP)—The mother of a Hagerstown, Md., youth, on whose eyes Dr. Paul Nelson Fleming operated, gave testimony in behalf of Dr. Fleming today stating that the operation had given her boy vision which enables him to run and play like other boys.

Mrs. Charles Spessard, who came from Hagerstown to testify in the six and a half million dollar suit of Dr. Fleming against 13 other Savannah physicians, disputed testimony of Mrs. F. G. Carpenter that the lad could not see. Mrs. Carpenter stated she visited the boy in the Maryland Home for the Blind at Baltimore.

Tomorrow You Diet?

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor

What is the best method of losing weight?

That is a controversial question that bothers male and female, young and old, in the overweight group.

Some hold that starvation is the only answer. Others advocate high protein. Then there is the you-must-eat-fat-too school of thought. Sugar promoters push the "eat and reduce with sugar plan" and meat advocates claim you can eat meat at every meal and lose a pound a day.

There are some who believe that the only safe way to reduce is to cut everything you normally eat in half portions and eat no more.

It all boils down to reducing with the method that agrees with you. If it doesn't work after a few days, give it up. If it does, continue it.

It is not safe to diet over a long period of time unless you are on the lesser portion diet and get yourself to require no more food than that offers. On a well-balanced diet you can eat more or less what you will without injuring your health.

All dieters agree will power is the most essential ingredient. If you haven't got it, you can't lose weight. Impatience is another disastrous attitude. And silly, too, considering you've probably spent months debating when to start dieting. And then you won't give it a chance.

One determined beauty goes on a diet whenever she gains 10 pounds. She pastes a strip of adhesive tape on her mirror and another on her refrigerator with the reminder "Lose 10 pounds by (naming a date.)" Many a day, says this plump sugar plum, "I have stopped short of opening the refrigerator door because of that little note."

If you don't know a better diet, here is one suggested by a physician that can be used as a yardstick. It is balanced, and the important thing is to eat at least what is on the menu every day. Add and subtract as far as quantity goes, but have a food in each category. Eat slowly and you will get more out of your diet . . .

Every day eat:

1 orange or ½ grapefruit (with pulp, not juice) plus one other serving of fruit.
1 slice of whole wheat bread
1 pad of butter
1 hardboiled egg
1 serving of meat or boiled or broiled fish
2 cooked vegetables, one such as spinach or stringbeans and one of the yellow variety.
2 raw vegetables such as celery, lettuce, carrots, tomatoes
1 glass of skimmed milk
Coffee or tea
1 baked or boiled potato or ½ cup of macaroni or noodles

No salt or sugar is added in cooking.

Tomorrow You Diet?

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor

What is the best method of losing weight?

That is a controversial question that bothers male and female, young and old, in the overweight group.

Some hold that starvation is the only answer. Others advocate high protein. Then there is the you-must-eat-fat-too school of thought. Sugar promoters push the "eat and reduce with sugar plan" and meat advocates claim you can eat meat at every meal and lose a pound a day.

There are some who believe that the only safe way to reduce is to cut everything you normally eat in half portions and eat no more.

It all boils down to reducing with the method that agrees with you. If it doesn't work after a few days, give it up. If it does, continue it.

It is not safe to diet over a long period of time unless you are on the lesser portion diet and get yourself to require no more food than that offers. On a well-balanced diet you can eat more or less what you will without injuring your health.

All dieters agree will power is the most essential ingredient. If you haven't got it, you can't lose weight. Impatience is another disastrous attitude. And silly, too, considering you've probably spent months debating when to start dieting. And then you won't give it a chance.

One determined beauty goes on a diet whenever she gains 10 pounds. She pastes a strip of adhesive tape on her mirror and another on her refrigerator with the reminder "Lose 10 pounds by (naming a date.)" Many a day, says this plump sugar plum, "I have stopped short of opening the refrigerator door because of that little note."

If you don't know a better diet, here is one suggested by a physician that can be used as a yardstick. It is balanced, and the important thing is to eat at least what is on the menu every day. Add and subtract as far as quantity goes, but have a food in each category. Eat slowly and you will get more out of your diet . . .

Every day eat:

1 orange or ½ grapefruit (with pulp, not juice) plus one other serving of fruit.

1 slice of whole wheat bread

1 pad of butter

1 hardboiled egg

1 serving of meat or boiled or broiled fish

2 cooked vegetables, one such as spinach or stringbeans and one of the yellow variety.

2 raw vegetables such as celery, lettuce, carrots, tomatoes

1 glass of skimmed milk

Coffee or tea

1 baked or boiled potato or ½ cup of macaroni or noodles

No salt or sugar is added in cooking.

If, after you have washed your leather gloves in warm soapsuds and rinses, they are somewhat dry and stiff, try rolling them briefly in a dampened turkish towel. The leather will absorb just enough moisture to become pliable again. Then you can restore the original suppleness by smoothing and shaping the gloves on your hands.

Foresters Planning Attack On White Pine Blister Rust

A plan of attack in the fight against white pine blister rust in forest areas of Allegany, Garrett, Washington and Frederick counties was mapped out yesterday during a meeting in the office of William H. Johnson, district forester.

Conferring with Johnson were John R. George, pathologist, of Harrisonburg, Va., who is affiliated with the U. S. Department of Agriculture, and his assistant, Clarence Fultz, of Lost River, W. Va.

George, who is in charge of the control of the disease, outlined the cooperative program which should get underway the latter part of this month.

This year, silvacide, a plant killer will be used in a spray form in areas which have a dense growth of currant and gooseberry bushes upon which the disease spends part of its life cycle.

The blister rust spends part of its life cycle on the berry bushes and part of it on the white pine tree. The disease, Johnson pointed out, is controlled by eradicating berry bushes within 900 feet of the white pine.

The work of controlling this disease was started in Western Maryland in the early 1930's. The number of times an area is checked depends on the number of berry bushes.

Formerly the work of eliminating the bushes and disease was done by pulling them from the ground and exposing them to the sun and air. Crews of the district will be out in the forest areas tracking down the bushes as soon as possible.

Conlon Named Armed Forces Day Chairman

Thomas F. Conlon will serve as chairman for the Armed Forces Day observance which will be held here on Saturday, May 21.

The appointment was announced yesterday by Mayor Roy W. Eves, who said that Cumberland has been selected as one of the key cities for the national observance.

Conlon will head civilian members of a committee which will assist in the 1955 Armed Forces Day observance here.

Lt. Cmdr. Gordon H. McCrea, USN, who will assume command of the Naval and Marine Corps Reserve Training Center here in April, has been named city project officer for the event.

Capt. H. W. Tubbs Jr., Sixth Special Infantry Company inspector-instructor, who is acting as center commander, will handle advance plans until Lt. Cmdr. McCrea's arrival.

Capt. Tubbs pointed out civilian members of the committee will do most of the planning and the military members will act as liaison with the armed service in obtaining military assistance.

Col. F. W. Miller, headquarters, Air Research and Development Command, Baltimore, will be project officer for Area 5 of which Cumberland is a part.

Major Grant E. Hoover, former unit advisor for the local units of the Army Reserve, was project officer for the event here last year while Conlon was committee chairman.

Bicentennial Projects For JCs Aired

Four programs which the Fort Cumberland Bicentennial steering committee would like for the Junior Association of Commerce to direct in conjunction with the pageant during the week of August 14 were discussed last night at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club at a Jaycee meeting.

Col. F. Edgerton Powell, general chairman of the Bicentennial committee, asked the Jaycees to be in charge of the Queen Contest, a beard-growing plan, the sale and distribution of commemorative wooden nickels and also the sale of special Bicentennial hats.

The four projects were referred to a committee for study and recommendation.

Circuit Court

torneys was that the contract was too vague and indefinite.

The court ruled that while the engineering date is understandably not definite, the agreement as to financing made by the city and the SRC is very definite. That was deemed as the deciding factor on this second point.

Having shown the city can pledge future gas tax or motor vehicle revenues, the court stated that if the city's annual share is not up to $70 000 then it may be that the SRC will be unable to secure payment in full.

The contract reserves the privilege for the city to make up the matching funds from any other sources available to it.

The opinion cited several cases where it is not up to the court to decide on the advisability of the crosstown expressway.

"The decision as to whether it will benefit or harm the city is a matter for the Mayor and City council, not for this court. Our duty is to decide only whether the city has the power to make the contract it signed on August 9," the opinion said.

The judges ruled that McKaig had the right to file the suit.

McKaig owns property which will be taken if the crosstown viaduct is built, the opinion noted.

"It is true he will be paid for its fair value, either by agreement or through condemnation proceedings. But any man has a right to refuse to sell his property even at a fair price, and to raise the question of the right of another to condemn," the judges stated.

City officials pointed out that the contract upheld by the court is not for construction. It is a contract to share costs or to spell out spheres of authority among local, state and federal governments.

The Mayor and Council signed this contract last August and sent it to the SRC. When the injunction proceeding was launched, the SRC held up signing until result of the court suit was known.

Soon after, a petition signed by 10 per cent of the registered voters asked for a referendum on the expressway. In view of the decision on the validity of the contract, that matter may be a moot one.

In all likelihood, the court will be asked for a declaratory judgement on the referendum.

It is considered subject to argument since the attempt to abridge city power would not have affect until after the next general election. Meantime, the city has the power to go ahead with its plans for the expressway.

In its entirety, the expressway plan also includes the Industrial Boulevard in South End and is part of the SRC 12-year program for road improvement.

The expressway-boulevard plan is designed primarily to remedy the internal traffic problem.

It will involve a capital improvement estimated at from $10,000,000 to $12,000,000. Of this the city must provide $490,000 from its gasoline and motor vehicle revenue over a seven-year period. In addition, there will be a cost estimated at about $153,500, some of which is open to negotiation, for utility relocation costs of both public and city services, traffic signals, curbs, sidewalks, etc.

Substitute Curfew Law Considered At Westernport

A substitute curfew ordinance in Westernport was presented last night during a meeting of the Mayor and Council of that community and will be considered and acted upon during the next meeting.

An original ordinance was reported to have exceeded the authority provided by the town charter. The substitute ordinance would not put a penalty or fine on the youngster out after hours, or in case he was in a place of business, the businessman would not be fined.

The first time a child is out after hours he would be taken to his parents or guardian. In the event of a second offense the Mayor and Commissioners could prefer a complaint to juvenile authorities of Allegany County, charging the child with delinquency and the parents with contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Owners Asked To Move Cars Which Block Street Sweeper

A number of mid-town residents were routed out of bed early yesterday because their parked cars blocked progress of the city's street sweeper.

Members of the police force notified owners that their cars had to be moved under a cooperative Street-Police Department program to give the city cleaner streets.

Commissioner William R. Buchholtz said the Street Department "is sorry for the inconvenience caused any one but if we want a clean town we have to do these things."

The commissioner said public cooperation in the matter in keeping abreast of the sweeper schedule will help not only his department but prevent inconveniencing residents.

Some confusion resulted from the sweeper schedules, designation of "day" and "night" shift and the areas for each.

Buchholtz said by "night shift" is meant 1 a. m. to 7 a. m. and by "day shift" from 7 a. m. through the daylight hours.

The business district is cleaned five nights a week. This area includes streets between the two railroads and from Williams Street to the head of Mechanic Street.

The schedule, Buchholtz said, is subject to weather. In event of rain it will be impossible to sweep that particular day in the section designated.

Under the schedule released for today, the sweeper is to operate as follows: Day shift—North Cumberland, Piedmont Avenue to Bedford Street and West Side from Washington Street to Campobello.

Night shift — Business district between railroads and from Williams Street to head of Mechanic Street.

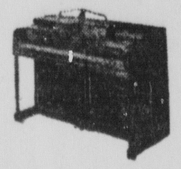

That the cleanup is paying off is indicated by the fact that more than a truckload of dirt and debris was hauled away from the mid-town area Tuesday night.

Circuit Court

torneys was that the contract was too vague and indefinite.

The court ruled that while the engineering date is understandably not definite, the agreement as to financing made by the city and the SRC is very definite. That was deemed as the deciding factor on this second point.

Having shown the city can pledge future gas tax or motor vehicle revenues, the court stated that if the city's annual share is not up to $70 000 then it may be that the SRC will be unable to secure payment in full.

The contract reserves the privilege for the city to make up the matching funds from any other sources available to it.

The opinion cited several cases where it is not up to the court to decide on the advisability of the crosstown expressway.

"The decision as to whether it will benefit or harm the city is a matter for the Mayor and City council, not for this court. Our duty is to decide only whether the city has the power to make the contract it signed on August 9," the opinion said.

The judges ruled that McKaig had the right to file the suit.

McKaig owns property which will be taken if the crosstown viaduct is built, the opinion noted.

"It is true he will be paid for its fair value, either by agreement or through condemnation proceedings. But any man has a right to refuse to sell his property even at a fair price, and to raise the question of the right of another to condemn," the judges stated.

City officials pointed out that the contract upheld by the court is not for construction. It is a contract to share costs or to spell out spheres of authority among local, state and federal governments.

The Mayor and Council signed this contract last August and sent it to the SRC. When the injunction proceeding was launched, the SRC held up signing until result of the court suit was known.

Soon after, a petition signed by 10 per cent of the registered voters asked for a referendum on the expressway. In view of the decision on the validity of the contract, that matter may be a moot one.

In all likelihood, the court will be asked for a declaratory judgment on the referendum.

It is considered subject to argument since the attempt to abridge city power would not have affect until after the next general election. Meantime, the city has the power to go ahead with its plans for the expressway.

In its entirety, the expressway plan also includes the Industrial Boulevard in South End and is part of the SRC 12-year program for road improvement.

The expressway-boulevard plan is designed primarily to remedy the internal traffic problem.

It will involve a capital improvement estimated at from $10,000,000 to $12,000,000. Of this the city must provide $490,000 from its gasoline and motor vehicle revenue over a seven-year period. In addition, there will be a cost estimated at about $153,500, some of which is open to negotiation, for utility relocation costs of both public and city services, traffic signals, curbs, sidewalks, etc.

Senior Citizens To Participate In Spelling Bee

The program for today's meeting of the Senior Citizens Club calls for a spelling bee, a birthday party, readings by members, craft work and games.

The meeting will be held from 2 to 4 p. m. at the Elks Home, 114 South Centre Street, according to Robert E. Pence, city recreation director.

The program will include a reading by Mrs. Mary Brown; the recitation of a poem, "It's All in the State of Mind," and a vocal duet by Mrs. Mowry and Mrs. Chenowith.

Craftwork will be offered for making sequin pins and earrings.

Games will include checkers, canasta and similar table games.

To be honored are Mrs. Anna Hagan and Mrs. Ora Penner, who will have birthdays this month.

Hostesses will be Mrs. George Eyler, Mrs. A. J. Cioni, Mrs. Eola Scott and Mrs. Robert Pence.

Refreshments will be served by the Recreation Department, with Mrs. Eva Hogan, Glenwood Reel and Pence assisting in the program.

Substitute Curfew Law Considered At Westernport

A substitute curfew ordinance in Westernport was presented last night during a meeting of the Mayor and Council of that community and will be considered and acted upon during the next meeting.

An original ordinance was reported to have exceeded the authority provided by the town charter. The substitute ordinance would not put a penalty or fine on the youngster out after hours, or in case he was in a place of business, the businessman would not be fined.

The first time a child is out after hours he would be taken to his parents or guardian. In the event of a second offense the Mayor and Commissioners could prefer a complaint to juvenile authorities of Allegany County, charging the child with delinquency and the parents with contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Owners Asked To Move Cars Which Block Street Sweeper

A number of mid-town residents were routed out of bed early yesterday because their parked cars blocked progress of the city's street sweeper.

Members of the police force notified owners that their cars had to be moved under a cooperative Street-Police Department program to give the city cleaner streets.

Commissioner William R. Buchholtz said the Street Department "is sorry for the inconvenience caused any one but if we want a clean town we have to do these things."

The commissioner said public cooperation in the matter in keeping abreast of the sweeper schedule will help not only his department but prevent inconveniencing residents.

Some confusion resulted from the sweeper schedules, designation of "day" and "night" shift and the areas for each.

Buchholtz said by "night shift" is meant 1 a. m. to 7 a. m. and by "day shift" from 7 a. m. through the daylight hours.

The business district is cleaned five nights a week. This area includes streets between the two railroads and from Williams Street to the head of Mechanic Street.

The schedule, Buchholtz said, is subject to weather. In event of rain it will be impossible to sweep that particular day in the section designated.

Under the schedule released for today, the sweeper is to operate as follows: Day shift—North Cumberland, Piedmont Avenue to Bedford Street and West Side from Washington Street to Campobello.

Night shift — Business district between railroads and from Williams Street to head of Mechanic Street.

That the cleanup is paying off is indicated by the fact that more than a truckload of dirt and debris was hauled away from the mid-town area Tuesday night.

She Knows About Sugarin' Time

Miss Mona Lea Hillegass, Pennsylvania's 1955 Queen Maple VIII, is shown hanging a keeler on a maple tree in her father's grove on their farm near Berlin. A real farm girl, Miss Hillegass will be crowned officially in elaborate ceremonies March 25 in Meyersdale, the opening day of the annual Somerset County Maple Festival. The celebration will continue through March 27.

Somerset County's Pretty 1955 Maple Queen Helps Her Father On Farm And In Sugar Camp

MEYERSDALE — She's not only Pennsylvania's sweetest queen, but Mona Lea Hillegass knows what "sugarin' time" means.

Selected as Queen Maple VIII to reign over the eighth annual Somerset County Maple Festival beginning Friday, March 25, the Shanksville-Stonycreek Joint High School senior helps her parents in the sugar camp each spring.

"I like tractor-driving to haul in the sweet water best," says Queen Maple.

Being the eldest of three girls in the Hillegass family, Mona Lea was quick to learn how trees are tapped, keelers emptied into barrel-shaped wagons and transported to the one-room camp not 200 yards from the farm home.

The intricacies of pan-boiling, handed down through generations, were taught the blue-eyed, brown-haired beauty at an early age.

In 1954 the family produced over 250 gallons of syrup, sold to regular customers from Pittsburgh and Somerset County distributors.

Mr. Hillegass said he usually sets out about 200 keelers, but a small stand of maple trees has since been cut for lumber. He is considering an exhibit in the annual Maple products contest, which names a Sugar King to reign with the Maple Queen.

Mona Lea was five years old when Glenden Hillegass brought his family from Allegheny Township to their present residence near the Old Hillegass homestead.

Neat fence lines surrounding fields and well-kept buildings tell that the family is no slouch at farm maintenance. The 216-acre farm near Roxbury is divided by Route 31, also the Stonycreek-Brothersvalley Township line.

Two other daughters, 13-year-old Darlene and three-year-old Gretchen Ann, were born to Mr. and Mrs. Hillegass while they have lived at the present site.

Milking cows was a regular morning and evening chore for Mona Lea until recent years when a man was engaged to help with livestock.

Fifty-nine head of Holstein cattle, including 30 milk cows, are tended by Mr. Hillegass along with 20 pigs and 250 chickens. He is an active member in the Somerset County Holstein Club.

Queen Mona prefers outdoor work at home. Her mother hints dish washing and house cleaning are tasks the five-feet, five-inch girl would rather omit.

Although a calm, self-assured young lady, it required her mother's prompting before Mona Lea definitely decided to enter the queen representative contest at Shanksville-Stonycreek Joint High School.

Her talent number, a reading entitled "There Shall be No Night There," was the result of considerable thought and originality by the new Maple Queen. Mrs. Samuel Brown, Shanksville-Stonycreek teacher, Mrs. James Coleman, school nurse and Mr. C. C. Shaffer, supervising principal, aided Miss Hillegass in preparing her talent number.

Queen Mona Lea prefers red for color, steak and tossed salad for eating and Problems of Democracy as most interesting school work. Her pet peeve is gossipers.

For relaxation Pennsylvania's new Maple Queen enjoys dancing. She attends all the school dances after home basketball games. At home she enjoys playing the piano and reading popular fiction novels.

An honor student in her senior year at school, she is editor of the school yearbook and sings in the chorus.

Shirley Ann Welsh of Rockwood and Elinor Kay Whipple of Somerset will be Queen Mona Lea's maids of honor during three days filled with activities at the eighth annual Maple Festival in Meyersdale.

Miss Florabelle Walker, 1954 Maple Queen, will present her crown to Mona Lea Hillegass at ceremonies Friday, March 25, which opens the festival.

Mrs. Shipe Is Indicted On Manslaughter Charge

Held since January 9 in the death of an infant daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Ernestine Shipe, 22, wife of Robert L. Shipe, formerly of Oldtown, was indicted yesterday by the Lorain County (Ohio) grand jury on a first degree manslaughter charge.

The baby was found in a suitcase and authorities later determined it died December 19, 1953.

At a preliminary hearing, Mrs. Shipe pleaded guilty to a manslaughter charge and was held in jail under $10,000 bond. Her husband was not detained.

Ohio police said the woman admitted the child was born alive and that she caused its death by stuffing an undergarment into its mouth. She signed a statement, they added.

Following her arrest in the Cumberland area by city authorities, Mrs. Shipes waived extradition in Circuit Court and was returned to Ohio for further interrogation.

The body of the baby, who Mrs. Shipe said was born out of wedlock shortly before Christmas of 1953, was found locked in a suitcase in a house trailer formerly occupied by the Shipes at Elyria. The couple was married in February, 1954.

In a statement to police here, Mrs. Shipe said she thought the infant was dead at birth and placed the body in the suitcase.

Mrs. Shipe was quoted as telling Ohio authorities later that she didn't want the people with whom she resided to know the child had been born. The woman also stated she did not want her parents to know about the child's birth.

The gruesome discovery was made after the Shipes came to Cumberland and their house trailer was repossessed. The family car was involved in an accident and they were unable to return to Ohio.

The aircraft flew non-stop from California to Georgia last Friday—slightly more than 2,000 miles—in three hours, 19 minutes and 35 seconds. The average speed was 641 miles per hour.

A Better City Gets A Boost

A short time ago The News recommended editorially that Cumberland be sparked up a bit by cleaning it up and making long-range plans for its future development.

This was suggested as a means not only to help Cumberland compete with other cities for new industry but also to make Cumberland a more attractive business and residential community.

The thought was that Cumberland has many, many good points but that too many of them are not being used to advantage. To put it another way, "We've got the pants, but they need pressing to keep them from bagging at the knees."

There have been two recent developments that are encouraging.

Most recent, of course, was the unanimous decision yesterday by the judges of the Fourth Judicial Circuit clearing the way for construction of Cumberland's much-needed six-lane expressway, which earlier had won approval of the Mayor and Council.

That project in itself we expect will do much to convince visitors as well as residents that Cumberland is a progressive, modern city looking to its future growth.

By its modern design, the expressway will enhance the appearance of the city and, we believe, encourage the development of modern business properties in areas adjacent to it in the business section. We believe that instead of creating any blighted areas, the expressway will play a large part in beautification of the city.

This project will cost an estimated $10,000,000 to $12,000,000, with the city compelled to bear but a small portion of the cost.

At the other end of the scale cost-wise is the plan undertaken by the city to clean up the streets. Cost here is included in the Street Department budget but it involves the cooperation of everyone if it is to be successful.

There is no excuse for swirling dirt and dust in either residential or business sections and to combat this Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz has laid out a systematic street-cleaning plan similar to that adopted by his predecessor. It would seem, too, that the street-cleaning plan could be coordinated with a fire hydrant flushing program in both the business and residential districts so that streets could be flushed and cleaned at the same time.

Instead of sweeping litter, which the street sweeper will not pick up, into the streets, a great deal can be accomplished by the little extra effort involved in cleaning up the litter and depositing it in a waste can.

Also involved in this street cleaning program is a little consideration by the motorist who must park on the street. By perusing the street cleaning schedule, it would be possible to determine just when his street will be swept. The first night his street is to be cleaned he could park in his usual place, the second time he could park across the street. By following this alternating parking plan his street could be kept reasonably clean.

Cooperation and consideration are a small price to pay for clean streets.

As was pointed out editorially a few weeks ago, cleaning up and modernizing Cumberland is everybody's business. We will accomplish nothing by being satisfied with Cumberland as it is. We appear to be starting to move in the right direction to make our city a better city. Let's all give it a boost.

Why Hold Hongkong?

The question might reasonably be asked why, if the British object to American intervention in Formosa, which is about 100 miles from the mainland of China, do they not give up Hongkong which is actually within China? The British not only hold the rocky island of Hongkong, but also Kowloon and the New Leased Territories which are on the mainland of China.

Surely it is just as offensive to the Chinese people to see a foreign flag fly over Kowloon as it is for them to know that the United States is assisting the Chinese on Formosa to hold that island as an anti-Communist outpost. Formosa was Japanese territory from 1895 to 1945 and therefore the Chinese are as accustomed to foreign possession of that territory as they are to the British possession of Hongkong, since 1841, most of whose inhabitants are Chinese.

Hongkong is a lovely island which rises to a peak, on which lives the British governor-general. In my day, residence on the island was graduated in the sense that the Chinese mass lived at the base of the hill; then came the poorer Eurasians and Portuguese; above them were the rich Chinese merchants, including those who had emerged to importance as British subjects; above them were the "white men" also graded upward to the peak. Those who lived on the peak were regarded as closer to heaven and acted accordingly.

Business was and is being done in the narrow crowded streets at the base of the hill and in Kowloon which houses factories, warehouses (godowns), airfields, etc. Hongkong has a wonderful harbor for ocean-going ships.

The Pearl River leads to Canton, where the British used to own most of an island called the Shameen. The big ocean liners transferred their goods at Hongkong to river steamers which went up to Canton. Hongkong grew rich as the port for Canton.

The British will, of course, not give up Hongkong. It is too valuable a possession. They have been laboring valiantly these many years, since the end of World War II, to ditch the American policy in China because they have feared the loss of Hongkong and generally speaking, most Americans have favored the retention of Hongkong by the British, if for no other reason than that Americans trade there too, and Hongkong is an excellent listening post, in fact the best in the Far East.

However, if the British continue to make themselves so objectionable about American policy in Formosa, why not raise the issue of Hongkong? If any of us get out, why should not all the Westerners get out?

Those British Labor party leaders, who are so insistent that the United States get out of Formosa and that Chiang Kai-shek be deported to Napoleon's St. Helena, might read a bit of Chinese history. China has never recognized the British possession of Hongkong or Kowloon as a right but as an act of force.

How long does Mr. Attlee believe that Chou En-lai will accept this act of force once the United States has withdrawn its Seventh Fleet?

Some Attacks On Security Setup Made By Violators

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—Who is attacking the security system of the government today and attempting to discredit it? Many well-meaning persons, thoroughly patriotic, are doing some of it, but it so happens coincidentally that this form of attack has for some time been engineered also by persons who themselves turn out later to be involved in violations of the security system.

Thus this correspondent has just received a clipping from the August 29, 1950, issue of the Washington Post, which in its "letters to the editor" column, innocently printed a communication from Joseph S. Petersen Jr., who now is in jail. He pleaded guilty in December 1954 to the theft of secrets from the National Security Agency but in 1950 appeared to be just an indignant letter-writer. Yet from March 1948 through December 1952, according to the evidence at his trial, Petersen was giving to a representative of a European government messages and documents which he was not authorized to transmit and the foreign government was not authorized to receive.

Vital Secret Material

So vital was the secret material that the Department of Justice, for security reasons, did not disclose at the trial all the coded documents that were stolen by Petersen.

How did Petersen escape detection for nearly five years? Evidently the security system was not strong enough. But Petersen himself boldly wrote to a Washington newspaper vigorously condemning the very system he was violating. Here is the full text of his letter:

"Under the guise of 'security,' numerous sins are being committed. The welfare of the nation is of supreme importance, but the right of an individual to 'life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness,' is one of supreme importance, too. The Constitution does not allow one to be condemned without trial, it does not permit one to be judged guilty of charges of which he has no knowledge. But that is happening in our government at this time.

"Today our government agencies are accused of everything short of treason by irresponsible persons. The faith of the American people in the government is being undermined by vilifiers seeking self-aggrandizement. In order to restore this waning faith of the people, agencies are forced to sacrifice all 'upon whom the breath of suspicion falls.'

Enemies Are United

"How this must give 'aid and comfort' to our enemies! Those enemies in our midst are united on a definite plan of action and are slowly but inevitably putting it into force. The ghosts of Marx and Lenin must be chuckling over the distrust and disunity that decadent capitalists are causing among themselves — preparing the way for communism.

"Now is the time to cease seeing enemies on all sides, to stop this persecution of innocent people under the label of 'security of the nation.' The American way is to let a man know what charges have been brought against him and give him a chance to defend himself. Otherwise, what we condemn in others we shall find being used by ourselves.

"JOSEPH S. PETERSEN JR.
"Washington."

It would be a mistake for anyone to generalize about all those who write letters to newspapers just because the Petersen letter reveals insincerity and duplicity. But some of the people who are attacking the security system are exultantly talking about Harvey Matusow's lies as proving that all ex-Communists are liars. Such generalizations are ill-founded, and the case of the Petersen letter underlines how important it is to take every incident separately and weigh the factors in the light of the circumstances in each case.

Communist Trick

There are some letter writers who are guilty of writing lies to newspapers, even including their own names and addresses. Again and again, as some of these persons are addressed, the post office returns the letters with a notation that the individuals are unknown at the address given. It is a Communist trick to use phony names, and some day it may prove advisable to print names and addresses so that the neighbors can check as to whether anyone of that name lives at the address given. Many letters come from Communists, but there is no way for a newspaper to know who they are, though sometimes the argument or the language parallels exactly the articles in Communist newspapers.

The art of propaganda is well-known to the Communists in this country, and the device of letters to the editor has in the last few years become a powerful means of creating confusion and of attacking the security measures being taken by the national government.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

The Hoover Commission on Government Gimmicks is like an Antarctic expedition. It has been rescued still reporting progress.

Herbert led an appointive phalanx of seven Republicans and five Democrats into the chartered wastes of miscellaneous bureaucracy of swiveled authority.

Government of, by and at the people is a duplication of effort. Bureaucracy is a duplication of effort in triplicate.

Seven Republicans are not going to be out-voted just because they don't understand it. And five Democrats are not going to agree just because it's so.

Which meant that Herbert started with the nucleus of a roving filibuster. Like the Spartan youth who warmed the woodpecker in his hat.

Which may be why it glossed over certain problems with a curry comb. A preliminary task force had denounced political clearance of appointments to competitive jobs. The Hoover Commission never stopped to pick a posie off a flower bed at a whistle-stop.

It went by like a rabbit avoiding Danbury the hat town. And ignored senatorial corroboration of 23,000 first, second and third class postmasters.

Which omitted marginal gossip was an official footnote of the first Hoover Commission six years ago. If morals are geographical why can't the pay-off be political?

In addition to the 23,000 postmasters there are 32,000 rural letter carriers subject to quarantine by the national committee. Also U. S. marshals and employes-in-motion of the Customs Bureau. Don't forget Andy Jackson was the apple-Johnny who planted those seeds in the spoils orchard.

The commission did recommend clover-leafing Pentagon corridors. It overlooked the loyalty test for interurban dog catchers. It recommended a survey of wild life between midnight and dawn.

The commission took another rap at the rights of us veterans holding federal jobs. It did the same thing in 1949 and started more ruckus than a weasel in a hen coop.

Parents Have Important Role In Stuttering Children

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

"Stuttering starts in the parents' ears rather than in the child's mouth," is a statement credited to Wendell Johnson, a prominent speech authority. Every mother and father of a youngster who is beginning to talk ought to realize this situation and act accordingly.

Speech is a complicated faculty that cannot be acquired overnight. Parents must learn to be patient and to guide rather than criticize. Toddlers cannot talk correctly; precision comes through repetition, reading aloud, and trial and error.

If the parents are perfectionists and show their dissatisfaction with the tot's progress, a block may occur along the nervous pathways that coordinate the impulses required by the speech mechanism. These pathways must be well developed to encourage a fluid word production.

Another source of trouble stems from parents who do not understand normal speech development. Young children are inclined to repeat words and this practice should not be mistaken for stuttering. Criticism at this time may encourage the defect, however.

On the positive side, the boy or girl is more likely to learn precise talk if conversation is fun rather than a chore. The child should be given enough rope to wander all over the place. He need not be corrected every time he mispronounces or misuses a word. It is better to foster self-confidence, even at the expense of making Sonny a cocky boy.

Stuttering is only one of many disorders of speech. Some persons mispronounce words because of the same psychological factors that lead to stuttering. This happens to youngsters who have been made so self-conscious or embarrassed by criticism they are afraid to open their mouth. As a result, they hesitate or speak slowly because the faculty is no longer automatic.

The majority of stutterers are under considerable tension. Stress may be so marked, other muscular systems receive the overflow, which results in jerky movements of hands, arms, and shoulders. Handwriting, reading, and spelling also may suffer from the strain.

Disturbances in speech are real handicaps and require as much rehabilitation as do physical defects. Some of the money collected by the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults, in their Easter Seal campaign, is devoted to the complex and expensive process of rehabilitating victims of stuttering and allied speech problems.

ANTIBIOTICS AND GROWTH

M. L. writes: I have heard that antibiotics, fed to man or beast, will increase weight. Do you know of this work?

REPLY

Yes. In 1950, we wrote on the effect of aureomycin on the growth of animals. More recently, a report appeared on the results of administering these products to a group of 330 young navy men. Those who received aureomycin gained an average of 4.8 pounds. With penicillin, the average gain was 4.1 pounds. The control sailors who received placebos showed an average increase of 2.7 pounds.

GLANDS AND COLD

T. Z. writes: When the least breeze or wind strikes me, the glands in my neck get sore and stay that way for a few days. What causes this condition?

REPLY

Many persons suffer from stiff neck after exposure to wind, but as a rule, it is the muscles and fibrous tissue in the neck that are involved rather than the glands.

In the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

Nobody ever expected that the Nuthall's gangling, ambitionless young son would ever amount to a darn, but on the day he was 19, he staggered the neighborhood — his parents most of all—by getting the daughter of the richest man in town to say she'd be his. The wedding actually took place, too, causing skeptics to lose a couple of injudicious bets. The lad slipped a ring on his betrothed's finger, mumbling, "With all my worldly goods I thee endow."

"Hah!" chortled Mrs. Nuthall's best friend (absolutely green with envy), "there goes young Nuthall's bicycle!"

The broadcasting company had thrown a big party for a Califor...a star passing through on his way to London. The next day, one of the guests, still shaky on his feet, asked an associate, "What do you take for a headache?"

Small Business Committee Watching Kansas City Newspaper Ad Tactics

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Congressman Wright Patman's Small Business Committee is taking a careful look at what happened to small business in Kansas City when the Kansas City Star cracked down on companies that advertised with other newspapers.

The congressmen are interested not only in what happened to the small weekly papers such as the Catholic Register and Johnson County Herald which had their advertising yanked out as a result of the Star's bulldozing, but also the small businessman in Kansas City was told he couldn't advertise in anything but a big high-priced daily.

The Star and its advertising manager, Emil Sees, have now been convicted criminally for violation of the Anti-trust Act, after Roy Roberts, publisher, was excused from facing trial on the last court day before the trial opened.

Dismissal of the indictment against Roberts followed the same pattern as the recent indictments against Texas Governor Allan Shivers' friend, E. H. Thornton, and Texas grain dealers just before they were to face trial on charges of selling inedible grain as grain fit for human consumption and for cheating the U. S. government out of $1,700,000 in subsidy payments.

Governor Shivers lunched with President Eisenhower shortly before the indictments were dismissed. Roberts, an early Eisenhower booster, had attended many of the President's stag parties and was a White House visitor shortly before his indictment was dismissed.

Meanwhile here are some of the facts developed at the Kansas City criminal trial of the Star which the House Small Business Committee is scrutinizing:

Radio Competition—Tom Evans, owner of KCMO broadcasting and of the Crown Drug Co., testified that when he applied to the FCC for higher radio power he was twice summoned to the Kansas City Star by its treasurer, Earl McCollum.

"He was quite upset," testified Evans, "that we were going ahead with facilities for increasing power. He told me he didn't think I had any business whatsoever in the radio business."

After that, Evans testified, he found that the Star carried less and less of his radio listings until he called on the chairman of the Federal Communications Commission in Washington who wrote a letter to the Star. Thereafter KCMO's radio listings were published.

Later, Evans' Crown Drug Co. inserted a double-page ad in the Kansas City Journal-Post, whereupon Evans said that he was summoned to the office of McCollum who warned: "I want you to discontinue it" — referring to the Journal-Post ad.

Evans refused. "Well, then," McCollum was quoted as saying, "you cut your advertising (in the Journal-Post) in half." McCollum even threatened to withdraw a double-spread in the Star given the Crown Drug each Friday unless Evans complied.

Eventually the Journal-Post was forced out of business.

Religious Newspaper Competition—Another witness, H. R. Arnoff, operator of Lullaby House, a group of children's stores, testified that when he inserted a small ad in the Catholic Register he was called down to the Star and thereafter discontinued his advertising in the Catholic Register.

"We didn't want to lose the space we were getting in the Kansas City Star," Arnoff testified.

Weekly Newspaper Competition—Tom Crawford, a retired dress shop owner, testified that he had advertised in the Johnson County Herald, a weekly; in the Kansas City Kansan, then owned by Sen. Arthur Capper; and in the Independent, a weekly. He said he was also spending about $125 a week in the Kansas City Star, compared with $30 or $40 a week in the county weekly, $16 to $25 a month in the Kansan, and $18 to $20 a month in the Independent.

But he found that the position of his ads were jumped around in the Star. When he complained, the Star's advertising manager, Emil Sees, replied:

"Well, Tom, if you don't start behaving yourself it's going to get a lot worse."

"What do you mean?" Crawford asked.

"You've got to quit wasting your money on other publications."

Harry Weiss, a restaurant owner, also testified that when he advertised in the Kansan, which is across the Missouri River in Kansas, he was warned by a Star advertising man that he had to:

"Quit advertising because the Star has a bigger circulation and the boss doesn't like for you to advertise there. You'll have to quit."

Advertising Influences News—Pierce B. Adams, a former ad man for the Star, testified that he had a conversation with Jimmy Gleeson, a professional baseball player who ran a florist shop in Kansas City, regarding the fact that he was advertising in the Journal-Post as well as the Star.

"I saw it (the Journal-Post ad) myself and then Sees mentioned it to me," Adams testifies, referring to Emil Sees, the Star's advertising manager. "He told me to tell Gleeson to get out of the Post or he wouldn't get any cooperation from the sports page."

"You mean his name wouldn't appear on the sports page?" Adams was asked.

"Yes," was the reply.

The Star's ex-ad man told how Gleeson later opened a tavern and wanted to divide his advertising between the Star and the Journal-Post.

"I told Sees," Adams testified. "Sees told me to tell Gleeson that if I didn't get all that ad in the Star, if he (Gleeson) hit 100 home runs he still wouldn't get his name out of the box score. I told Gleeson that and told him to go down and see Mr. Sees."

"Did he go down?"

"Yes."

"What happened?"

"He ran all the ad in the Star."

Congressman Patman's Small Business Committee is convinced the great majority of newspaper publishers do not follow these tactics, but the committee wants to examine the entire situation carefully.

Pity The Democrats

By Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

The hassle over taxes neatly illustrates the hideous dilemma confronting the Democrats. The dilemma is so seemingly insoluble that it has the Democratic leaders of the House and Senate, who are about the shrewdest politicians in the United States, baffled, irritated, and divided.

The dilemma can be defined in a couple of questions: How are the Democrats to win back the White House when it is seemingly political poison even to criticize the well-liked President? And what issues are Democratic congressional candidates to run on, when the administration keeps snatching all the best issues out from under their noses?

There are two theoretical solutions to these conundrums. One is to use every means to present the Eisenhower administration as the friend of the rich, casting the Democratic party in the role of the defender of the "little guy." Meanwhile, the Democrats should be ready to stand up and slug it out with the President when need arises. Chief proponents of this strategy are Paul Butler, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, and his assistants. With modifications, the Butler view is shared by House Speaker Sam Rayburn and the other House leaders.

Second Solution

Solution number two is to avoid direct conflict with the President, concentrating instead on building up the Democratic party as unified and responsible and the Republican party as irresponsible and divided. As for defeating Eisenhower (everybody assumes he will run again) that is a nasty little problem for the Democratic candidate, whoever he may be.

Chief proponents of this view are Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson and most of the senior Democratic senators. This is not to say that there is any row brewing between Johnson (whose illness has complicated matters) and his fellow-Texan Rayburn. But there is a distinct and important difference of approach. There are good reasons for this difference.

For one thing, only a comparative handful of Democratic senators need to worry seriously about the next election. Moreover, the Senate leaders are by no means starry-eyed about Adlai Stevenson, most probable Democratic presidential candidate. This gives them a rather relaxed attitude toward 1956.

By contrast, Butler, and the national committee officials are Stevenson men, and they are quite aware that Stevenson can hardly hope to win if Eisenhower is considered above criticism. The House Democrats, what is more, feel the breath of 1956 already hot on their necks.

Need An Issue

In fact, many House Democrats are worried sick at the prospect of running in 1956, with the popular Eisenhower heading the Republican ticket and with no "gut issue"—no issue that really excites the voters—to use against the Republicans. State delegations have repeatedly passed the word to Rayburn: "We've got to have an issue."

This is one reason why Rayburn and Butler are natural allies in the Democratic war council. It is also one reason why Rayburn and company decided to spring the $20-for-everybody tax surprise.

The surprise was most unwelcome to the Senate leaders. As they saw it, instead of giving the Democrats the needed issue, the move unified the Republicans and hung the "irresponsible" label on the Democrats, all at one stroke. As this is written an effort is being made to patch up some sort of compromise which will save face for the House leaders without giving the administration a political bonanza.

This will be a neat trick if it can be done, but it will not begin to solve the Democratic problem. The Democrats thought they might have the essential "gut issue" in aid for education. But Sens. Ives of New York, and Smith, of New Jersey, needled the administration to jump in with an education bill of its own. Democrats angrily denounced the administration bill as a phony. But the bill has nevertheless robbed them of the clear-cut issue to use against the administration which they are seeking. And the same thing is true all the way down the line.

A Better City Gets A Boost

A short time ago The News recommended editorially that Cumberland be sparked up a bit by cleaning it up and making long-range plans for its future development.

This was suggested as a means not only to help Cumberland compete with other cities for new industry but also to make Cumberland a more attractive business and residential community.

The thought was that Cumberland has many, many good points but that too many of them are not being used to advantage. To put it another way, "We've got the pants, but they need pressing to keep them from bagging at the knees."

There have been two recent developments that are encouraging.

Most recent, of course, was the unanimous decision yesterday by the judges of the Fourth Judicial Circuit clearing the way for construction of Cumberland's much-needed six-lane expressway, which earlier had won approval of the Mayor and Council.

That project in itself we expect will do much to convince visitors as well as residents that Cumberland is a progressive, modern city looking to its future growth.

By its modern design, the expressway will enhance the appearance of the city and, we believe, encourage the development of modern business properties in areas adjacent to it in the business section. We believe that instead of creating any blighted areas, the expressway will play a large part in beautification of the city.

This project will cost an estimated $10,000,000 to $12,000,000, with the city compelled to bear but a small portion of the cost.

At the other end of the scale cost-wise is the plan undertaken by the city to clean up the streets. Cost here is included in the Street Department budget but it involves the cooperation of everyone if it is to be successful.

There is no excuse for swirling dirt and dust in either residential or business sections and to combat this Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz has laid out a systematic street-cleaning plan similar to that adopted by his predecessor. It would seem, too, that the street-cleaning plan could be coordinated with a fire hydrant flushing program in both the business and residential districts so that streets could be flushed and cleaned at the same time.

Instead of sweeping litter, which the street sweeper will not pick up, into the streets, a great deal can be accomplished by the little extra effort involved in cleaning up the litter and depositing it in a waste can.

Also involved in this street cleaning program is a little consideration by the motorist who must park on the street. The first night his street is to be cleaned he could park in his usual place, the second time he could park across the street. By following this alternating parking plan his street could be kept reasonably clean.

Cooperation and consideration are a small price to pay for clean streets.

As was pointed out editorially a few weeks ago, cleaning up and modernizing Cumberland is everybody's business. We will accomplish nothing by being satisfied with Cumberland as it is. We appear to be starting to move in the right direction to make our city a better city. Let's all give it a boost.

"Washington."

It would be a mistake for anyone to generalize about all those who write letters to newspapers just because the Petersen letter reveals insincerity and duplicity. But some of the people who are attacking the security system are exultantly talking about Harvey Matusow's lies as proving that all ex-Communists are liars. Such generalizations are ill-founded, and the case of the Petersen letter underlines how important it is to take every incident separately and weigh the factors in the light of the circumstances in each case.

Communist Trick

There are some letter writers who are guilty of writing lies to newspapers, even including their own names and addresses. Again and again, as some of these persons are addressed, the post office returns the letters with a notation that the individuals are unknown at the address given. It is a Communist trick to use phony names, and some day it may prove advisable to print names and addresses so that the neighbors can check as to whether anyone of that name lives at the address given. Many letters come from Communists, but there is no way for a newspaper to know who they are, though sometimes the argument or the language parallels exactly the articles in Communist newspapers.

The art of propaganda is well-known to the Communists in this country, and the device of letters to the editor has in the last few years become a powerful means of creating confusion and of attacking the security measures being taken by the national government.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

The Hoover Commission on Government Gimmicks is like an Antarctic expedition. It has been rescued still reporting progress.

Herbert led an appointive phalanx of seven Republicans and five Democrats into the chartered wastes of miscellaneous bureaucracy of swiveled authority.

Government of, by and at the people is a duplication of effort. Bureaucracy is a duplication of effort in triplicate.

Seven Republicans are not going to be out-voted just because they don't understand it. And five Democrats are not going to agree just because it's so.

Which meant that Herbert started with the nucleus of a roving filibuster. Like the Spartan youth who warmed the woodpecker in his hat.

Which may be why it glossed over certain problems with a curry comb. A preliminary task force had denounced political clearance of appointments to competitive jobs. The Hoover Commission never stopped to pick a posie off a flower bed at a whistle-stop.

It went by like a rabbit avoiding Danbury the hat town. And ignored senatorial corroboration of 23,000 first, second and third class postmasters.

Which omitted marginal gossip was an official footnote of the first Hoover Commission six years ago. If morals are geographical why can't the pay-off be political?

In addition to the 23,000 postmasters there are 32,000 rural letter carriers subject to quarantine by the national committee. Also U. S. marshals and employes-in-motion of the Customs Bureau. Don't forget Andy Jackson was the apple-Johnny who planted those seeds in the spoils orchard.

The commission did recommend clover-leafing Pentagon corridors. It overlooked the loyalty test for interurban dog catchers. It recommended a survey of wild life between midnight and dawn.

The commission took another rap at the rights of us veterans holding federal jobs. It did the same thing in 1949 and started more ruckus than a weasel in a hen coop.

Small Business Committee Watching Kansas City Newspaper Ad Tactics

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Congressman Wright Patman's Small Business Committee is taking a careful look at what happened to small business in Kansas City when the Kansas City Star cracked down on companies that advertised with other newspapers.

The congressmen are interested not only in what happened to the small weekly papers such as the Catholic Register and Johnson County Herald which had their advertising yanked out as a result of the Star's bulldozing, but also the small businessman in Kansas City was told he couldn't advertise in anything but a big high-priced daily.

The Star and its advertising manager, Emil Sees, have now been convicted criminally for violation of the Anti-trust Act, after Roy Roberts, publisher, was excused from facing trial on the last court day before the trial opened.

Dismissal of the indictment against Roberts followed the same pattern as the recent indictments against Texas Governor Allan Shivers' friend, E. H. Thornton, and Texas grain dealers just before they were to face trial on charges of selling inedible grain as grain fit for human consumption and for cheating the U. S. government out of $1,700,000 in subsidy payments.

Governor Shivers lunched with President Eisenhower shortly before the indictments were dismissed. Roberts, an early Eisenhower booster, had attended many of the President's stag parties and was a White House visitor shortly before his indictment was dismissed.

Meanwhile here are some of the facts developed at the Kansas City criminal trial of the Star which the House Small Business Committee is scrutinizing:

Radio Competition—Tom Evans, owner of KCMO broadcasting and of the Crown Drug Co., testified that when he applied to the FCC for higher radio power he was twice summoned to the Kansas City Star by its treasurer, Earl McCollum.

"He was quite upset," testified Evans, "that we were going ahead with facilities for increasing power. He told me he didn't think I had any business whatsoever in the radio business."

After that, Evans testified, he found that the Star carried less and less of his radio listings until he called on the chairman of the Federal Communications Commission in Washington who wrote a letter to the Star. Thereafter KCMO's radio listings were published.

Later, Evans' Crown Drug Co. inserted a double-page ad in the Kansas City Journal-Post, whereupon Evans said that he was summoned to the office of McCollum who warned: "I want you to discontinue it" — referring to the Journal-Post ad.

Evans refused. "Well, then," McCollum was quoted as saying, "you cut your advertising (in the Journal-Post) in half." McCollum even threatened to withdraw a double-spread in the Star given the Crown Drug each Friday unless Evans complied.

Eventually the Journal-Post was forced out of business.

Religious Newspaper Competition—Another witness, H. R. Arnoff, operator of Lullaby House, a group of children's stores, testified that when he inserted a small ad in the Catholic Register he was called down to the Star and thereafter discontinued his advertising in the Catholic Register.

"We didn't want to lose the space we were getting in the Kansas City Star," Arnoff testified.

Weekly Newspaper Competition—Tom Crawford, a retired dress shop owner, testified that he had advertised in the Johnson County Herald, a weekly; in the Kansas City Kansan, then owned by Sen. Arthur Capper; and in the Independent, a weekly. He said he was also spending about $125 a week in the Kansas City Star, compared with $30 or $40 a week in the county weekly, $16 to $25 a month in the Kansan, and $18 to $20 a month in the Independent.

But he found that the position of his ads were jumped around in the Star. When he complained, the Star's advertising manager, Emil Sees, replied:

"Well, Tom, if you don't start behaving yourself it's going to get a lot worse."

"What do you mean?" Crawford asked.

"You've got to quit wasting your money on other publications."

Harry Weiss, a restaurant owner, also testified that when he advertised in the Kansan, which is across the Missouri River in Kansas, he was warned by a Star advertising man that he had to:

"Quit advertising because the Star has a bigger circulation and the boss doesn't like for you to advertise there. You'll have to quit."

Advertising Influences News—Pierce B. Adams, a former ad man for the Star, testified that he had a conversation with Jimmy Gleeson, a professional baseball player who ran a florist shop in Kansas City, regarding the fact that he was advertising in the Journal-Post as well as the Star.

"I saw it (the Journal-Post ad) myself and then Sees mentioned it to me," Adams testifies, referring to Emil Sees, the Star's advertising manager. "He told me to tell Gleeson to get out of the Post or he wouldn't get any cooperation from the sports page."

"You mean his name wouldn't appear on the sports page?" Adams was asked.

"Yes," was the reply.

The Star's ex-ad man told how Gleeson later opened a tavern and wanted to divide his advertising between the Star and the Journal-Post.

"I told Sees," Adams testified. "Sees told me to tell Gleeson that if I didn't get all that ad in the Star, if he (Gleeson) hit 100 home runs he still wouldn't get his name out of the box score. I told Gleeson that and told him to go down and see Mr. Sees."

"Did he go down?"

"Yes."

"What happened?"

"He ran all the ad in the Star."

Congressman Patman's Small Business Committee is convinced the great majority of newspaper publishers do not follow these tactics, but the committee wants to examine the entire situation carefully.

Pity The Democrats

By Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

The hassle over taxes neatly illustrates the hideous dilemma confronting the Democrats. The dilemma is so seemingly insoluble that it has the Democratic leaders of the House and Senate, who are about the shrewdest politicians in the United States, baffled, irritated, and divided.

The dilemma can be defined in a couple of questions: How are the Democrats to win back the White House when it is seemingly political poison even to criticize the well-liked President? And what issues are Democratic congressional candidates to run on, when the administration keeps snatching all the best issues out from under their noses?

There are two theoretical solutions to these conundrums. One is to use every means to present the Eisenhower administration as the friend of the rich, casting the Democratic party in the role of the defender of the "little guy." Meanwhile, the Democrats should be ready to stand up and slug it out with the President when need arises. Chief proponents of this strategy are Paul Butler, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, and his assistants. With modifications, the Butler view is shared by House Speaker Sam Rayburn and the other House leaders.

Second Solution

Solution number two is to avoid direct conflict with the President, concentrating instead on building up the Democratic party as unified and responsible and the Republican party as irresponsible and divided. As for defeating Eisenhower (everybody assumes he will run again) that is a nasty little problem for the Democratic candidate, whoever he may be.

Chief proponents of this view are Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson and most of the senior Democratic senators. This is not to say that there is any row brewing between Johnson (whose illness has complicated matters) and his fellow-Texan Rayburn. But there is a distinct and important difference of approach. There are good reasons for this difference.

For one thing, only a comparative handful of Democratic senators need to worry seriously about the next election. Moreover, the Senate leaders are by no means starry-eyed about Adlai Stevenson, most probable Democratic presidential candidate. This gives them a rather relaxed attitude toward 1956.

By contrast, Butler, and the national committee officials are Stevenson men, and they are quite aware that Stevenson can hardly hope to win if Eisenhower is considered above criticism. The House Democrats, what is more, feel the breath of 1956 already hot on their necks.

Need An Issue

In fact, many House Democrats are worried sick at the prospect of running in 1956, with the popular Eisenhower heading the Republican ticket and with no "gut issue" —no issue that really excites the voters—to use against the Republicans. State delegations have repeatedly passed the word to Rayburn: "We've got to have an issue."

This is one reason why Rayburn and Butler are natural allies in the Democratic war council. It is also one reason why Rayburn and company decided to spring the $20-for-everybody tax surprise.

The surprise was most unwelcome to the Senate leaders. As they saw it, instead of giving the Democrats the needed issue, the move unified the Republicans and hung the "irresponsible" label on the Democrats, all at one stroke. As this is written an effort is being made to patch up some sort of compromise which will save face for the House leaders without giving the administration a political bonanza.

This will be a neat trick if it can be done, but it will not begin to solve the Democratic problem. The Democrats thought they might have the essential "gut issue" in aid for education. But Sens. Ives of New York, and Smith, of New Jersey, needled the administration to jump in with an education bill of its own. Democrats angrily denounced the administration bill as a phony. But the bill has nevertheless robbed them of the clear-cut issue to use against the administration which they are seeking. And the same thing is true all the way down the line.

Parents Have Important Role In Stuttering Children

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

"Stuttering starts in the parents' ears rather than in the child's mouth," is a statement credited to Wendell Johnson, a prominent speech authority. Every mother and father of a youngster who is beginning to talk ought to realize this situation and act accordingly.

Speech is a complicated faculty that cannot be acquired overnight. Parents must learn to be patient and to guide rather than criticize. Toddlers cannot talk correctly; precision comes through repetition, reading aloud, and trial and error.

If the parents are perfectionists and show their dissatisfaction with the tot's progress, a block may occur along the nervous pathways that coordinate the impulses required by the speech mechanism. These pathways must be well developed to encourage a fluid word production.

Another source of trouble stems from parents who do not understand normal speech development. Young children are inclined to repeat words and this practice should not be mistaken for stuttering. Criticism at this time may encourage the defect, however.

On the positive side, the boy or girl is more likely to learn precise talk if conversation is fun rather than a chore. The child should be given enough rope to wander all over the place. He need not be corrected every time he mispronounces or misuses a word. It is better to foster self-confidence, even at the expense of making Sonny a cocky boy.

Stuttering is only one of many disorders of speech. Some persons mispronounce words because of the same psychological factors that lead to stuttering. This happens to youngsters who have been made so self-conscious or embarrassed by criticism they are afraid to open their mouth. As a result, they hesitate or speak slowly because the faculty is no longer automatic.

The majority of stutterers are under considerable tension. Stress may be so marked, other muscular systems receive the overflow, which results in jerky movements of hands, arms, and shoulders. Handwriting, reading, and spelling also may suffer from the strain.

Disturbances in speech are real handicaps and require as much rehabilitation as do physical defects. Some of the money collected by the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults, in their Easter Seal campaign, is devoted to the complex and expensive process of rehabilitating victims of stuttering and allied speech problems.

TOMORROW: The uvula may become inflamed.

ANTIBIOTICS AND GROWTH

M. L. writes: I have heard that antibiotics, fed to man or beast, will increase weight. Do you know of this work?

REPLY

Yes. In 1950, we wrote on the effect of aureomycin on the growth of animals. More recently, a report appeared on the results of administering these products to a group of 330 young navy men. Those who received aureomycin gained an average of 4.8 pounds. With penicillin, the average gain was 4.1 pounds. The control sailors who received placebos showed an average increase of 2.7 pounds.

GLANDS AND COLD

T. Z. writes: When the least breeze or wind strikes me, the glands in my neck get sore and stay that way for a few days. What causes this condition?

REPLY

Many persons suffer from stiff neck after exposure to wind, but as a rule, it is the muscles and fibrous tissue in the neck that are involved rather than the glands.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

Nobody ever expected that the Nuthall's gangling, ambitionless young son would ever amount to a darn, but on the day he was 19, he staggered the neighborhood — his parents most of all—by getting the daughter of the richest man in town to say she'd be his. The wedding actually took place, too, causing skeptics to lose a couple of injudicious bets. The lad slipped a ring on his betrothed's finger, mumbling, "With all my worldly goods I thee endow."

"Hah!" chortled Mrs. Nuthall's best friend (absolutely green with envy), "there goes young Nuthall's bicycle!"

The broadcasting company had thrown a big party for a Californ...a star passing through on his way to London. The next day, one of the guests, still shaky on his feet, asked an associate, "What do you take for a headache?"

You're Telling Me!

By William Ritt

A California scientist predicts trees may be grown naturally stained in decorator colors. Fine, now if someone will kindly tell us what kind of seed to plant to raise a set of cream-colored Venetian blinds.

A survey on obesity reveals that the average woman is fatter than the average man. Now, how did they find that out? Not many women will admit they're average and far fewer will admit they're fat.

Tom Gola Makes All-America Team Third Straight Year

LaSalle Star Leads Voting, Freeman 2nd

Dick Ricketts, Floyd, Russell Land Berths; Green On Second Team

By TED MEIER

NEW YORK, March 2 (AP)—Tom Gola of LaSalle's defending NCAA champions, Robin Freeman of Ohio State, Bill Russell of San Francisco, Dick Ricketts of Duquesne and Darrell Floyd of Furman were named today to the 1955 Associated Press All-America basketball team.

Gola, regarded as the best present day collegiate player, dominated the voting by 323 sportswriters and broadcasters. On the basis of five points for a first team vote and two points for a second team vote, Gola polled 1,488 points. He received 294 first and nine seconds.

Freeman, who injured his ankle and did not play the last month, nevertheless was a strong second with 955 points. Russell followed with 748. Ricketts with 725 and Floyd with 585.

Green On Second Team

Don Schlundt of Indiana, who made the 1954 first team, missed out this year. He polled 577 points to top the second team. Rounding out the second quintet were Dick Hemric of Wake Forest, Si Green of Duquesne, Dick Garmaker of Minnesota and Ron Shavlik of North Carolina State.

Tom Heinsohn of Holy Cross, Dick (Buzz) Wilkinson of Virginia, Bob Burrow of Kentucky, Dick Boushka of St. Louis and Maurice Stokes of St. Francis (Pa.) were picked as a third team.

The 15 names for the first three teams each will receive a certificate from The Associated Press.

Hundley Gets Mention

Thirty additional players received honorable mention. The first 10 on this list were Ed Conlin of Fordham, Bob McKeen of California, Bob Patterson of Tulsa, John Horan of Dayton, Walter (Corky) Devlin of George Washington, Rod Hundley of West Virginia, Jack Stephens of Notre Dame, Frank Ehmann of Northwestern, Dick O'Neal of Texas Christian and Art Bunte of Utah.

The son of a Philadelphia policeman, the 6-7 Gola is the first to be chosen All-America for three consecutive years. The sportswriters have been hard put to find new adjectives to describe his brilliant all-around play. Usually he gets as many rebounds as he does points and his opponents will vouch that he gets too many of those. He is just as good defensively, too.

Freeman, a frail 155-pounder, was spectacular for Ohio State until his ankle mishap. Standing only 5-11, he nevertheless ran rings around his taller opponents and was one of the top scorers in the Big Ten Conference. Like Gola, he is a great competitor and has the deft touch of a natural shot.

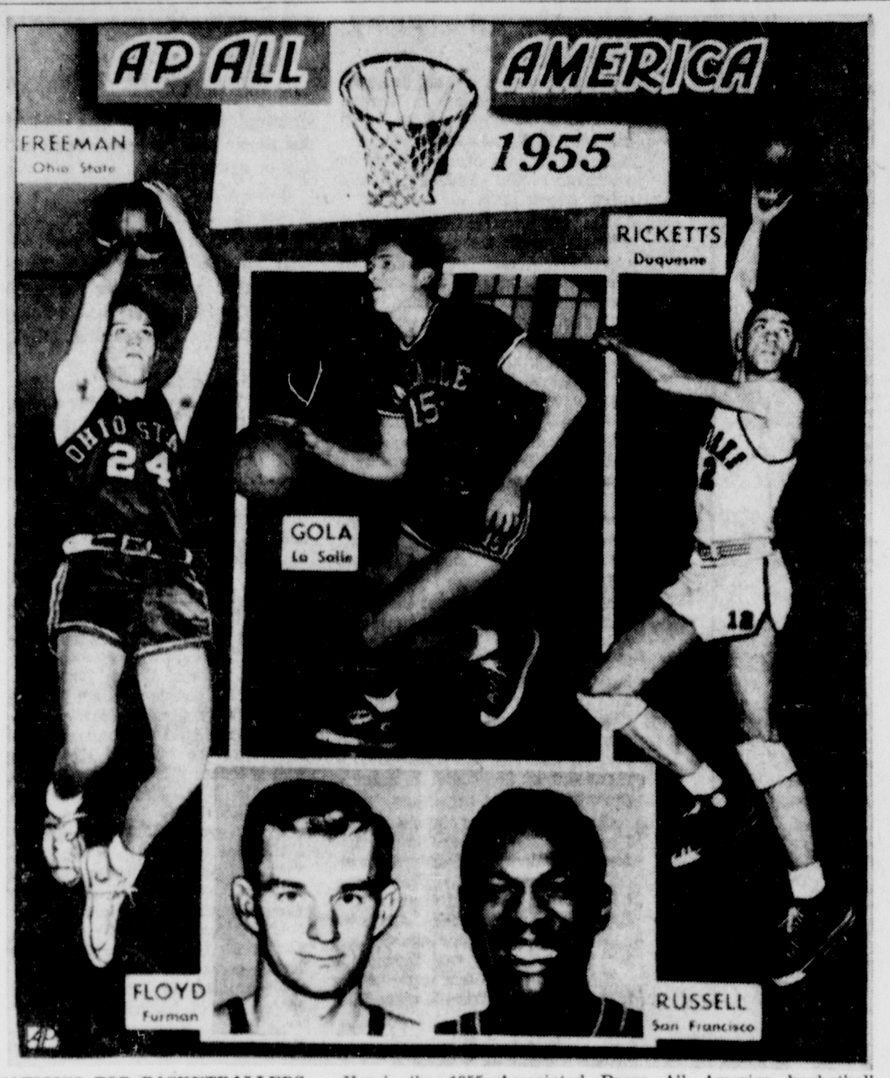

Russell Is Surprise

Russell, a 6-10 Negro, is perhaps the surprise of the season. Virtually unknown before the season started, Bill the Stuffer, as he is called, has led San Francisco to the No. 1 ranking in the weekly Associated Press poll. His acrobatic feats, both on offense and defense, have made the Dons a top drawing card. He plays with the drive and energy of a little man, unusual for most of the "skyscrapers" in the game.

Ricketts, other than Gola the only senior on the team, is the highest scoring player in Duquesne's history and one of the best, defensively, too. A 6-7 Negro, he scores on all manner of shots, hooks, one-handers' layups and sets.

Floyd Follows Selvy

Floyd at 6-1 the second smallest player on the team, came into his own this year at Furman. He was overshadowed last season by his teammate, Frank Selvy, who virtually rewrote the record book with his scoring feats.

NATION'S TOP BASKETBALLERS — Here's the 1955 Associated Press All-America basketball team. The players are: Tom Gola, LaSalle; Darrell Floyd, Furman; Robin Freeman, Ohio State; Dick Ricketts, Duquesne, and Bill Russell of San Francisco. (See Story)

Chicago Offers Five Players To Senators For Eddie Yost

Third Sacker Holds Out; Curt Simmons Has Arm Trouble

By WILL GRIMSLEY
The Associated Press

A flat statement by Casey Stengel that the New York Yankees lineup is set except for one position and hint of a Chicago White Sox-Washington trade highlighted activities today in the major league training camps.

The gravel-voiced Stengel gave the boys a mild jolt when he announced at St. Petersburg that seven places on his club are set. The exception, he said, is shortstop where Phil Rizzuto has to beat out Jerry Coleman and Billy Hunter for the job.

"The one who looks best gets the post," added the Yankee manager, in effect tolling the end of his famous two-platoon system.

Chisox Want Yost

The trade winds blew at Orlando, Fla., where it was reported the White Sox had offered Washington five players for the Senators' holdout third baseman, Eddie Yost.

The report was that Marty Marion, White Sox manager, was willing to give up shortstop Jim Brideweser, third baseman Rocky Kirene, catcher Clint Courtney, pitcher Bob Chakales and first baseman Jim Marshall for the veteran infielder. Marion was quoted as saying he'd sweeten the pot some more if the Senators talk business.

Cal Griffith, the Washington vice president, and Manager Chuck Dressen were said to be cool to the proposition.

Stengel, in assigning his Yanks to their proper slots, said Bill Skowron would be at first, Gil McDougald at second, Andy Carey at third, Irv Noren, Mickey Mantle and Hank Bauer in the outfield.

"Yogi Berra will catch every day," Stengel added. He said hitting prowess may decide the shortstop regular.

Kiner Should Hit 40

At Tucson, Ariz., Manager Al Lopez put the pressure on outfielder Ralph Kiner quickly by saying the erstwhile National Leaguer should hit at least 40 home runs this year.

At Vero Beach, Fla., Don Newcombe pitched to Brooklyn batters for 15 minutes and reported his right shoulder didn't hurt a bit.

Milwaukee Gets Bout

ST. PAUL, Minn., March 2 (AP)—Del Flanagan of St. Paul will meet former NBA welterweight titlist Johnny Bratton in a 10-rounder here March 17, Promoter Jack Raleigh announced today.

Flanagan, seventh-ranked welter, dropped a decision to Bratton in 1952 after being floored for one of the few times in his career.

Bowman Surprises, Develops Screwball

FT. MYERS, Fla., March 2 (AP)—Southpaw pitcher Roger Bowman, up from Hollywood for another try with the Pittsburgh Pirates, surprised General Manager Branch Rickey today with a screwball.

Bowman, who had a 22-15 with the Pacific Coast League team last season, told Rickey he was "just fooling around" with the pitch. He said he never had enough confidence in it to use it in a game. Said Rickey:

"That's a dandy pitch. I want you to use it in camp games and exhibitions. That fadeaway or screwball, as they call it, can make you a winner in the majors."

Soviet Tops U. S. In Hockey Match

Unbeaten Canadians Play Russia Sunday

KREFELD, Germany, March 2 (AP)—Months of training and conditioning paid its second big dividend here tonight when Russia won an easy 3-0 victory over the United States in the world ice hockey championship.

From the first puck icing which the Russians took, it was a Soviet victory in the making all the way. Earlier in the tournament Russia defeated Sweden 2-1 for its first major victory and after tonight the defending champions stand unbeaten, untied and ready to accept the challenge of the mighty Canadians Sunday night. Canada, also unbeaten, crushed Switzerland, 11-1.

The game between the teams from the two world powers tonight was cleanly played, although there was one near fight.

Eugeny Babitch suffered a severe injury to his right forearm when John Crocott from Melrose, Mass., swung an overhead stick and unintentionally hit the Russian's raised arm about ten minutes before the game ended.

One minute before the finish, Wendy Anderson of St. Paul took off his gloves and prepared to fight an unidentified Russian who he thought had tripped him.

Frostburg Legion, Clingerman's Cop Playoff Openers

Clingerman's and the Frostburg American Legion took the lead in the playoffs for the Allegany County Women's Shuffleboard League championship by winning the opening matches last night.

Clingerman's took a 37-point lead in their nine-game series with the Woodmen of the World by defeating the latter, 86-49. Lorraine Judy headed the winners with 25 points and O. Frantz led W.O.W. with 14. The second match of this series is set for the W.O.W. Home Friday night.

Farrady Post gained a 40-point advantage by whipping the Hi Dee Club, 103-63. Bertha Klink's 24 points paced Frostburg while Ellen Burke scored 21 for Hi Dee.

Action in this series resumes tonight at 9:30 at the Hi Dee Club.

ORMOND BEACH, Fla., March 2 (AP)—A truant officer made a raid on the Women's South Atlantic Golf Tournament today and hauled four hookey-playing caddies off to classrooms.

Club professional Babe Moore said the school issues permits to some students, allowing them to caddy during the tournament. The others apparently just took off on their own.

Julio Mederos Stops LaStarza In Fifth Round

Looping Right To Jaw Ends Bout In Florida

MIAMI, Fla., March 2 (AP)—Julio Mederos, a powerful, thick-shouldered heavyweight from Havana, knocked out heavily-favored Roland LaStarza of New York tonight in the fifth round of a scheduled 10-round outdoor battle in Miami stadium.

LaStarza, once a top-ranking title contender who twice fought Rocky Marciano, took a savage beating before a looping rignt to the jaw from Mederos knocked him unconscious at 1:37 of the fifth. He took the 10 count flat on his back.

Third Straight Defeat

It was the third straight defeat for the Bronx battler since Marciano stopped him in the 11th round of a heavyweight championship fight in New York in 1953. In two other fights since then, he was outpointed by Don Cockell and Charley Norkus.

Mederos dropped LaStarza, a 4-1 favorite, to one knee with a right to the jaw as the bell sounded ending the first round.

Early in the third, another smashing right by Mederos dumped LaStarza on the seat of his pants. He got up quickly but after he had taken the mandatory eight count, Mederos went after him furiously.

Mederos weighed 195½, LaStarza 189.

Casillo Stopped

In a 10-round semifinal on tonight's card, Isaac Logart, flashy Negro welterweight from Havana, stopped Rocky Casillo of Chicago on a sixth-round technical knockout.

Tom Gola Makes All-America Team Third Straight Year

LaSalle Star Leads Voting, Freeman 2nd

Dick Ricketts, Floyd, Russell Land Berths; Green On Second Team

By TED MEIER

NEW YORK, March 2 (AP)—Tom Gola of LaSalle's defending NCAA champions, Robin Freeman of Ohio State, Bill Russell of San Francisco, Dick Ricketts of Duquesne and Darrell Floyd of Furman were named today to the 1955 Associated Press All-America basketball team.

Gola, regarded as the best present day collegiate player, dominated the voting by 323 sportswriters and broadcasters. On the basis of five points for a first team vote and two points for a second team vote, Gola polled 1,488 points. He received 294 first and nine seconds.

Freeman, who injured his ankle and did not play the last month, nevertheless was a strong second with 955 points. Russell followed with 748, Ricketts with 725 and Floyd with 585.

Green On Second Team

Don Schlundt of Indiana, who made the 1954 first team, missed out this year. He polled 577 points to top the second team. Rounding out the second quintet were Dick Hemric of Wake Forest, Si Green of Duquesne, Dick Garmaker of Minnesota and Ron Shavlik of North Carolina State.

Tom Heinsohn of Holy Cross, Dick (Buzz) Wilkinson of Virginia, Bob Burrow of Kentucky, Dick Boushka of St. Louis and Maurice Stokes of St. Francis (Pa.) were picked as a third team.

The 15 names for the first three teams each will receive a certificate from The Associated Press.

Hundley Gets Mention

Thirty additional players received honorable mention. The first 10 on this list were Ed Conlin of Fordham, Bob McKeen of California, Bob Patterson of Tulsa, John Horan of Dayton, Walter (Corky) Devlin of George Washington, Rod Hundley of West Virginia, Jack Stephens of Notre Dame, Frank Ehmann of Northwestern, Dick O'Neal of Texas Christian and Art Bunte of Utah.

The son of a Philadelphia policeman, the 6-7 Gola is the first to be chosen All-America for three consecutive years. The sportswriters have been hard put to find new adjectives to describe his brilliant all-around play. Usually he gets as many rebounds as he does points and his opponents will vouch that he gets too many of those. He is just as good defensively, too.

Freeman, a frail 155-pounder, was spectacular for Ohio State until his ankle mishap. Standing only 5-11, he nevertheless ran rings around his taller opponents and was one of the top scorers in the Big Ten Conference. Like Gola, he is a great competitor and has the deft touch of a natural shot.

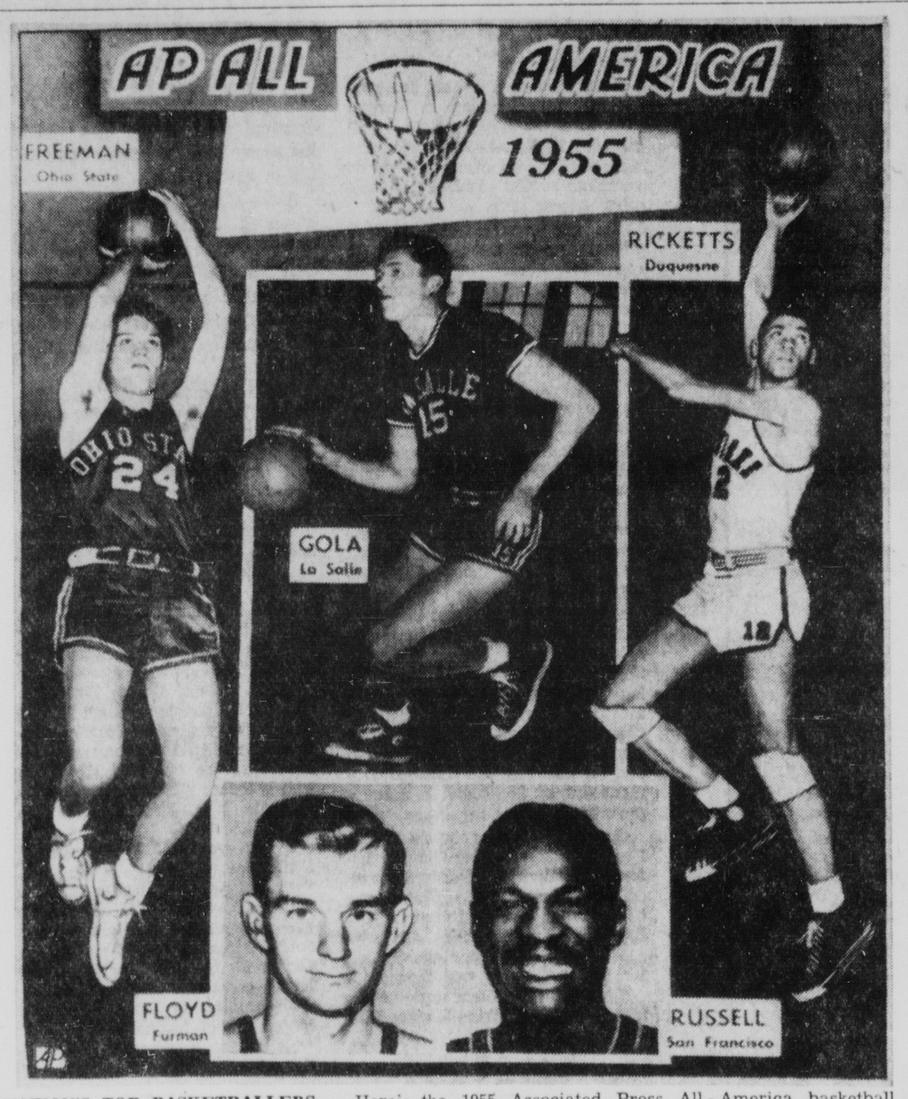

Russell Is Surprise

Russell, a 6-10 Negro, is perhaps the surprise of the season. Virtually unknown before the season started, Bill the Stuffer, as he is called, has led San Francisco to the No. 1 ranking in the weekly Associated Press poll. His acrobatic feats, both on offense and defense, have made the Dons a top drawing card. He plays with the drive and energy of a little man, unusual for most of the "skyscrapers" in the game.

Ricketts, other than Gola the only senior on the team, is the highest scoring player in Duquesne's history and one of the best, defensively, too. A 6-7 Negro, he scores on all manner of shots, hooks, one-handers' layups and sets.

Floyd Follows Selvy

Floyd at 6-1 the second smallest player on the team, came into his own this year at Furman. He was overshadowed last season by his teammate, Frank Selvy, who virtually rewrote the record book with his scoring feats.

NATION'S TOP BASKETBALLERS — Here's the 1955 Associated Press All-America basketball team. The players are: Tom Gola, LaSalle; Darrell Floyd, Furman; Robin Freeman, Ohio State; Dick Ricketts, Duquesne, and Bill Russell of San Francisco. (See Story)

Chicago Offers Five Players To Senators For Eddie Yost

Third Sacker Holds Out; Curt Simmons Has Arm Trouble

By WILL GRIMSLEY
The Associated Press

A flat statement by Casey Stengel that the New York Yankees lineup is set except for one position and hint of a Chicago White Sox-Washington trade highlighted activities today in the major league training camps.

The gravel-voiced Stengel gave the boys a mild jolt when he announced at St. Petersburg that seven places on his club are set. The exception, he said, is shortstop where Phil Rizzuto has to beat out Jerry Coleman and Billy Hunter for the job.

"The one who looks best gets the post," added the Yankee manager, in effect tolling the end of his famous two-platoon system.

Chisox Want Yost

The trade winds blew at Orlando, Fla., where it was reported the White Sox had offered Washington five players for the Senators' holdout third baseman, Eddie Yost.

The report was that Marty Marion, White Sox manager, was willing to give up shortstop Jim Brideweser, third baseman Rocky Kirene, catcher Clint Courtney, pitcher Bob Chakales and first baseman Jim Marshall for the veteran infielder. Marion was quoted as saying he'd sweeten the pot some more if the Senators talk business.

Cal Griffith, the Washington vice president, and Manager Chuck Dressen were said to be cool to the proposition.

Stengel, in assigning his Yanks to their proper slots, said Bill Skowron would be at first, Gil McDougald at second, Andy Carey at third, Irv Noren, Mickey Mantle and Hank Bauer in the outfield.

"Yogi Berra will catch every day," Stengel added. He said hitting prowess may decide the shortstop regular.

Kiner Should Hit 40

At Tucson, Ariz., Manager Al Lopez put the pressure on outfielder Ralph Kiner quickly by saying the erstwhile National Leaguer should hit at least 40 home runs this year.

At Vero Beach, Fla., Don Newcombe pitched to Brooklyn batters for 15 minutes and reported his right shoulder didn't hurt a bit.

Milwaukee Gets Bout

Bowman Surprises, Develops Screwball

FT. MYERS, Fla., March 2 (AP)—Southpaw pitcher Roger Bowman, up from Hollywood for another try with the Pittsburgh Pirates, surprised General Manager Branch Rickey today with a screwball.

Bowman, who had a 22-15 with the Pacific Coast League team last season, told Rickey he was "just fooling around" with the pitch. He said he never had enough confidence in it to use it in a game. Said Rickey:

"That's a dandy pitch. I want you to use it in camp games and exhibitions. That fadeaway or screwball, as they call it, can make you a winner in the majors."

Senate OKs Fishing Measure For Bowmen

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 2 (AP)—Passed by the Senate 30-0 and sent to the governor was a measure permitting, under regulations to be set up by the conservation director, the snaring and bow and arrow hunting of non-game fish, except during the months of May and June when bass are spawning.

Soviet Tops U. S. In Hockey Match

Unbeaten Canadians Play Russia Sunday

KREFELD, Germany, March 2 (AP)—Months of training and conditioning paid its second big dividend here tonight when Russia won an easy 3-0 victory over the United States in the world ice hockey championship.

From the first puck icing which the Russians took, it was a Soviet victory in the making all the way. Earlier in the tournament Russia defeated Sweden 2-1 for its first major victory and after tonight the defending champions stand unbeaten, untied and ready to accept the challenge of the mighty Canadians Sunday night. Canada, also unbeaten, crushed Switzerland, 11-1.

The game between the teams from the two world powers tonight was cleanly played, although there was one near fight.

Eugeny Babitch suffered a severe injury to his right forearm when John Crocott from Melrose, Mass., swung an overhead stick and unintentionally hit the Russian's raised arm about ten minutes before the game ended.

One minute before the finish, Wendy Anderson of St. Paul took off his gloves and prepared to fight an unidentified Russian who he thought had tripped him.

Frostburg Legion, Clingerman's Cop Playoff Openers

Clingerman's and the Frostburg American Legion took the lead in the playoffs for the Allegany County Women's Shuffleboard League championship by winning the opening matches last night.

Clingerman's took a 37-point lead in their nine-game series with the Woodmen of the World by defeating the latter, 86-49. Lorraine Judy headed the winners with 25 points and O. Frantz led W.O.W. with 14. The second match of this series is set for the W.O.W. Home Friday night.

Farrady Post gained a 40-point advantage by whipping the Hi Dee Club, 103-63. Bertha Klink's 24 points paced Frostburg while Ellen Burke scored 21 for Hi Dee.

Action in this series resumes tonight at 9:30 at the Hi Dee Club.

Kansas City A's Fined By Frick For Pre-March Training

Club Assessed $250, Players Penalized $275

Frick Says Players Insisted On Rule, He'll Enforce It

By JOE REICHLER

BELLEAIR, Fla., March 2 (AP)—Commissioner Ford Frick, continuing to crack down on spring training deadline violators, fined the Kansas City Athletics $250 and six team members a total of $275 today for beating the March 1 starting date.

Ford Frick

Five regulars were fined $50 each. They were pitchers Arnie Portocarrero, Charlie Bishop; infielders Forest Jacobs, Louis Limmer and catcher Wilmer Schantz.

The rookie who received a $25 fine was pitcher Bill Oster. A $50 fine also was assessed against the Athletics club house man, "Yitz" Crompton.

Fined Braves Monday

On Monday Frick fined the Milwaukee Braves $500 and 14 players a total of $625 also for starting training before the scheduled date.

Frick said his investigations were "far from finished" but he did not indicate what other clubs might be involved. It's reported the Detroit Tigers and Brooklyn Dodgers are likely to be hit with similar penalties. The Athletics are training at West Palm Beach, Fla.

The commissioner explained the reason why the Kansas City management was fined only half the amount of the Milwaukee Braves in his earlier crackdown.

"Kansas City officials were not present at the workouts, they knew of no workouts and authorized no workouts," Frick said.

"Furthermore, the Kansas City management had given strict instructions to the clubhouse attendant to see that no such preliminary workouts took place. These orders were disregarded."

Players Asked For It

Frick said when he fined Milwaukee that he personally opposed the starting date restriction but that the players had insisted on it—"and I'll continue to enforce the rules."

Paul Richards Feels Orioles Are Contender

Baltimore Manager Will Shoot For Moon

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., March 2 (INS) — Paul Richards modestly admitted today that his trades of the past winter make his Baltimore Orioles pennant contenders in the American League this season.

"We're going to win. If Cleveland and New York and Chicago are better, then they'll have to prove it," the tall, handsome manager and general manager declared.

Baseball men agree that the Orioles, who finished seventh last season because Philadelphia was in the league, don't figure for a first division birth. But Richards disagrees and wants to shoot for the moon.

"We can win it all," he said emphatically.

Richards' optimism, at the outset of his vast rebuilding program for the Birds, is based on the talent, old and new, acquired during the off-season.

Don Gets Relief Job

The manager launched his spring campaign by naming Don Johnson, righthander acquired from Chicago, as his number one bullpen man.

"Johnson definitely is my top relief pitcher as of the moment. He saved at least 13 games for the White Sox last season."

The righthander figured in the deal in which the Orioles got Catcher Matt Batts, infielder Fred Marsh and pitcher Don Ferrarese for Catcher Clint Courtney, pitcher Bob Chakales and infielder Jim Brideweser.

Ferrarese, who won 18 games at Oakland last season under Chuck Dressen, is regarded as a top rookie prospect.

Richards is also convinced that the 18-man deal with the Yankees was to the advantage of his club.

Many Mound Hopefuls

Richards said his plans are based "on what the players show me."

The former catcher wants to make a careful study of his pitching.

Included among the many mound hopefuls in camp are Duane Pillette, Joe Coleman, Lou Kretlow, Bob Kuzava and Ray Moore, righthander acquired from Brooklyn's St. Paul farm.

Veteran Dodger third baseman Billy Cox — called the best glove man in baseball — is trying to win the hot corner job and the Orioles still have the likes of Vern Stephens, Bobby Young (second base), Eddie Waitkus (first base) and utility man Johnny Pesky.

Woodling, Cal Abrams, Gil Coan, Charley Maxwell, Chuck Diering and Hoot Evers, are among those trying to win outfield positions.

Behind the plate there's Batts, Smith and Les Moss.

Richards knows he has a job ahead of him, but the cunning manipulator is sure he can make a winner out of his "new face" Orioles.

Paw Paw Applemen Defeat Frostburg

With Bob Wolford showing the way with 15 field goals and 34 points, the Paw Paw Applemen added the Frostburg Legion to their long list of victims by whipping the visitors last night at Paw Paw by the score of 87-73.

Carter dumped in 29 points, including 14 field goals for Frostburg.

Paw Paw held a 36-29 lead at halftime. Lineups:

SS. Peter & Paul, St. Peter's Playoff Set For Saturday

The playoff contest between SS. Peter and Paul and St. Peter's of Westernport for the second half championship of the Catholic Youth Basketball League will be staged Saturday night at 7 o'clock on the Carver High School court, Frederick street, it was announced last night by Larry Geiger.

John Raupach and Floyd "Pete" Elliott will officiate.

The playoff was necessitated when the teams ended the second half race tied at 8-2.

SS. Peter and Paul, winners of both halves of the 1953-54 split season, captured first half honors during the current campaign and could cop the championship if victorious Saturday night. A victory for St. Peter's would give the Westernport team the second half title, requiring another playoff game with SS. Peter and Paul for the league championship.

Horse Racing Sets All-Time Attendance Mark Of 50 Million

NEW YORK, March 2 (AP)—Horse racing set an all-time attendance record, topping the 50 million mark for the first time, in 1954 according to a survey just completed by the publishers of the Morning Telegraph and Daily Racing Form.

With a total attendance of 50,408,584 at the running and harness races, the horses outdrew professional baseball, the No. 2 sport in the survey by nearly 15 million. The totals were 31,355,798 attendance for 3,280 days of thoroughbred racing in 25 states and 19,052,786 for harness racing.

Major league baseball drew 15,935,881 fans and the minor leagues 19,663,776. No figures were available for college and scholastic basketball, generally considered among the top spectator sports.

The survey showed college and pro football third among the spectator sports with a total attendance of 15,940,238 and bowling the No. 1 participant sport with approximately 17,000,000 active bowlers.

Keyser Meets Martinsburg In Sectional Title Battle

Clash At Shepherd Tonight; Elkins Plays In Parsons

West Virginia Class "A" sectional championships will be decided tonight in games scheduled for Shepherdstown and Parsons.

Coach John Shelton's Keyser High School cagers are slated to battle the Bulldogs of Martinsburg High School on the Shepherd College court in a game that will determine the winner of Section 11.

At Parsons High School, the Elkins High School Tigers will face the Parsons High School Panthers in a game that will settle the championship of Section 13.

Keyser, winner of 16 out of 22 games, forged to the finals on Tuesday night by eliminating Romney High School's Pioneers at Keyser to the tune of 57-50. Martinsburg, victorious in 13 out of 20 contests, drew a bye, and advanced to the finals. Keyser holds two wins over Coach George Whitacre's Bulldogs, having won the opener in Martinsburg, 50-49, and copped the return tilt in Keyser, 69-50.

Victor Goes To Fairmont

Tonight's winner at Shepherd College qualifies for the Region 3 tournament at Fairmont State College next weekend.

Parsons High School, coached by C. Robert Sullivan, enters the sectional championship contest with an 18-3 record against an Elkins quint that has posted 16 wins against five defeats. Two of the three defeats on Parsons record came at the hands of Elkins High School, 44-42 and 82-58. University High of Morgantown, dealt out the other setback, 83-71, after dropping the opener in Parsons, 62-59.

Last year Parsons whipped Elkins twice during the regular season 56-43 and 61-43 but in the battle for the sectional crown the Tigers triumphed 55-35.

Winner of tonight's contest at Parsons will compete in the Region 4 tournament at West Virginia Wesleyan College, Buchhannon, next week.

"B" Regionals On Friday

The two West Virginia Class "B" regional tournaments involving teams of nearby West Virginia are scheduled to get under way Friday night at Potomac State College, Keyser, and Parsons High School.

The Region 4 semi-finals find Petersburg's Vikings meeting the Shepherdstown High Cardinals at 7:30 while Ridgeley High's Blackhawks will tangle with Berkeley Springs Indians at 8:45 on the Potomac State court. The championship tilt is set for Saturday at 8 p. m.

Parsons will be the scene of the Region 4 games, Friday, with Tygarts Valley of Mill Creek and Aurora in the opener at 7:30 and Thomas High and Arthurdale in the nightcap at 8:30. Finals are slated for Saturday at 7:30.

The Keyser winner plays the Parsons winner next week in one of the state's four area tournaments, the sites of which are yet to be determined.

Kansas City A's Fined By Frick For Pre-March Training

Club Assessed $250, Players Penalized $275

Frick Says Players Insisted On Rule, He'll Enforce It

By JOE REICHLER

BELLEAIR, Fla., March 2 (AP)—Commissioner Ford Frick, continuing to crack down on spring training deadline violators, fined the Kansas City Athletics $250 and six team members a total of $275 today for beating the March 1 starting date.

Ford Frick

Five regulars were fined $50 each. They were pitchers Arnie Portocarrero, Charlie Bishop; infielders Forest Jacobs, Louis Limmer and catcher Wilmer Schantz.

The rookie who received a $25 fine was pitcher Bill Oster. A $50 fine also was assessed against the Athletics club house man, "Yitz" Crompton.

Fined Braves Monday

On Monday Frick fined the Milwaukee Braves $500 and 14 players a total of $625 also for starting training before the scheduled date.

Frick said his investigations were "far from finished" but he did not indicate what other clubs might be involved. It's reported the Detroit Tigers and Brooklyn Dodgers are likely to be hit with similar penalties. The Athletics are training at West Palm Beach, Fla.

The commissioner explained the reason why the Kansas City management was fined only half the amount of the Milwaukee Braves in his earlier crackdown.

"Kansas City officials were not present at the workouts, they knew of no workouts and authorized no workouts," Frick said.

"Furthermore, the Kansas City management had given strict instructions to the clubhouse attendant to see that no such preliminary workouts took place. These orders were disregarded."

Players Asked For It

Frick said when he fined Milwaukee that he personally opposed the starting date restriction but that the players had insisted on it—"and I'll continue to enforce the rules."

Baker And Johnson To Meet March 25

NEW YORK, March 2 (AP) — Bob Baker, 214-pound heavyweight contender from Pittsburgh, and Harold Johnson, second ranking light heavyweight challenger from Philadelphia, today were matched for a 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden March 25.

Paul Richards Feels Orioles Are Contender

Baltimore Manager Will Shoot For Moon

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., March 2 (INS) — Paul Richards modestly admitted today that his trades of the past winter make his Baltimore Orioles pennant contenders in the American League this season.

"We're going to win. If Cleveland and New York and Chicago are better, then they'll have to prove it," the tall, handsome manager and general manager declared.

Baseball men agree that the Orioles, who finished seventh last season because Philadelphia was in the league, don't figure for a first division birth. But Richards disagrees and wants to shoot for the moon.

"We can win it all," he said emphatically.

Richards' optimism, at the outset of his vast rebuilding program for the Birds, is based on the talent, old and new, acquired during the off-season.

Don Gets Relief Job

The manager launched his spring campaign by naming Don Johnson, righthander acquired from Chicago, as his number one bullpen man.

"Johnson definitely is my top relief pitcher as of the moment. He saved at least 13 games for the White Sox last season."

The righthander figured in the deal in which the Orioles got Catcher Matt Batts, infielder Fred Marsh and pitcher Don Ferrarese for Catcher Clint Courtney, pitcher Bob Chakales and infielder Jim Brideweser.

Ferrarese, who won 18 games at Oakland last season under Chuck Dressen, is regarded as a top rookie prospect.

Richards is also convinced that the 18-man deal with the Yankees was to the advantage of his club.

Many Mound Hopefuls

Richards said his plans are based "on what the players show me."

The former catcher wants to make a careful study of his pitching.

Included among the many mound hopefuls in camp are Duane Pillette, Joe Coleman, Lou Kretlow, Bob Kuzava and Ray Moore, righthander acquired from Brooklyn's St. Paul farm.

Veteran Dodger third baseman Billy Cox — called the best glove man in baseball — is trying to win the hot corner job and the Orioles still have the likes of Vern Stephens, Bobby Young (second base), Eddie Waitkus (first base) and utility man Johnny Pesky.

Woodling, Cal Abrams, Gil Coan, Charley Maxwell, Chuck Diering and Hoot Evers, are among those trying to win outfield positions.

Behind the plate there's Batts, Smith and Les Moss.

Richards knows he has a job ahead of him, but the cunning manipulator is sure he can make a winner out of his "new face" Orioles.

Paw Paw Applemen Defeat Frostburg

With Bob Wolford showing the way with 15 field goals and 34 points, the Paw Paw Applemen added the Frostburg Legion to their long list of victims by whipping the visitors last night at Paw Paw by the score of 87-73.

Carter dumped in 29 points, including 14 field goals for Frostburg.

SS. Peter & Paul, St. Peter's Playoff Set For Saturday

The playoff contest between SS. Peter and Paul and St. Peter's of Westernport for the second half championship of the Catholic Youth Basketball League will be staged Saturday night at 7 o'clock on the Carver High School court, Frederick street, it was announced last night by Larry Geiger.

John Raupach and Floyd "Pete" Elliott will officiate.

The playoff was necessitated when the teams ended the second half race tied at 8-2.

SS. Peter and Paul, winners of both halves of the 1953-54 split season, captured first half honors during the current campaign and could cop the championship if victorious Saturday night. A victory for St. Peter's would give the Westernport team the second half title, requiring another playoff game with SS. Peter and Paul for the league championship.

Horse Racing Sets All-Time Attendance Mark Of 50 Million

NEW YORK, March 2 (AP)—Horse racing set an all-time attendance record, topping the 50 million mark for the first time, in 1954 according to a survey just completed by the publishers of the Morning Telegraph and Daily Racing Form.

With a total attendance of 50,408,584 at the running and harness races, the horses outdrew professional baseball, the No. 2 sport in the survey by nearly 15 million. The totals were 31,355,798 attendance for 3,280 days of thoroughbred racing in 25 states and 19,052,786 for harness racing.

Major league baseball drew 15,935,881 fans and the minor leagues 19,663,776. No figures were available for college and scholastic basketball, generally considered among the top spectator sports.

The survey showed college and pro football third among the spectator sports with a total attendance of 15,940,238 and bowling the No. 1 participant sport with approximately 17,000,000 active bowlers.

Keyser Meets Martinsburg In Sectional Title Battle

Clash At Shepherd Tonight; Elkins Plays In Parsons

West Virginia Class "A" sectional championships will be decided tonight in games scheduled for Shepherdstown and Parsons.

Coach John Shelton's Keyser High School cagers are slated to battle the Bulldogs of Martinsburg High School on the Shepherd College court in a game that will determine the winner of Section 11.

At Parsons High School, the Elkins High School Tigers will face the Parsons High School Panthers in a game that will settle the championship of Section 13.

Keyser, winner of 16 out of 22 games, forged to the finals on Tuesday night by eliminating Romney High School's Pioneers at Keyser to the tune of 57-50. Martinsburg, victorious in 13 out of 20 contests, drew a bye, and advanced to the finals. Keyser holds two wins over Coach George Whitacre's Bulldogs, having won the opener in Martinsburg, 50-49, and copped the return tilt in Keyser, 69-50.

Victor Goes To Fairmont

Parsons High School, coached by C. Robert Sullivan, enters the sectional championship contest with an 18-3 record against an Elkins quint that has posted 16 wins against five defeats. Two of the three defeats on Parsons record came at the hands of Elkins High School, 44-42 and 82-58. University High of Morgantown, dealt out the other setback, 83-71, after dropping the opener in Parsons, 62-59.

Last year Parsons whipped Elkins twice during the regular season 56-43 and 61-43 but in the battle for the sectional crown the Tigers triumphed 55-35.

"B" Regionals On Friday

The two West Virginia Class "B" regional tournaments involving teams of nearby West Virginia are scheduled to get under way Friday night at Potomac State College, Keyser, and Parsons High School.

The Region 4 semi-finals find Petersburg's Vikings meeting the Shepherdstown High Cardinals at 7:30 while Ridgeley High's Blackhawks will tangle with Berkeley Springs Indians at 8:45 on the Potomac State court. The championship tilt is set for Saturday at 8 p. m.

Parsons will be the scene of the Region 4 games, Friday, with Tygarts Valley of Mill Creek and Aurora in the opener at 7:30 and Thomas High and Arthurdale in the nightcap at 8:30. Finals are slated for Saturday at 7:30.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, March 2 (INS) — Right out of the blue came the Academy nomination for Dan O'Herlihy for his performance in "Robinson Crusoe." Not that he didn't deserve it — he was excellent — but his nomination was a surprise. He has no more than said "thank you" than all the major studios started bidding for him.

But it is Charles Feldman, his agent, who has wooed Dan with a best seller of four years ago, "Unseen Harbor," by Frank Lashier.

This will give O'Herlihy the same chance to be adventurous in the part of a charming, modern day sea captain, as he was in the garb of "Robinson Crusoe."

So Audrey comes back to Paramount and her first picture will be a Billy Wilder production, "Ariane," based on a French classic, which Billy is now preparing.

On the Warner lot today was Edward G. Robinson Jr., to test for "Rebel Without a Cause," the juvenile delinquency picture which Nick Ray is directing.

Whether or not young Robinson will get the job is another matter, but I should think he'd be one who could understand the problems of youth better than most boys.

I suppose it was bound to happen with two such vivid personalities as Shelley Winters and Jack Palance. They are not speaking between scenes on "The Jagged Edge."

No one knows what upset Shelley, but as she's been trying so hard to be a good girl, it must have been something that really raised her ire. Palance has been rumored as being difficult.

After reading Mankiewicz' own script, Mark postponed his own independent venture, "The Little Hut," to check in at MGM (his first visit there) to direct Glenn Ford and company in "Trial."

The producer of "Trial" is Charles Schnee, who at one time was Robson's story editor before they went their separate ways. Mark currently has "Bridges at Toko Ri" and "Phffft" to crow about.

Dorothy Towne Webb went with Jack to New Orleans for the "Pete Kelly's Blues" location, and everything is wonderful again.

To date, James Dean has 13 fan magazine interviews waiting for him at Warners when he returns. Amazing — and he hasn't even been seen in "East of Eden" yet, except by critics.

Bill Wellman had a birthday party on the set of "Blood Alley" at the Goldwyn studio, and among the surprise guests was Buddy Rogers, who was the star of "Wings" for Bill years ago.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Trainmen Plan Convention In Cumberland

Cumberland will get a fourth big convention this year, Anthony Saeli, manager of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, announced yesterday.

Maryland-District of Columbia-Delaware Association of Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and its ladies auxiliaries will hold its annual convention in Cumberland October 7 and 8.

It will be sponsored by three local lodges, Mountain Division Lodge 267, of the Western Maryland Railway; William McKaig Lodge 440, and Chapel Hill Lodge 176, of the B&O Railroad, and their ladies auxiliaries.

The Ridgeley and Keyser BRT lodges will also participate, Saeli said.

A committee comprised of representatives from the sponsoring lodges will meet Friday, March 11, at 6:30 p. m. at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Co-chairmen of this committee are Harold K. Ritter and A. F. White.

Saeli said the convention will attract between 450 and 500 delegates.

This will be the fourth convention for the city. Others scheduled are the state meetings of the Maryland Council, Knights of Columbus; the Maryland State Firemen's Association, and the Maryland Association of Junior Chambers of Commerce.

Hot Rodders Form Branch In Cumberland

A local branch of the National Hot Rod Association, the organization that fosters controlled jalopy car racing among young men, has been formed in Cumberland for enthusiasts of the tri-state area.

Meetings of the Potomac Valley Auto Club are being held each Sunday at 3 p. m. in Gurley's Garage.

The organization is getting the backing of City and State Police and George Harrison, one of the charter members, said Lt. W. E. O'Hara, LaVale State Police Barracks commander, is looking for a site for "drag races."

The idea of the national movement is to keep youngsters from racing on the highways and have them operate their "souped up" stock cars in time races.

The organization also promotes safe driving on highways. Civic groups and police all over the nation have supported this movement which has as one of its effects a reduction in the teen-age road death toll among those who have an inclination for speeding.

The Potomac Valley Club has over 30 members and any person 16 years or over who has an auto drivers' license may join at Sunday afternoon's meeting.

Know what conversation is — that is the first step toward making it a live, not a lost, art.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Do you consider conversation a lost art? I heard a speech instructor reiterate that theory recently, with this comment: "We assume, because we have ears and a voice, we can talk. But so often people put their foot in it! Nowadays, most of us are just going through the motions of conversation . . . we're just making noise."

Half of the problem of inarticulate persons, he stated, lies in knowing just what conversation is. It is not chatter, argument, or debate. Nor is it a wit fest, or an exchange of social pleasantries. Such concepts are far too shallow.

To converse, actually, is to share ideas, to establish relationships, to probe both another's mind and your own mind. Conversation provides the opportunity to extend one's thinking, and to make use of one's resources, thus it is one of the most important learning processes we have. It is an art, and it can be learned.

Observe Rules

What characteristics should a good conversation have? What techniques will help you to become a more charming conversationalist? These questions have been partially answered before, and I will expand on them in future columns.

Today, I merely want to mention one of the speaker's most thought-provoking rules: Be sure to turn "round" rather than "square" corners. Now that sounds more like a direction for walking than for talking, but I believe that naming and illustrating the three steps in "rounding" a conversational corner will illustrate the point.

1. Make a statement which contains an implication toward a new interest . . . the statement may be merely happenstance. ("A" says, "I saw so-and-so in the Elite Shop yesterday.")

2. Make a statement directed toward a new interest . . . sometimes, it takes ingenuity to "read" the implication. ("B" says, "She manages the shop, you know.")

Step Three

3. Make a statement which will involve the minds around the new interest. ("A" says, "I guess managing a shop is an excellent job for a woman with so much personality.") Then proceed on the new topic—in this case, what it takes to be a successful businesswoman.

This is a simple example, but one which shows how conversation develops, like a painting evolves from a few daubs of color. In step two, "B" might have said, "Oh, did you!"—thus squaring a corner without advancing a theme.

YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE

You can achieve an appealing, resonant, sonorous voice—one that can be a vibrant attribute to charm and success—by reading the new booklet, YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE, which gives complete instructions on how to overcome such wearisome speaking qualities as tonelessness, dullness, and lack of proper modulation. Write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper, enclosing 10c in coin, plus stamped self-addressed envelope.

New York Court Order Halts Oil Stock Swindle

NEW YORK, March 2 (AP)—The State of New York has obtained a permanent restraining order against a Canadian group in an oil stock scheme that it said bilked Americans out of five million dollars.

State Atty. Gen. Jacob K. Javits obtained a Supreme Court order permanently restraining two Canadian stock promoters and four of their corporations from further dealings in securities in New York State.

Javits said action was dropped against seven other persons because it appeared they were not directly responsible for the alleged fraud in sale of the oil stocks.

In some cases, they "themselves had been victims of the swindle rather than perpetrators," the attorney general added.

The two men named in the order were Paul Payette and John Vanier, both of Montreal.

The four corporations were Gaspe Oil Ventures, Ltd.; Quebec Oil Developments, Ltd.; Regal Investments, Ltd., and Consolidated Holdings, Ltd.

Javits said Payette and Vanier "lured a swelling stream of American dollars into their coffers by fraudulently portraying a picture of gushing oil prospects in the Gaspe region of Quebec."

Leonard E. Russack, assistant state attorney general, said Canadian reports indicate that to date there has been no commercial production of oil in the area although drilling has gone on for almost a century.

Russack headed the investigation which began a year ago.

The seven against whom action was dropped were Sidney D. Blue of Larchmont, N. Y.; Theodore Smutny of New York; Milton Epstein of Glendale, N. Y.; Raymont G. Buser of Paterson, N. J.; Lucienne and Roland Dembers and Armand G. Boisclair, all of Montreal.

Hamilton's Admirers Plan To Honor Their Hero In '57

WASHINGTON, March 2 (AP)—A small but dedicated group is hard at work today trying to rescue one of this country's greatest and most interesting men, Alexander Hamilton, from comparative obscurity.

But J. Harvie Williams is not vague.

"Hamilton is the architect of our Union," he said firmly. "Without him, I don't see how it could have been put together."

Williams, one of the most dedicated of the dedicated, has had Hamilton as his hero ever since he was a schoolboy. So it's appropriate that he should wind up as director of the U.S. Commission for the Celebration of the 200th Anniversary of the Birth of Alexander Hamilton. This great event occurred, in case a certain vagueness exists on dates, too, Jan. 11, 1757, in the West Indies.

The commission, with Sen. Karl Mundt (R-SD) as chairman, has been set up officially by Congress, and it includes not only legislators but prominent citizens.

But Williams and Dr. Frank Monaghan, a former Yale professor who is historian for the commission, are carrying most of the load right now. And if you hear a lot about Alexander Hamilton the next two years, you can put much of the credit, or the blame, on them.

Williams doesn't know why Hamilton has been neglected, but he suspects the followers of Thomas Jefferson.

Hamilton and Jefferson fought constantly. For one thing, Hamilton favored a federal government so strong that, his opponents charged, its chief executive would amount to a king. Jefferson figured a federal government should concern itself chiefly with foreign affairs.

Washington so depended on him, Williams feels, that Hamilton really was prime minister during the days when each step taken set a precedent.

This may not impress Jefferso nians, but it impressed Jefferso who never sold Hamilton shor Once when Hamilton was writin a dazzling series of articles, Jeffe son complained to James Madiso

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, March 2 (INS) — Right out of the blue came the Academy nomination for Dan O'Herlihy for his performance in "Robinson Crusoe." Not that he didn't deserve it — he was excellent — but his nomination was a surprise. He has no more than said "thank you" than all the major studios started bidding for him.

But it is Charles Feldman, his agent, who has wooed Dan with a best seller of four years ago, "Unseen Harbor," by Frank Lashier.

This will give O'Herlihy the same chance to be adventurous in the part of a charming, modern day sea captain, as he was in the garb of "Robinson Crusoe."

Out the window have gone the plans of Audrey Hepburn and Mel Ferrer to appear together in the movie version of their stage play "Ondine."

The trouble is the difficulty in getting Madame Jean Giraudoux, widow of the author, and Maurice Valency, the English adaptor, to agree on price.

So Audrey comes back to Paramount and her first picture will be a Billy Wilder production, "Ariane," based on a French classic, which Billy is now preparing.

On the Warner lot today was Edward G. Robinson Jr., to test for "Rebel Without a Cause," the juvenile delinquency picture which Nick Ray is directing.

On a nearby sound stage, Eddie Sr., was working in "Illegal."

Whether or not young Robinson will get the job is another matter, but I should think he'd be one who could understand the problems of youth better than most boys.

I suppose it was bound to happen with two such vivid personalities as Shelley Winters and Jack Palance. They are not speaking between scenes on "The Jagged Edge."

No one knows what upset Shelley, but as she's been trying so hard to be a good girl, it must have been something that really raised her ire. Palance has been rumored as being difficult.

Anyway, Shelley was very pleased with herself when the Shah of Iran's sister visited her on the set.

Director Mark Robson found enough to interest him in Don Mankiewicz' $10,000 prize winning novel, "Trial" to cause a change of directorial plans.

After reading Mankiewicz' own script, Mark postponed his own independent venture, "The Little Hut," to check in at MGM (his first visit there) to direct Glenn Ford and company in "Trial."

The producer of "Trial" is Charles Schnee, who at one time was Robson's story editor before they went their separate ways. Mark currently has "Bridges at Toko Ri" and "Phffft" to crow about.

Pays 'Postage Due', Gets Watch Back

PEORIA, Ill., March 2 (AP)—The six cents "postage due" which Jeweler Homer Coulter paid the postman has turned out to be a good investment.

Inside the plain, unstamped envelope Coulter found a man's wrist watch, priced at 71.50, which he said was shoplifted Saturday from his downtown store.

Contract Bridge

by Josephine Culbertson

UNFORTUNATE OPENING LEADS

IT IS regrettable but true that even the soundest opening lead can wreck the defense by "placing" a key card for the declarer. That was the case in this deal.

South dealer.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
2 ♠	Pass	3 ♠	Pass
4 NT	Pass	5 ♦	Pass
6 ♠	Pass	Pass	Pass

Since South had to stretch quite a bit to open with a forcing two-bid, it goes without saying that his subsequent bidding was much too strong. On this occasion, however, all the luck was on his side.

West made his natural lead, the king of hearts. Declarer won and saw that he would have to do quite a bit of finessing if he played the hand in routine fashion, so he looked for a better plan.

South cashed the ace and king of trumps, then, hoping that he had exhausted West of trumps, he led the heart deuce. This threw West on lead—and made him very uncomfortable. If he returned a diamond or a club, South would be presented with a free finesse; he would then draw the last trump, cash his own remaining honor in the suit led by West, and, by finding a 3-3 break in that suit, discard his other minor-suit loser.

Actually, West led another heart. Dummy ruffed and South discarded a diamond. Now East's last trump was drawn, the diamond king was cashed and the diamond jack led to the ace. South then ruffed a low diamond, and dummy's fourth diamond was good for a club discard.

Looking at the four hands, it is obvious that West's lead made no real difference—South could have executed the same throw-in play in hearts even if West had made the neutral opening of a trump. But the point is that West's selection, normal though it was, told South how to play the hand. Without knowing that West had both the king and queen of hearts, South would have been faced by a series of guesses.

Contract Bridge

by Josephine Culbertson

UNFORTUNATE OPENING LEADS

IT IS regrettable but true that even the soundest opening lead can wreck the defense by "placing" a key card for the declarer. That was the case in this deal:

South dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

	♠ 7 5 4 ♥ J 6 ♦ A 7 3 2 ♣ K 5 4 2
♠ 9 8 ♥ K Q 10 9 5 ♦ Q 10 8 ♣ Q 9 6	N W E S	♠ 10 3 2 ♥ 8 7 4 3 ♦ 9 6 5 ♣ 10 8 7
	♠ A K Q J 6 ♥ A 2 ♦ K J 4 ♣ A J 3

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
2 ♠	Pass	3 ♠	Pass
4 NT	Pass	5 ♦	Pass
6 ♠	Pass	Pass	Pass

Since South had to stretch quite a bit to open with a forcing two-bid, it goes without saying that his subsequent bidding was much too strong. On this occasion, however, all the luck was on his side.

West made his natural lead, the king of hearts. Declarer won and saw that he would have to do quite a bit of finessing if he played the hand in routine fashion, so he looked for a better plan.

South cashed the ace and king of trumps, then, hoping that he had exhausted West of trumps, he led the heart deuce. This threw West on lead—and made him very uncomfortable. If he returned a diamond or a club, South would be presented with a free finesse; he would then draw the last trump, cash his own remaining honor in the suit led by West, and, by finding a 3-3 break in that suit, discard his other minor-suit loser.

Actually, West led another heart. Dummy ruffed and South discarded a diamond. Now East's last trump was drawn, the diamond king was cashed and the diamond jack led to the ace. South then ruffed a low diamond, and dummy's fourth diamond was good for a club discard.

Looking at the four hands, it is obvious that West's lead made no real difference—South could have executed the same throw-in play in hearts even if West had made the neutral opening of a trump. But the point is that West's selection, normal though it was, told South how to play the hand. Without knowing that West had both the king and queen of hearts, South would have been faced by a series of guesses.

Second Straight New High Is Posted By Stock Market

NEW YORK, March 2 (AP) — A vigorous advance today took the stock market up substantially to its second straight new all-time high.

The rise primarily was centered in railroads and steels, and there also was excellent support for the rise from oils, motors, coppers, utilities, aluminum issues, and a long list of individual stocks.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose $1.40, the best in a month, and closed at $162.00, a new historic high.

The industrial component of the average was up $1.70 at $219.30. The railroads were up $1.60 at a new high since 1929 of $129.50, while utilities advanced 40 cents to a new high since 1931 of $72.20.

The market wasn't especially broad with 1,229 individual issues traded of which 716 advanced and 292 declined with 143 new highs and 1 new low for 1954-55 touched.

Brokers point out that the current market is showing many signs of basic strength in its ability to continue advancing after shaking off discouraging developments.

All stocks in the list of 15 most active advanced. At the top of the list was Graham-Paige up ⅜ at 3¼ on 88,900 shares, and it was followed by Pennsylvania Railroad up 1 at 29⅜, New York Central up 1 at 37½, Sunray Oil up ½ at 24⅜, and Walworth up ¾ at 10½.

Second Straight New High Is Posted By Stock Market

NEW YORK, March 2 (AP) — A vigorous advance today took the stock market up substantially to its second straight new all-time high.

The rise primarily was centered in railroads and steels, and there also was excellent support for the rise from oils, motors, coppers, utilities, aluminum issues, and a long list of individual stocks.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose $1.40, the best in a month, and closed at $162.00, a new historic high.

The industrial component of the average was up $1.70 at $219.30. The railroads were up $1.60 at a new high since 1929 of $129.50, while utilities advanced 40 cents to a new high since 1931 of $72.20.

The market wasn't especially broad with 1,229 individual issues traded of which 716 advanced and 292 declined with 143 new highs and 1 new low for 1954-55 touched.

Brokers point out that the current market is showing many signs of basic strength in its ability to continue advancing after shaking off discouraging developments.

All stocks in the list of 15 most active advanced. At the top of the list was Graham-Paige up ⅜ at 3¼ on 88,900 shares, and it was followed by Pennsylvania Railroad up 1 at 29⅜, New York Central up 1 at 37½, Sunray Oil up ½ at 24⅜, and Walworth up ¾ at 10½.

City To Protest Plan To Freeze Sherbow Funds

Edwards And Davis Attend League Session

Mayor Roy W. Eves said yesterday the City of Cumberland will "vigorously protest" a proposed bill which would freeze the amount of funds municipalities could receive under the Sherbow Act.

He said the measure proposed by Senator John G. Turnbull, (D-Ba.) would freeze the amount of money distributed to subdivisions of the state under the Act to the average amount received in the 1951-55 period.

Yesterday, the Mayor asked Commissioner William J. Edwards and City Collector George E. Davis to represent him at a meeting of the Maryland Municipal League in Annapolis, called to determine the League's stand on the plan.

Mayor Eves pointed out that the state-shared income is an important source of revenue to the city, since it represents 18.33 per cent of the 1953-54 budget.

The funds have been gradually increasing during recent years. In 1951, the state-shared income received by the city totaled about $208,000. The following year, the Sherbow Act brought in $222,000, and in 1953, $247,000, and last year's receipts were about $255,000.

Averaging the sums would give the city about $233,000, a drop in revenue of about $22,000, three cents on the tax rate.

Mayor Eves said he discussed the situation yesterday with Del. Fred B. Driscoll, who reported he did not think the bill would go through.

Ridgeley CD Unit Being Organized

Plans for a Civil Defense organization in Ridgeley were furthered last night during a meeting in the Council Hall of that community as some 25 men joined in the planned unit.

Charles Fryer, who was named CD director by the City Council, said the unit is being organized with the assistance of Walter Byer, assistant director for Allegany County.

Due to the interest in organizing the unit, the next meeting will be held March 16 at 7:30 p.m. in the Ridgeley Fire Hall where more space will be available for discussions and planning.

At the next meeting, Fryer pointed out, members will be sworn in and block wardens as well as their assistants will be named. Also to be discussed are a first aid and fire training course.

A person well informed on the latest first aid methods will be contacted to instruct the CD members. The course in fire fighting training will be held in conjunction with the volunteer company of the community which is headed by George Hartman.

Also scheduled to be given out at the next meeting are Civil Defense handbooks as well as detailed maps of Ridgeley which will be presented to block wardens and their assistants.

Fryer pointed out that the maps show the various streets in detail as well as the main arteries to and from the community. The water lines and fire hydrants are also included on the maps, as well as buildings.

Anyone interested in joining the organization is invited to attend the next meeting.

School Bus Owners Urged To Check All Equipment

In the wake of a near tragedy at Silver Spring Tuesday in which 15 kindergarten pupils miraculously escaped death when a bus in which they were riding suddenly burst into flames, school bus contractors of Allegany County have been notified to check over their equipment in order to avert similar accidents.

TO JOIN GOODYEAR—Raymond T. Bete, LaVale, manager of the development department of Kelly Springfield Tire Company, will become director of quality control for Goodyear Rubber Company at Akron, Ohio, on March 15. Bete has been with Kelly Springfield since 1926.

Arthur G. Ramey, supervisor of transportation of county schools, yesterday sent out a memorandum to the contractors to "look well to your equipment."

He added that, "We might feel that it can't happen here. We may assume that the operator of this particular bus felt the same way."

Ramey in his memo asked the contractors if the gas tank is securely fastened to the frame, if the emergency door is working properly, with the lock working easily.

In the Silver Spring bus fire, the children, students at St. Camillus Catholic School, escaped through windows of the flaming bus after passing motorists smashed them open with their fists. An emergency door in the rear of the vehicle jammed, according to county fire inspectors.

The blaze started, firemen said, when brackets supporting the gas tank came loose and the tank was dragged some 250 feet.

4 Cars Collide On Route 40

Four cars collided about 3:50 p. m. yesterday on Baltimore Pike, approximately five miles east of Cumberland near Pleasant Grove Church.

State Police Trooper First Class John F. Browning said a car driven by Robert John McCandlish, 76, of Hancock, struck the rear of another vehicle operated by David Walton Bremer, 31, of Baltimore after the latter had stopped behind an automobile driven by Roy Junior Kifer, 25, Flintstone.

The Bremer car was pushed into the rear of Kifer's vehicle by the impact. Moments later a car driven by Crescilda Ruth Morris, 34, of Flintstone, struck the three other vehicles, Browning stated. Damage to the four cars totaled more than $500.

The state trooper said Kifer apparently had stopped his car behind a school bus when the accident occurred.

McClandish and the woman were charged with reckless driving by Browning. They will be given a hearing March 16 before a magistrate in Flintstone.

'Drape' Rumors Said Unfounded By City Police

City Police last night termed most of the current rumors of gangs of "drapes" in Cumberland as "wild and unfounded," in an effort to quell the fears and speculation of parents, school children and other citizens of the community.

Detective Joseph Stitcher said the Police Department has received numerous calls on the matter and that rumors of so-called "drapes" invading the city from out-of-town and molesting children have spread like wildfire through the city in the past several weeks.

Detective Stitcher said investigation had shown three Cumberland youths had first started the "drapes" rumors by appearing at a YMCA Rec Club dance where they voiced it around that they were from out-of-town and planned to bring a gang here to take over the city.

The three have admitted to police there was no basis for the stories they were spreading and that they "meant no harm."

Rabid Gray Fox Is Killed In Oldtown Area

Trapping Program Is Set In Motion

He said a plan has already been set in motion to trap as many foxes as possible in that area to halt the spread of the disease.

Minke said the fox attacked a youth named Kerns who lives near Fairplay, about six miles below Oldtown Friday night.

Escapes Injury

He said the youth escaped being bitten when he knocked the gray fox off his back and grabbed it by the legs.

The lad, he reported, dropped the fox when he got to the home and managed to beat the crazed animal to the door. A shot ended the animal's life a few minutes later.

Minke said Dr. R. B. Shellinger, veterinarian for the Maryland Livestock Service laboratory at Hagerstown, examined the fox and reported it was suffering from rabies.

Earlier last week, he said, a fox attacked a farm dog near Kifer and escaped after the animals fought for several minutes.

Two Have Rabies

He said the dog, bitten in the fight, later was destroyed.

Minke said that Washington County has had similar trouble, and that two of 26 foxes trapped there had rabies.

He said authorities believe the foxes crossed the frozen Potomac River from nearby West Virginia, where rabies has been found in wild animals during the past year.

Officials warned farmers to keep a close watch on livestock, which may be attacked by rabid animals.

School Programs Need No State Aid, Says Report

Grotz Commission Completes Study

BALTIMORE, March 2 (AP) — A special commission on State finances said today the counties of Maryland can afford to build the schools they need without any help from the State.

The conclusion was reported to Gov. McKeldin by the Maryland State Debt and Finance Commision headed by W. Arthur Grotz, president of the Western Maryland Railway.

The idea that the counties are able to finance needed school buildings is exactly opposite the position now being pressed upon the General Assembly at Annapolis by the Maryland Congress of Parents and Teachers and the Maryland State Teachers Assn.

They have asked the State to assume responsibility for half of a 200-million dollar bond issue for new schools in the next five years.

The State Department of Education recently estimated 6,700 new public school classrooms will be needed by 1960 to take care of the growing school population, replace obsolete facilities and reduce class sizes to the 30-pupil standard adopted several years ago. About 76,000 pupils now are on "double shift" sessions of attending school in makeshift quarters.

The Grotz Commission said the counties and the city of Baltimore can finance the necessary buildings without exceeding safe debt limits.

It said the State should stop its practice of letting the counties borrow on State credit for schools, a system which was set up in 1949. Under it, the State issues bonds and advances the borrowed money to the counties. The counties have to pay off the bonds. The interest rate is usually cheaper than if the counties floated their own bonds.

The Grotz commission found this extension of credit had "served to stimulate building at a more rapid rate than might have otherwise occurred, and may have imposed an unnecessary hardship because the loans must be paid off within a short 15-year period."

Counties can issue longer-term bonds. The State cannot.

In a companion recommendation, the commission said the State Tax Commission should set up a State Board of Equalization to see that tax assessments on property are uniform throughout Maryland.

Distribution of State school aid, both for current operations and new buildings, is based partly on each county's assessed valuation. Counties where the assessment rate is lower get a larger share of State aid.

OSCAR A. EYERMAN
(At Retirement, 1947)

Oscar Eyerman, Former Police Chief, Dies

Succumbs While Visiting Son

Oscar A. Eyerman, 74, former chief of police of Cumberland for 30 years, died unexpectedly about noon yesterday while visiting at the home of his son, George R. Eyerman, Los Angeles, Calif.

Mr. Eyerman, who was head of the Police department here longer than any other police chief, was a native of Cumberland, born September 6, 1880.

He was a son of the late George Eyerman and Anna (Koegel) Eyerman and spent his entire life in Cumberland. He resided at 541 Rose Hill Avenue, where he had lived for many years. His wife, Mrs. Eleanor Eyerman, died December 15, 1953.

Mr. Eyerman was educated in Cumberland and was owner and operator of the Peerless Laundry, North Mechanic Street, before entering public life when he was elected to two terms as councilman. He abandoned the laundry when he was first elected to the Council in 1914.

He became chief of police July 2, 1917, resigning as commissioner of police and fire to succeed W. Ralph Young.

He spent two years as commissioner of streets and public property and it was under his direction that Baltimore Street was repaved and overhead wires and wooden poles were eliminated. He was also instrumental in first installing the city street lighting system.

As councilman he directed the building of the Market Street Bridge and advocated open sessions of the council, succeeding in this move when the first session of the newly-elected Mayor and City Council was called to order April 7, 1914.

Re-elected in 1916 to the City Council by a larger majority than in 1914 Mr. Eyerman was put in charge of the police and fire departments for the city. He and Mayor Thomas W. Koon were the only members of the previous administration returned to office.

When Chief Young resigned in 1917, Mr. Eyerman took the civil service examination and on July 2 resigned as commissioner to begin the city's longest term as head of the Cumberland Police Department.

Mr. Everman's service covered the local repercussions of two world wars, a major depression, two hunger marches, several strikes, the prohibition era, three major floods and a complete revamping of the Police Department.

Mr. Eyerman was a member of St. Luke's Lutheran Church, Ohr Lodge, AF&A Masons of which he was a 32d degree member, the Cardinal Club, Odd Fellows, and Ali Ghan Shrine.

He is survived by two sons, George and Oscar A. Eyerman Jr., Philadelphia, Pa.; two sisters, Miss Eva Louise Eyerman, and Mrs. Emma Albertia Grubb; and a brother, Thomas S. Eyerman, all of Cumberland.

The body will arrive at Stein's Funeral Home on Sunday.

Sanner, who was jailed Saturday in default of the fines, yesterday was released from Allegany County Jail on payment of the fine.

Flames Damage Ridgeley House; Two Are Injured

Fireman Has Cut Leg; Woman Burned

The interior of a Ridgeley house was badly damaged by flames yesterday afternoon in a fire in which a volunteer fireman was hurt and a woman resident of the house was burned.

Ridgeley Volunteer Fire Company answered the alarm at the home of Rose Murphy, 132 Main Street, about 1:10 p. m. Assisted by firemen from the West Side fire station in Cumberland the company battled the fire for about two hours before the blaze was extinguished.

Lt. Arthur Green, 38, of Ridgeley, was badly cut on the right leg when large hose being unwound from the fire truck whipped across his legs and knocked him to the ground. He was treated at Sacred Heart Hospital for a lacerated leg which required several stitches to close the wound, and for brush burns and bruises of the left leg. He was able to return to his home in Ridgeley. Hospital attendants said Lt. Green will return today to the hospital for observation and X-rays.

Rose Murphy, 40, was also treated at Sacred Heart for first degree burns of the face and first and second degree burns of the hands, suffered when she attempted to battle the flames in the living room of her home.

Two other residents of the house escaped without injury, firemen said.

The fire apparently began in the living room of the six-room, two-story frame house when a coal stove became overheated, Fire Chief George Hartman of the Ridgeley volunteer company said last night.

The mishap to Lt. Green, Ridgeley firemen said, was the first accident involving one of the company's members going to or fighting a fire since the volunteers were formed in 1925.

Man To Begin Year Sentence In Motor Case

Committment papers were signed yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court to send Dale O. Campbell, 20, of Mt. Savage to the Maryland House of Correction for one year on two state motor vehicle violation charges.

Magistrate Morris Baron, who signed the papers, said Campbell will be taken from Allegany County Jail today to the state penal institution.

Campbell was sentenced to six months in the House of Correction on each of the charges, reckless driving and operating a vehicle on revoked license, last October by Magistrate Donald W. Mason.

He appealed his sentence to Allegany County Circuit Court at the time and was released on $1,000 bond. However, Baron said, he dropped his appeal last January and yesterday surrendered himself to the court when he found out authorities wanted him to begin serving his sentence.

On October 1, 1954, Campbell forced a city police cruiser off River Avenue in South End near the intersection of Virginia Avenue and Oldtown Road. He later engaged in a scuffle with arresting officers while en route to Police Headquarters here.

Magistrate J. Milton Dick fined Campbell $25 in Police Court and he then was tried on the motor vehicle counts before Mason in Trial Magistrates Court.

Magistrate Mason, in passing the severe sentence on Campbell, pointed to his previous record in regard to vehicular offenses and noted the Mt. Savage youth had served a term in the Maryland Reformatory for Males for malicious destruction of property.

Circuit Court Dismisses Expressway Injunction

Ruling unanimously that the Mayor and Council acted within its powers, judges of Maryland's Fourth Judicial Circuit yesterday dismissed a suit designed to block the construction of the Crosstown Expressway program.

Dismissal of the taxpayers suit filed by W. Wallace McKaig is expected to result in an early decision by the Maryland State Roads Commission to expedite planning work on the project, estimated to cost from $10,000,000 to $12,000,000.

It was pointed out that McKaig has 30 days in which to file an appeal on the decision.

Informed sources said that if this is done, it is likely the Court of Appeals will rule on the case this year.

A SRC spokesman said the commission will get together as soon as possible to sign the pact.

This will be a signal for the SRC to proceed with engineering work, which was halted after the suit was filed by McKaig last August.

McKaig took Circuit Court action to set aside the contract on the day it was signed by the Mayor and Council last August 9.

Yesterday's opinion sustained a demurrer filed by the city against the amended suit docketed by McKaig's lawyers, Charles Z. Heskett and W. Earle Cobey. City Attorney Thomas B. Finan was aided in presenting the city's case by associate counsel William A. Gunter.

McKaig alleged the city has no power to enter into the contract because of various limiting provisions in the City Charter, and that the contract was void for indefiniteness.

The city claimed McKaig has no right to bring the suit, that the city could act under its general powers, and that such a contract was specifically authorized by Section 63 of Article 89B of the Code of 1951 and also of Section 22 of the same article.

The contract provided for the city to put up $70,000 of its share of the state gas tax and motor vehicle revenue each year for seven years to match $490,000 of federal aid funds as its share in the financing of the $10,000,000 project.

An argument on the demurrer was held here before Chief Judge George Henderson and Associate Judges Neil C. Fraley and D. Kenneth McLaughlin on February 12.

At that time, the opinion stated, counsel for both sides, stipulated that the State Roads Commission, the state treasurer and the comptroller of the treasury of Maryland had authorized the Mayor and Council to use its share of the gas and motor vehicle revenues to match federal funds on this project.

The complainant charged the city has no power to enter into such a contract, because of various limiting provisions in the city charter.

The judges ruled that gas tax and motor vehicle revenues are in a different category from city taxes. They are controlled by the state and its legislature.

If the state can control these funds by handing them out to municipalities to obtain federal aid, and the city uses these funds with the authority of the state, then this contract is not extending the borrowing powers of the city or changing the debt limit, the judges stated on this point. They ruled out by this reasoning that the limits of the city charter or future appropriations were being extended.

The second point of McKaig's at-

City To Protest Plan To Freeze Sherbow Funds

Edwards And Davis Attend League Session

Mayor Roy W. Eves said yesterday the City of Cumberland will "vigorously protest" a proposed bill which would freeze the amount of funds municipalities could receive under the Sherbow Act.

He said the measure proposed by Senator John G. Turnbull, (D-Ba.) would freeze the amount of money distributed to subdivisions of the state under the Act to the average amount received in the 1951-55 period.

Yesterday, the Mayor asked Commissioner William J. Edwards and City Collector George E. Davis to represent him at a meeting of the Maryland Municipal League in Annapolis, called to determine the League's stand on the plan.

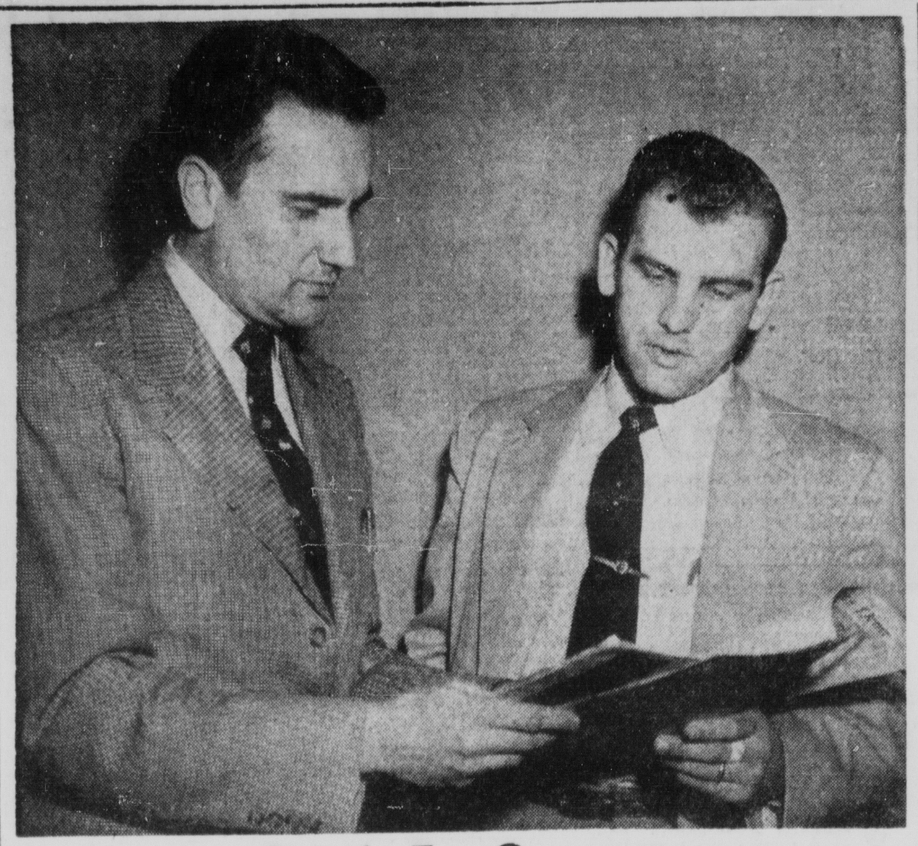

Mayor Eves pointed out that the state-shared income is an important source of revenue to the city, since it represents 18.33 per cent of the 1953-54 budget.

The money represents the city's share of certain taxes collected by the state, including income tax and gasoline and motor vehicle revenues.

The funds have been gradually increasing during recent years. In 1951, the state-shared income received by the city totaled about $208,000. The following year, the Sherbow Act brought in $222,000, and in 1953, $247,000, and last year's receipts were about $255,000.

Averaging the sums would give the city about $233,000, a drop in revenue of about $22,000, three cents on the tax rate.

Mayor Eves said he discussed the situation yesterday with Del. Fred B. Driscoll, who reported he did not think the bill would go through.

Flames Damage Ridgeley House; Two Are Injured

Fireman Has Cut Leg; Woman Burned

The interior of a Ridgeley house was badly damaged by flames yesterday afternoon in a fire in which a volunteer fireman was hurt and a woman resident of the house was burned.

Ridgeley Volunteer Fire Company answered the alarm at the home of Rose Murphy, 132 Main Street, about 1:10 p. m. Assisted by firemen from the West Side fire station in Cumberland the company battled the fire for about two hours before the blaze was extinguished.

Lt. Arthur Green, 38, of Ridgeley, was badly cut on the right leg when large hose being unwound from the fire truck whipped across his legs and knocked him to the ground. He was treated at Sacred Heart Hospital for a lacerated leg which required several stitches to close the wound, and for brush burns and bruises of the left leg. He was able to return to his home in Ridgeley. Hospital attendants said Lt. Green will return today to the hospital for observation and X-rays.

Rose Murphy, 40, was also treated at Sacred Heart for first degree burns of the face and first and second degree burns of the hands, suffered when she attempted to battle the flames in the living room of her home.

Two other residents of the house escaped without injury, firemen said.

The fire apparently began in the living room of the six-room, two-story frame house when a coal stove became overheated, Fire Chief George Hartman of the Ridgeley volunteer company said last night.

The Murphy family was unable to save any of its belongings, firemen said.

Although no estimate of the damage to the interior of the residence was given, the building was covered by insurance, Hartman noted.

The mishap to Lt. Green, Ridgeley firemen said, was the first accident involving one of the company's members going to or fighting a fire since the volunteers were formed in 1925.

School Bus Owners Urged To Check All Equipment

In the wake of a near tragedy at Silver Spring Tuesday in which 15 kindergarten pupils miraculously escaped death when a bus in which they were riding suddenly burst into flames, school bus contractors of Allegany County have been notified to check over their equipment in order to avert similar accidents.

Arthur G. Ramey, supervisor of transportation of county schools, yesterday sent out a memorandum to the contractors to "look well to your equipment."

He added that, "We might feel that it can't happen here. We may assume that the operator of this particular bus felt the same way."

Ramey in his memo asked the contractors if the gas tank is securely fastened to the frame, if the emergency door is working properly, with the lock working easily.

Another point brought out was whether the fire extinguisher is filled and in an operative condition.

In the Silver Spring bus fire, the children, students at St. Camillus Catholic School, escaped through windows of the flaming bus after passing motorists smashed them open with their fists. An emergency door in the rear of the vehicle jammed, according to county fire inspectors.

The blaze started, firemen said, when brackets supporting the gas tank came loose and the tank was dragged some 250 feet.

Rabid Gray Fox Is Killed In Oldtown Area

Trapping Program Is Set In Motion

Joseph A. Minke, regional game warden, reported yesterday that a fox suffering from rabies was killed in the Oldtown area last Friday.

He said a plan has already been set in motion to trap as many foxes as possible in that area to halt the spread of the disease.

Minke said the fox attacked a youth named Kerns who lives near Fairplay, about six miles below Oldtown Friday night.

Escapes Injury

He said the youth escaped being bitten when he knocked the gray fox off his back and grabbed it by the legs.

The lad, he reported, dropped the fox when he got to the home and managed to beat the crazed animal to the door. A shot ended the animal's life a few minutes later.

Minke said Dr. R. B. Shellinger, veterinarian for the Maryland Livestock Service laboratory at Hagerstown, examined the fox and reported it was suffering from rabies.

Earlier last week, he said, a fox attacked a farm dog near Kifer and escaped after the animals fought for several minutes.

Two Have Rabies

He said the dog, bitten in the fight, later was destroyed.

Minke said that Washington County has had similar trouble, and that two of 26 foxes trapped there had rabies.

He said authorities believe the foxes crossed the frozen Potomac River from nearby West Virginia, where rabies has been found in wild animals during the past year.

Officials warned farmers to keep a close watch on livestock, which may be attacked by rabid animals.

Man To Begin Year Sentence In Motor Case

Committment papers were signed yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court to send Dale O. Campbell, 20, of Mt. Savage to the Maryland House of Correction for one year on two state motor vehicle violation charges.

Magistrate Morris Baron, who signed the papers, said Campbell will be taken from Allegany County Jail today to the state penal institution.

Campbell was sentenced to six months in the House of Correction on each of the charges, reckless driving and operating a vehicle on revoked license, last October by Magistrate Donald W. Mason.

He appealed his sentence to Allegany County Circuit Court at the time and was released on $1,000 bond. However, Baron said, he dropped his appeal last January and yesterday surrendered himself to the court when he found out authorities wanted him to begin serving his sentence.

On October 1, 1954, Campbell forced a city police cruiser off River Avenue in South End near the intersection of Virginia Avenue and Oldtown Road. He later engaged in a scuffle with arresting officers while en route to Police Headquarters here.

Magistrate J. Milton Dick fined Campbell $25 in Police Court and he then was tried on the motor vehicle counts before Mason in Trial Magistrates Court.

Magistrate Mason, in passing the severe sentence on Campbell, pointed to his previous record in regard to vehicular offenses and noted the Mt. Savage youth had served a term in the Maryland Reformatory for Males for malicious destruction of property.

Ridgeley CD Unit Being Organized

Plans for a Civil Defense organization in Ridgeley were furthered last night during a meeting in the Council Hall of that community as some 25 men joined in the planned unit.

Charles Fryer, who was named CD director by the City Council, said the unit is being organized with the assistance of Walter Byer, assistant director for Allegany County.

Due to the interest in organizing the unit, the next meeting will be held March 16 at 7:30 p.m. in the Ridgeley Fire Hall where more space will be available for discussions and planning.

At the next meeting, Fryer pointed out, members will be sworn in and block wardens as well as their assistants will be named. Also to be discussed are a first aid and fire training course.

A person well informed on the latest first aid methods will be contacted to instruct the CD members. The course in fire fighting training will be held in conjunction with the volunteer company of the community which is headed by George Hartman.

Also scheduled to be given out at the next meeting are Civil Defense handbooks as well as detailed maps of Ridgeley which will be presented to block wardens and their assistants.

Fryer pointed out that the maps show the various streets in detail as well as the main arteries to and from the community. The water lines and fire hydrants are also included on the maps, as well as buildings.

Anyone interested in joining the organization is invited to attend the next meeting.

4 Cars Collide On Route 40

Four cars collided about 3:50 p. m. yesterday on Baltimore Pike, approximately five miles east of Cumberland near Pleasant Grove Church.

State Police Trooper First Class John F. Browning said a car driven by Robert John McCandlish, 76, of Hancock, struck the rear of another vehicle operated by David Walton Bremer, 31, of Baltimore after the latter had stopped behind an automobile driven by Roy Junior Kifer, 25, Flintstone.

The Bremer car was pushed into the rear of Kifer's vehicle by the impact. Moments later a car driven by Crescilda Ruth Morris, 34, of Flintstone, struck the three other vehicles, Browning stated. Damage to the four cars totaled more than $500.

The state trooper said Kifer apparently had stopped his car behind a school bus when the accident occurred.

McClandish and the woman were charged with reckless driving by Browning. They will be given a hearing March 16 before a magistrate in Flintstone.

'Drape' Rumors Said Unfounded By City Police

City Police last night termed most of the current rumors of gangs of "drapes" in Cumberland as "wild and unfounded," in an effort to quell the fears and speculation of parents, school children and other citizens of the community.

Detective Joseph Stitcher said the Police Department has received numerous calls on the matter and that rumors of so-called "drapes" invading the city from out-of-town and molesting children have spread like wildfire through the city in the past several weeks.

Detective Stitcher said investigation had shown three Cumberland youths had first started the "drapes" rumors by appearing at a YMCA Rec Club dance where they voiced it around that they were from out-of-town and planned to bring a gang here to take over the city.

The three have admitted to police there was no basis for the stories they were spreading and that they "meant no harm."

Circuit Court Dismisses Expressway Injunction

Ruling unanimously that the Mayor and Council acted within its powers, judges of Maryland's Fourth Judicial Circuit yesterday dismissed a suit designed to block the construction of the Crosstown Expressway program.

Dismissal of the taxpayers suit filed by W. Wallace McKaig is expected to result in an early decision by the Maryland State Roads Commission to expedite planning work on the project, estimated to cost from $10,000,000 to $12,000,000.

It was pointed out that McKaig has 30 days in which to file an appeal on the decision.

Informed sources said that if this is done, it is likely the Court of Appeals will rule on the case this year.

City officials yesterday morning forwarded news of the dismissal of the suit to officials of the Maryland State Roads Commission.

A SRC spokesman said the commission will get together as soon as possible to sign the pact.

This will be a signal for the SRC to proceed with engineering work, which was halted after the suit was filed by McKaig last August.

Yesterday's opinion sustained a demurrer filed by the city against the amended suit docketed by McKaig's lawyers, Charles Z. Heskett and W. Earle Cobey. City Attorney Thomas B. Finan was aided in presenting the city's case by associate counsel William A. Gunter.

McKaig alleged the city has no power to enter into the contract because of various limiting provisions in the City Charter, and that the contract was void for indefiniteness.

The city claimed McKaig has no right to bring the suit, that the city could act under its general powers, and that such a contract was specifically authorized by Section 63 of Article 89B of the Code of 1951 and also of Section 22 of the same article.

The contract provided for the city to put up $70,000 of its share of the state gas tax and motor vehicle revenue each year for seven years to match $490,000 of federal aid funds as its share in the financing of the $10,000,000 project.

An argument on the demurrer was held here before Chief Judge George Henderson and Associate Judges Neil C. Fraley and D. Kenneth McLaughlin on February 12.

At that time, the opinion stated, counsel for both sides, stipulated that the State Roads Commission, the state treasurer and the comptroller of the treasury of Maryland had authorized the Mayor and Council to use its share of the gas and motor vehicle revenues to match federal funds on this project.

The complainant charged the city has no power to enter into such a contract, because of various limiting provisions in the city charter.

The judges ruled that gas tax and motor vehicle revenues are in a different category from city taxes. They are controlled by the state and its legislature.

If the state can control these funds by handing them out to municipalities to obtain federal aid, and the city uses these funds with the authority of the state, then this contract is not extending the borrowing powers of the city or changing the debt limit, the judges stated on this point. They ruled out by this reasoning that the limits of the city charter or future appropriations were being extended.
